DEATH LIST UP TO 64 AS NEW TORNADO HITS

STREAMS SWOLLEN; BIG FLOOD MENACE

Mississippi, With 32 Killed, Bears Brunt of Wild March Wind.

Dallas, Tex., March 31 (A.P.).—A pack of mad March tornadoes that swept over east Texas, down the Mississippi Valley and almost to the Atlantic seaboard, claimed a death list of at least 64 persons tonight.

The winds swept over the prairies and woods of east Texas yesterday, nipped at southwest Arkansas and north Louisiana and unleashed tornadoes on Mississippi that took at least 32 lives in that State.

Mississippi apparently bore the brunt of the wild March wind, which spared no section of the State except the Gulf Coast. Cities in the storm area were spared, but the tornadoes flirted with such important towns as Laurel, Greenville, Tupelo, Miss., and Baton Rouge, La.

Creeks Are Swollen.

Rain fell in sheets as the wind tore eastward and creeks swelled dangerously. Valley streams already were rising, and the latest assault from the elements left a flood threat in the deep South. The wind was gusty as far east as Atlanta.

East Texas, 20.
Louisiana, 10.
Arkansas, 1.
Mississippi, 32.
Alabama, 1.

After crossing the Mississippi River, the storm began an attack on the delta city of Greenville. It rumbled over the plantation country—heavy already with spring rains and just ready for planting—and slapped at such prosperous little towns as Leland and Marks. At least eight persons were killed in the delta before the winds raced away South and dipped near Brookhaven, where two women were killed.

14 Die In Sandersville.

The storm next was reported near Laurel—center of the yellow pine industry—where it swirled through the village of Sandersville and killed 14. Its next important stop was Harmony, where seven were killed. Reports from north Mississippi, particularly Tupelo, gave notice that the wind has passed that way.

Alabama and Tennessee had high winds. The tail end of the Mississippi storm killed one and injured five persons in west Alabama.

At least three persons were killed near Baton Rouge, La., by freakish winds that reversed in Mississippi and swept across the river to Louisiana again yesterday.

The latest death was reported from Lucedale, Miss., where a child was killed.

Mutiny Is Suppressed In Jugoslavian Fleet

Vienna, March 31 (A.P.).—The National Socialist newspaper, Nachtfunk, received reports today from Liubliana that a mutiny had broken out on Jugoslavian warships in harbors at Spalato, Dalmatia and Kotor, Hungary, but had been put down.

The mutineers were said to have hoisted the Croatian flag and to have attempted to steam away. A number of Croatian officers were arrested.

The report was denied tonight.

Paul May's Daughter Chosen Apple Queen

Special to The Washington Post.

Winchester, Va., (Saturday), April 1. A daughter of Belgium will reign as Queen of the Shenandoah Apple Blossom Festival here about May 1, it was learned early today when fete officials announced that Miss Francoise May, daughter of the Belgian Ambassador to the United States and Mrs. Paul May, of Washington, D. C., had accepted an invitation to be sovereign of the festival glorifying the blossoming of 11,000,000 apple trees in this world-famed belt.

The selection of Miss May as Queen of the Apple Blossom Festival marks the second time in three years that the organization has gone across the Atlantic to choose the "Queen of Blossoms" to whom more than 100,000 citizens have paid adoration each year during the past decade.

Reared among the native customs of Belgium, Miss May lived in that country until about five years ago, when she came to the United States to pursue scholastic work. About two years ago, Mr. May was appointed

NAZIS SAY BOYCOTT RULES TODAY ONLY

Official Holds Anti-Jewish Action Will Redouble if Propaganda Goes On.

Berlin, March 31 (A.P.).—The government stepped in at the last minute today with an order that the anti-Jewish boycott, which is to start at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning, will last one day only and then will be held in abeyance until Wednesday.

This action, taken after considerable pressure had been brought to bear to prevent disruption of the nation's business life, led some observers to assert that the boycott movement would be dropped entirely after the single day.

Joseph Goebbels, cabinet minister of propaganda, signed the order which signalized the first official move in the boycott situation. It was the Nazi party of Chancellor Adolf Hitler, rather than the government itself, which ordered the nation-wide repressive measures.

Dr. Goebbels asserted in his proclamation that the interim between the end of the one-day boycott and Wednesday should be considered as a respite. In this interim the government hopes that no more reports of anti-Jewish atrocities in Germany will be printed in newspapers abroad.

If foreign propaganda has not been ended by 10 a. m. Wednesday, Dr. Goebbels said, the boycott will be resumed "with full force and vehemence which, until now, has been undreamed of."

A few hours before the propaganda minister issued his proclamation Nazi storm troops cleared Berlin law courts of all Jewish judges and attorneys. One of those ousted was Chief Justice Kurt Soelling.

Beer Selling Rules At Brewery Bared

Bottled Product Nor Less Than Eighth Barrel May Not Be Sold.

Brewers of the new beer may sell the brew in barrels without qualifying and paying a tax as liquor dealers, but all bottled beer must be sold by regular dealers, according to the beer regulations issued yesterday by the Bureau of Industrial Alcohol.

This means that persons who can't wait, next Friday morning, to get their beer from their dealer may buy it at the brewery if they take at least one-eighth barrel, which amounts to about 4 gallons. The bureau will not allow sales of less than one-eighth of a barrel by the brewery.

The regulations also set up the taxing scheme for the 3.2 per cent beer. Bottled beer will bear no revenue stamp. Beer, when produced in the brewery, will not be allowed to leave the plant until a tax of $5 per barrel has been paid. After the tax has been paid, the beer may be taken out of the brewery and bottled at a separate plant. It can not be bottled at the brewery.

Bulgaria Expels Reds From Public Offices

Sofia, Bulgaria, March 31 (A.P.).—The government tonight announced revocation of all parliamentary mandates held by Communists. All Communists were excluded from elective office and from the public employ.

The party itself will not be dissolved. It was pointed out that dissolution would only mean a change in the party's name. Thirty-one deputies were affected by the government ban.

CIVIC BODIES DENIED HEARING ON D. C. BILL

House Leaders to Call Up Fiscal Measure After It Is Reported Monday.

House consideration of the District appropriation bill yesterday was moved up a day, when leaders decided to call up the measure right after it is reported Monday, and vote on specific provisions of the bill the following day.

This course was definitely decided upon after House Appropriations Chairman James P. Buchanan determined to hold no further hearings on the bill.

Following conferences with members of his committee, Representative Buchanan indicated no citizens' groups will have an opportunity to be heard, despite scores of requests for hearing.

It is expected the measure will be reported to the House with virtually no changes in the drastically curtailed estimates submitted early this week by the Budget Bureau.

House Democratic Leader Joseph W. Byrns said in all probability the bill will be called up for general debate Monday, before printed copies of the measure are available from the printer.

The bill can not be printed until it is reported, and it can not be reported before Monday. Actual reading of the bill will not begin before Tuesday, when printed copies of the measure will be ready for members.

In denying further hearings on the

Postmasters Ordered To Dismiss Kin as Aids

(Associated Press.)

To aid in distributing jobs among the needy, the Postoffice Department yesterday instructed all third-class postmasters that employment of immediate members of their families must terminate by May 1.

Joseph C. O'Mahoney, First Assistant Postmaster General, ordered the postmasters to select "competent, deserving, unemployed persons, preference being given to those with dependents."

MAN, 40, FINDS IDENTITY AFTER BLANK DECADES

Westerner Is About to Be Reunited With Sister Here.

STRANGE VANISHING BEGAN HIS MYSTERY

Earliest Memory Is of Life Among Indians; How He Located Kin.

A life of lost identity; a man who has lived for 40 years without knowing who he really was; finally contact with a sister he never knew he had; this is the strange story of Jim Westlake, State game warden of Anoka, Minn., who until a few days ago was known and knew himself only as James (Indian Jim) Wesley.

Stranger than fiction, details of the story were made known last night by Jim's sister, Mrs. Madge Sheridan, of 1361 Fairmont street northwest. Jim will come to Washington Monday, and a few days later—April 6—will celebrate his first recognizable birthday. He will be 41 years old.

In Hands of Indians.

It is hard to start at the beginning of his unusual life. He remembers little of it himself, Mrs. Sheridan knew of her brother's existence, but was born some years after his disappearance. She didn't even know whether he was still alive.

The first thing in his early life that Jim remembers is receiving a broken nose. It was through this injury that he was united with his sister.

At the age of 6 months the boy was taken from his family. He fell into the hands of Indians. Some time in the 1890's he was riding in an open wagon along a country road. With him were an Indian and a squaw, whom he believed to be his parents.

The open wagon bumped slowly along. A rock in the roadway suddenly swerved the back end. Little Jim—then about 5 years old—fell beneath the wheels. His nose was crushed.

About a period of several years en-

Maryland House Votes Road Bonds

$4,000,000 Measure Sent to Senate Without Any Opposition.

Annapolis, Md., March 31 (A.P.).—The House tonight passed and sent to the Senate the bill authorizing a bond issue of $4,000,000, the proceeds of which are to be used in improvement of the two Baltimore-Philadelphia roads.

The measure also would authorize the allocation of all truck license fee funds to be used for the retirement of the bonds. There was no opposition to the bill as it passed the House.

Under present rates, the truck license fees amount to about $500,000 a year, and by doubling this fee the fund would amount to about $1,000,000. It is estimated that the retirement of the bonds will necessitate an expenditure of only about $400,000 annually.

URUGUAY PRESIDENT BECOMES 'DICTATOR'

Dissolves Parliament and Imprisons Councilmen; Brum Kills Self.

Montevideo, Uruguay, March 31 (A.P.).—President Gabriel Terra, whose long career in politics has included almost every important political post at home and several abroad, assumed dictatorial powers today in the hope of strengthening Uruguay politically and economically.

He dissolved Parliament and the national administrative council, which shared executive powers with him under Uruguay's constitutional system.

All but two of the council were imprisoned. Agarcia Morales took refuge in the Argentine Embassy. Former President Baltasar Brum, who won world-wide attention as an author and authority on international law, killed himself after wounding two policemen who had attempted to arrest him.

The president drew up his decrees in the barracks of the fire brigade, where he set up headquarters last night after having ordered the arrest of the administrative council members.

The opposition press was suppressed. Dr. Terra tonight was dominant in the first upheaval South America's smallest republic has undergone since 1904.

The army was solidly behind him.

To assist in governing the country, President Terra named a junta composed of Lieut. Gen. Pabla Galarza, Alberto Demichelli, Ghigliani Andre Puyol, Pedro Manini Rios, Jose Espalter, Roberto Berro, Ancieto Patron and Alfredo Navarro.

Dr. Terra's decree read:

"In view of the pronouncement of Parliament representing less than half thereof favoring the lifting of measures of security, thus provoking a commotion whose results are impossible to foresee, the president in seeking to assure order and tranquillity amid the complexity of financial, economic and political difficulties, deems necessary immediate reforms to relieve the tax burden, to lower governmental costs, to make effective governmental responsibility, and to restore national confidence.

"I intend as soon as possible to convoke a constituent assembly to permit the people to decide their own destiny, to pass on the retention of the administrative council."

The junta, Terra said, will name a deliberative assembly to replace the present Parliament. In the event of a presidential vacancy, the junta will name a successor.

Rider Badly Hurt In Fall From Cab

En Route to Hospital, He Plunges From Car Into Path of Trolley.

Bryan J. Donovan, 35, 1644 Hobart street northwest, was injured yesterday when he fell from a cab in which he was being taken to the hospital, in the path of a street car at Thirteen-and-a-half street and Pennsylvania avenue northwest.

According to police, the cab, operated by L. Taponick, 26, 935 K street northwest, swerved out of the path of another vehicle in making a left turn. Donovan was said to have been removed from a gas station at Seventh and G streets southwest, in an unconscious condition and was seen to fall or jump from the cab at the avenue intersection, as the rear door of the cab flew open.

He was treated at Emergency Hospital for severe head injuries. Taponick suffered minor injuries when the open door of his cab collided with the street car.

A. V. DALRYMPLE APPOINTED NEW DRY WORK HEAD

WAS GARNER BACKER TO HEAD 1932 TICKET

Attorney General Cummings Pays Tribute to Service by Col. Woodcock.

(Associated Press.)

A. V. Dalrymple, of California, yesterday was appointed prohibition director to succeed Amos W. W. Woodcock, his selection being announced by Attorney General Cummings.

The Attorney General said, in making known the move, that "I have every confidence in his ability to meet the exacting requirements of his difficult post."

Maj. Dalrymple, a large, jovial man, who was prominent in the California campaign of Vice President Garner in his quest for the Democratic presidential nomination last year, will take over his new duties today.

Prohibition Veteran.

The resignation of Woodcock, who was appointed director of the Prohibition Bureau in July, 1930, was accepted yesterday by the Attorney General.

Maj. Dalrymple has had long experience in prohibition work. Under the administration of President Wilson, he was supervising Federal prohibition agent for the central division, comprising Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Wisconsin, Iowa and Minnesota.

Prior to that, he headed enforcement of the narcotic laws in the Philippine Islands. He is a veteran of the Spanish-American War, served overseas in the World War and was on staff duty at the Paris Peace Conference. Since 1925 he has practiced law in California.

Praise for Woodcock.

Paying tribute to the service of Col. Woodcock, Cummings said last night the director had handled "the delicate matters necessarily coming under his administrative control in a highly efficient and satisfactory manner."

"In the course of his duties he organized the bureau which has functioned from the date of his connection with the department until now he is to be credited with the efficient manner in which it has operated," the Attorney General said. "I have the greatest respect for his ability and devotion to the highest standards of public service."

Capone Appeal Hearing Set in New Orleans

New Orleans, March 31 (A.P.).—The United States Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals today ordered transferred here for hearing the appeal of Alphonse Capone, Chicago gangster, whose attempt to gain freedom from the Atlanta Penitentiary on a writ of habeas corpus several months ago was denied by the Atlanta Federal district court. The appellate court set April 26 as date for hearing arguments of counsel on the appeal.

SENATE BARS CAPITOL SALE IN BEER VOTE

Measure Passed; Will Go Back To House.

STEP ASSURES DRINKS HERE

Bill Might Be Sent to Conference for New Study.

By ROBERT C. ALBRIGHT.

Beer for the District was assured yesterday, but whether it will be here by April 7 was left to the vagaries of the House and the pot luck District legislation usually takes when national matters are pending.

The Senate passed the local beer and wine measure by a voice vote, after two and a half hours of debate. Monday it goes back to the House, which may protest some of the Senate changes. Leaders expect a conference will be asked.

The bill ran the Senate's dry gantlet unscathed except for two amendments. These deny right of sale on Federal property, particularly at the Capitol, and refuse barbecue stands permission to serve beer to motorists in automobiles parked on private property.

Makes Fruitless Move.

Senator David I. Walsh (Democrat), Massachusetts, made a fruitless effort to get beer sales in drug stores with restaurant facilities authorized in the bill. His amendment was cried down, and no attempt was made to put the Senate on record.

Senator Thomas P. Gore (Democrat), Oklahoma, sponsored the amendment to block sales on Federal property. It was approved, 44 to 28, on a roll call ballot. Senator Arthur Capper (Republican), Kansas, succeeded in striking out the barbecue sale provision on a viva voce vote.

House Democratic Leader Joseph W. Byrns said last night it will be largely up to the House District Committee whether the measure is sent back to conference. Representative Mary T. Norton, chairman of the committee, said she opposes some of the Senate amendments. She will confer with committee members, however, before asking a conference.

In passing the bill, the Senate struck all of the House language after the enacting clause, substituting new phraseology agreed on by the Senate District Committee. Consideration of the measure moved so swiftly that when passage appeared certain at 12:30 p. m., Senator Joseph T. Robinson, Democratic leader, abruptly halt-

GETS WAR POST

WOODRING IS NAMED ASSISTANT TO DERN

D. W. MacCormack Picked for New Commissioner of Immigration.

The prophesied nomination of Harry H. Woodring, former Governor of Kansas, as Assistant Secretary of War, was sent to the Senate yesterday by President Roosevelt, in company with the name of Daniel W. MacCormack, of New York, to be the new commissioner of immigration.

It also was announced yesterday that appointment of Joseph B. Keenan, Cleveland attorney, as Assistant Attorney General, will be recommended to the President by Postmaster General Farley. Senator Bulkley (Democrat), Ohio, following a conference with the Postmaster General, said the selection will be approved.

The nomination of Mr. Woodring had been expected in informed circles for several days. The selected Assistant Secretary is a native Kansan. He was formerly a banker in his home town of Neodesha and served with the Tank Corps in the World War. He is a past State commander of the American Legion and has served as vice president of the Kansas Bankers Association. In 1931 he began a two-year term as Governor of Kansas. He is unmarried.

Mr. MacCormack, who will succeed the present commissioner of immigration, Harry E. Hull, is a banker and was a member of the American financial mission to Persia from 1922 to 1927. During this time he acted as director of internal revenue of the Persian government. In 1929 he became associated with the Irving Trust Co. of New York, and he is now president of the Fiduciary Trust Co.

Mr. MacCormack was born in Wick, Scotland, in 1880. In 1889 he came to this country. He served in the Army during the Philippine insurrection and again during and after the World War. In the interim he served with the Panama Canal organization, as general manager of the commissary department and with the division of meteorology and river hydraulics. During the World War he was a colonel in the Transport Corps, as executive officer of the Shipping Control Commission and general inspector in charge of reorganizing the Army Transport Service in France.

Rider Gravely Hurt As Cycle Hits Hole

Policeman Is Victim of Unguarded Depression in Pavement.

Thrown from his motorcycle when he struck a depression in the pavement on Pennsylvania avenue between Ninth and Tenth streets northwest, Private Lloyd S. Graham, of the Traffic Bureau, last night suffered a fractured skull and other injuries. Officials at Emergency Hospital reported his condition as serious.

Witnesses said the hole was about 6 inches deep and 12 feet long, and apparently had been removed for a patching job. It was also declared that there were no warning flags or lights near the hole.

Graham was going to his home, 2147 O street northwest, when the accident occurred. He has a wife and small child.

Ruth Bryan Owen Is Seen Sure Minister to Denmark

(Associated Press.)

Ruth Bryan Owen, whose appointment as Minister to Denmark appears to be imminent, was the dinner guest last night of the Danish Minister, Otto Wadsted.

She was invited by him to meet North Winship, counselor of the American Legation in Copenhagen, a visitor here.

The dinner was regarded by political observers as clinching the conclusion that Mrs. Owen, former representative to Congress from Florida, soon would be wearing the title "Madame Minister" in Denmark. Winship now heads the American staff of ten assigned at Copenhagen.

Four years of service on the House Foreign Relations Committee, years of residence abroad, and world-wide travel were pointed to as qualifying Mrs. Owen for foreign diplomatic service. She also served as a delegate to the Interparliamentary Union in London.

Two years ago, after crossing the Atlantic by a freighter that would accommodate her auto trailer, equipped with compact kitchen and chairs convertible into sleeping berths, Mrs. Owen "caravanned" Denmark with her son and daughter.

2 Weeks Remain in Post's $10,000 Queen Competition

Entries in Contest for 51 Charming Girls to Form Court of Honor at Chicago World Fair Close on April 15.

Just two weeks from tonight, at midnight, The Washington Post's search for candidates to be queen and members of the Court of Honor at Chicago's Century of Progress Exposition will end.

Thousands of girls in the territory covered by The Washington Post have submitted their photographs. Many of these photos have been printed in the Sunday rotogravure sections of The Post.

But there are still two weeks in which to enter this competition. The fact that photographs were not published in the rotogravure sections does not mean that those pictures are not eligible for the $10,000 cash prizes to be awarded at the exposition.

Each of the photographs submitted up to April 15 at midnight will be judged in the contest. From the thousands submitted to The Washington Post and to other papers affiliated in the contest, 51 girls will be chosen.

They will be invited to Chicago. There the judges will select the queen and two maids of honor, who will receive $5,000, $3,000 and $2,000, respectively. And for all 51 of the girls selected it will be a glorious occasion.

In conjunction with the Chicago Tribune and other newspapers, The Washington Post will see that the girls are royally entertained; that they are properly outfitted to make splendid appearances at the exposition, and that each winner comes back from a marvelous trip.

Many special events have been arranged for the girls selected to go to Chicago. In addition to participating in the opening of the exposition they will be tendered luncheons, dinners, theater parties and enjoy special privileges at the exposition.

So get your picture in at once. There are no strings attached. Just send a photograph of yourself giving information asked in a transmittal coupon to be found elsewhere in The Post and you are entered. You may be the $5,000 prize winner.

ROOSEVELT CONFERS ON RAILROADS TODAY

By LAWRENCE SULLIVAN.

President Roosevelt will confer with representatives of the railroads and railway labor at the White House this afternoon in the first of a series of conferences calculated to bring his new transportation program into final shape for presentation to Congress.

Coupled with this step, the President is exploring a new policy relating to inland waterways, with a view to establishing all such projects on a self-sustaining basis as regards maintenance costs.

Roughly, the new waterways revenue system, which involves a policy of far-reaching potentialities, would be patterned after the prevailing English system. There, a tonnage tax is imposed on the water commerce. The tax is practicably negligible in relation to the transportation cost, but it provides the essential maintenance revenues.

$60,000,000 for Maintenance.

The President is hopeful that some such system may be worked out to relieve the Federal budget of the present charge of approximately $60,000,000 annually for waterways maintenance and other aids to inland navigation.

The explorations on this policy, it was made clear at the White House yesterday, still are in the preliminary stages, but the President has quite definitely in mind what he will seek to accomplish in the discussions.

It has not yet been determined whether the same system of taxation would be applied to cover the Government's original investment in future projects, or whether they would continue to be paid for out of general tax funds.

Spokesmen for Labor.

The meeting with the railroad executives this afternoon will seek a working arrangement of several plans under consideration by the President's advisers during the last ten days. All seek to ease the plight of the country's railroads. Spokesmen for railway labor are to be included in the canvass of the broad plan for consolidation, economies, refinancing, and more effectively coordinated Federal control.

The question of railway wages, although not prominently mentioned in the recent discussions, is also understood to be scheduled for consideration.

Donald R. Richberg, of Chicago, attorney for the Association of Railways Labor Executives in the wages discussions last year, is among those invited to the White House this afternoon.

Consolidations Are Proposed.

Carl Gray, president of the Southern Pacific System, and generally regarded as the spokesman for a considerable section of railway management, also has been invited.

The Prince plan of immediate forced consolidations is known to have received attention at the White House during the past ten days. Those who have followed the discussions closely, however, feel confident that this step can not be worked out on a satisfactory basis at the present time.

Informed opinion inclines to the view that the immediate steps will be limited to ways and means of more effective cooperation between the carriers in the interest of operating economies, with possibly some further reduction in wages.

Revenues Continue Decline.

The 20 per cent wage cut sought by the carriers last fall was postponed after extended preliminary discussions. It was indicated at that time that if revenues did not improve measurably during the following six months the question would be reopened. Revenues have not improved. On the contrary, they have continued downward.

In past discussions of consolidation plans, organized labor has vigorously resisted all such moves. Thousands would be thrown out of work at a time when railway employment is at the lowest ebb of a quarter century, labor leaders declare.

Shippers Demand Relief.

On the other hand, agricultural and industrial interests are pressing with equal determination for a reduction in the general level of freight rates.

With commodity prices reduced anywhere from 25 to 50 per cent during the last four years, these interests contend, prevailing railway rates eat up, in many products, the entire cost of production.

Between these horns of the transportation dilemma lies the fact that even the most robust systems have not earned their charges during the lats six or eight months.

Roosevelt's Tennessee Plan Nears Completion

(Associated Press.)

President Roosevelt intends to submit to Congress in a few days a separate program for development of the Tennessee River Valley.

The President plans a conference soon with Senator Norris (Republican), Nebraska, long active for Government operation of Muscle Shoals, and other congressional leaders interested in the Tennessee project.

He then will send a separate message to Congress embodying his ideas for an experimental development of the valley, including reforestation, flood control, power and navigation improvement.

Extradition of 2 Sought In Slaying of Chicagoan

Chicago, March 31 (A.P.).—Detective Edward Stepek was sent to Brookhaven, Mass., today to seek the return to Chicago of Stanley G. Wright, charged with the slaying of Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley, 68, last May. Extradition of Wright is being sought.

A policeman will be sent tomorrow to Miami, Fla., to take Miss Marguerita Brincefield into custody. Miss Brincefield also is accused of the killing of the woman.

Man With Bank Account Got $402.42 in Charity

San Francisco, March 31 (A.P.).—Michael Vidlich, who with an alleged $7,706 in the bank asked for and received $402.42 in relief from the Associated Charities, today was fined $500 and sentenced to 60 days in jail on conviction of petty theft.

Vidlich, who has a wife and two grown children, said by way of defense he "only had $6,600 in the bank."

Slash in Veteran Benefits To Include Fight Pensions

Economy Program Designed to Save $400,000,000 Now Before Roosevelt; Early Signature Expected But Effective July 1.

Even some allowances for service-incurred disabilities will be reduced by a $400,000,000 slash in veterans' compensation under a plan which was delivered to the White House last night and needs only President Roosevelt's Executive order to become effective.

It is thought likely that the order will be signed today or tomorrow, although the cuts will not be made until July 1. It was delivered to the President last night by Director of the Budget Lewis W. Douglas, who estimated the savings of the cut.

In addition to the $400,000,000 reduction in compensation, an additional saving of $50,000,000 is planned in the fund, to pay adjusted service certificates. The compensation saving calculated by Mr. Douglas is higher than that estimated by Brig. Gen. Frank T. Hines. Gen. Hines testified, before a congressional committee, that the savings would be about $385,000,000.

Not all payments for service-incurred disabilities will be reduced, cuts will depend on the nature of the disability and their allowance category.

Before the plan for reductions went to the President, it had been the subject of a two-day conference between Mr. Douglas and leaders of five veterans' organizations. The veterans said, at the close of the talk, that they were "not a bit" satisfied with the result of the conference, indicating that the slashes will be deep.

BEER IN DISTRICT IS ASSURED AS SENATE PASSES MEASURE

ed the march to a vote with a demand for more thorough discussion.

Senator Morris Sheppard (Democrat), Texas, author of the old Sheppard act which the beer law replaces, furnished the high light of the debate in a colorful speech protesting passage of the measure.

"Oh, Hand Me Down That Bottle of Corn," said the senator, "is the wets' national anthem."

Held Unconstitutional.

The dry senator went back to buried Pompeii for a vivid example of what moral ruin the Nation might be headed into. Alcohol, he said, is the scourge of the human race.

Turning to Senator Millard E. Tydings (Democrat), Maryland, author of the bill, he declared he had conceded the unconstitutionality of the measure when he admitted a child of 8 or 9 could get drunk from 3.2 per cent beer.

There was some difference of opinion on the construction to be placed on the Gore amendment. Senator Tydings insisted it would deny the right to serve beer not only on Federal property in the District, but at Army posts throughout the country. Senator Gore interpreted it as applying only to the District. He said his purpose principally was to prohibit its sale in the Capitol.

The amendment reads:

"Provided, that no license shall be issued for the sale of any such beverage in any building owned or leased by the United States and used for the transaction of public business."

Wine was specifically authorized in the bill, over the protest of Senator Hiram Johnson (Republican), California, that 3.2 per cent vintage was not wine at all. Wine was stricken from the local beer measure in the House, after it was included in the National law.

Senator Tydings promised the California senator he will sponsor a 10 per cent District wine measure, if California legislators succeed in getting a national bill of that character through both houses. Senator Johnson did not press his objections.

Medicinal Bill Signed.

Shortly before the beer measure was voted, the first big modification of the Volstead act had gone into force. President Roosevelt signed a bill which ended the restrictions hitherto placed on the number of medicinal liquor prescriptions and the amount handed out. By its terms it became law immediately, although the present Federal prescription blanks must be used until next January, after which stamps, minus all present detailed explanations, will take their place.

Late yesterday, also, Amos W. W. Woodcock, director of the Prohibition Bureau, instructed his agents to concentrate in the future on combating unlawful distilled liquor.

He told them in a circular letter that their job on beer will be to suppress illegal breweries, counting on the lawful ones for help. He ordered them to prevent, also, any unlawful shipments into dry States, and declared the agents stationed in the latter would be more responsible than those at the place of origin.

'Sweet Adeline' Barred But Saloon Is Allowed

Wenatchee, Wash., March 31 (A.P.).—Beer may come back to Wenatchee, but old-timers will be at a loss for atmosphere.

"Sweet Adeline" is out. A city ordinance says "It shall be unlawful to suffer or permit music, vocal or instrumental, in said saloon or other place."

Another clause rules that women may not "frequent or loiter about a place where beer is sold."

CLARIFYING IN SIGHT FOR SECURITIES BILL

Drafter Admits It Fails to Exempt Issues Now in Circulation.

(Associated Press.)

Revision of the administration's securities bill clearly to restrict its application to new issues of stocks and bonds was indicated definitely yesterday by the House Interstate Commerce Committee.

This change, while in conformity with President Roosevelt's message to Congress requesting the legislation, apparently was not looked upon with favor before the Senate Banking Committee, which also launched hearings yesterday upon the bill.

President Roosevelt said in his message that it was an obligation on the Government "to insist that every issue of new securities to be sold in interstate commerce shall be accompanied by full publicity and information."

This point confused members of both committees as hearings got under way until Huston Thompson, former Federal Trade Commissioner, who helped to draft the bill, conceded "There is no language in the bill at present exempting existing securities."

He added that in his own mind such an exemption was made, but that his advisers informed him that the black and white language of the bill did not carry this out.

Robinson's Interpretation.

"Therefore," he said, "I am willing to join with them in amending the measure to clarify this provision."

Thompson's interpretation that the measure would apply only to new issues or to those not yet sold, was in conflict with a statement by Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, Democratic leader. He contended that "If you don't apply the law to existing securities, you lose 90 per cent of the value of the law." He added, "No sound security has anything to fear in the making public of the full details of the condition of the company."

Stressing what he described as the necessity for the legislation, Walter L. Miller, of the Commerce Department, said that from 1919 to 1931 securities sold in this country, including foreign, totaled $50,000,000,000. Of that amount, he said, "50 per cent were either unjustified or worthless."

Wall Street Startled.

New York, March 31 (A.P.).—Wall street woke up with a start today to the fact that the proposed Federal securities bill apparently would require all issues now listed on the New York Stock Exchange to be registered with the governmental body designated for such supervision.

It was first understood that the provisions of the bill applied only to the issuance of new securities after the stipulated 90-day period following the adoption of the bill. Further study here led counsel for the various financial houses to the conclusion that the intent of the Federal measure was retroactive.

This would mean that the some 3,000 individual stocks and bonds now listed on the New York Stock Exchange would have to be registered in proper manner before they could be traded.

Farley Gets '62 Bill Signed by Namesake

(Associated Press.)

James A. Farley, the Postmaster General, yesterday received a $1 bill bearing the signature of James A. Farley, president of the Farmers Bank of Montgomery, Ala.

But the Postmaster General was not made any richer thereby. It was a Confederate bank note, issued on March 1, 1862.

It was sent to Farley by R. L. McKinney, of Columbia, Tenn., who wrote:

"The inclosed might be of some interest to you, as it is signed by one James A. Farley. The family of Farleys in Alabama have been very prominent."

The Postmaster General plans to consult his family tree to ascertain if he is related to the Alabama Farleys.

BEER LICENSE BOARD LOCKED ON POLICIES

Requests for Permits Total 710; Thirsty Capital Is Seen on April 7.

The District beer license board, after spending almost the entire day studying the Senate and House bills, late yesterday adjourned without reaching any final decisions regarding policies, regulations, or the forms of applications and permits. Today its members will confer with the Commissioners for advice on certain policies.

With the applications for licenses continuing to pour in at the rate of more than 100 a day, it became increasingly probable that Washington may go thirsty on April 7 despite the passage of the Senate beer bill yesterday. At best, only a small number of applicants will have licenses and then only if the Commissioners should instruct the board to issue licenses to reputable establishments before making an investigation of all applications on hand.

A total of 126 applications for permits were received by the Commissioners yesterday, making 710 in all.

The Potomac Palisades W. C. T. U. yesterday wrote to the Commissioners to protest against the issuance of any beer permits, but suggested as an alternative that no sales be permitted within 3,000 feet of the Francis Scott Key or the Reservoir Schools or within 400 feet of any residence in the Georgetown and Potomac Heights area. Such a plan would practically prohibit the sale of beer in that section.

Vernon E. West, chairman of the beer board, said that no great progress could be made in drafting regulations or application and permit forms until the District beer bill is approved by Senate and House conferees.

The question of whether delicatessens will be given on-sale licenses depends upon how the measure is finally drafted. At any rate, delicatessens as well as groceries, and probably even hardware stores, may get off-sale licenses which will authorize them to sell beer for home consumption.

Among the applications received yesterday was one from the Arts Club.

EARLY FARM RELIEF PASSAGE PREDICTED

Senate Leaders Confident After Long Conference With President.

(Associated Press.)

Early passage of a broad farm relief program—including in its scope aid for the farmer in meeting his mortgage as well as lifting his crop prices—last night was predicted by Senate leaders after a long conference with President Roosevelt.

Storm clouds hanging over the administration's sweeping agricultural aid bill, already passed by the House, apparently were cleared away in the hour-and-a-half meeting between members of the Senate Agriculture Committee and the Chief Executive. They came at his request.

The Agriculture Committee, despite a week of study, has been unable to agree on the measure. It will resume its deliberations today, with Chairman Smith (Democrat), South Carolina, and others holding hope that a bill will be reported to the Senate by Monday.

The administration's proposed mortgage financing program, expected to be sent to the Capitol Monday, will be added on the Senate floor as an amendment to the commodity price-fixing bill on which the committee is working.

Price-Fixing Forecast.

The form the bill will take on its presentation to the Senate, however, rested with committee members, but Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, the Democratic leader, said "the trend of the sentiment on the whole seemed to be to retain the items included by the House."

Robinson and Smith agreed that a proposal of John A. Simpson, president of the National Farmers' Union, for Federal price-fixing to insure the farmer production costs on that share of his crop used in domestic markets was likely to be written into the bill.

A provision will be included in the bill for Federal funds with which to start the price-lifting machinery working. This fund would be reimbursed by the proposed processing tax, but members explained it would be some weeks before collection of this would make it usable.

Size of Appropriation.

Discussion of the amount to be appropriated ranged from $50,000,000 to $100,000,000. The bill also will contain provisions for the processing tax to be changed, if necessary, to conform to the price-raising objective.

Smith told newspaper men Mr. Roosevelt "wanted the earliest possible action on this bill," and said he would "guess that it might be reported out at least by Monday." He added there was a possibility it could be approved today.

Ten Democrats besides Robinson took part in the conference, along with three Republicans and Shipstead (Farmer-Labor), Minnesota, and Secretary Wallace. They were: Kendrick, Wyoming; McGill, Caraway, Arkansas; Wheeler, Montana; Murphy, Iowa; Bankhead, Alabama; Bulow, South Dakota; Bone, Washington; Pope, Idaho, and Smith.

FULL MORGAN PROBE PROPOSED IN SENATE

(Associated Press.)

Senate investigation of private banking houses, including J. P. Morgan & Co., together with a probe of the long delay in the prosecution of Joseph W. Harriman, former chairman of the Harriman National Bank & Trust Co., of New York, yesterday were sought in resolutions introduced by members of the banking committee.

Chairman Fletcher proposed that the banking committee's stock market investigating authority be extended to include the operations of all private banking and investment companies. His resolution will be considered by the banking group at an early meeting.

Senator Costigan (Democrat), Colorado, offered the resolution to inquire into the "reported failure on the part of the Department of Justice to prosecute promptly alleged violations of law" by the Harriman Bank or its officers. The Judiciary Committee, which would make the inquiry, will consider this proposal Monday.

Harriman, founder of the institution bearing his name, recently was arrested charged with falsifying entries in the bank's books.

The Banking Committee's stock market investigators decided only Thursday not to go into the Harriman case, leaving it to the Treasury and Justice Departments.

F. G. Awalt, acting Comptroller of the Currency, issued a statement early this week saying the delay was to protect the bank's creditors. He said a national bank examiner had found the bank's affairs in a bad condition last July, but had asked and was granted more time to reorganize the institution before making a final report.

Although the Fletcher resolution grows out of an attempt by Ferdinand Pecora, stock market committee counsel, to look into the affairs of the House of Morgan, it is sweeping in character and would authorize inquiry into the entire field of private banking.

Herriot Criticizes Mussolini Policy

France Warned to Stick to League Instead of Four-Power Plan.

Lyons, France, March 31 (A.P.).—War will surely result from any four-power effort to remake the map of Europe, former Premier Edouard Herriot warned in an article published today in Le Democrate, in which he criticized the Mussolini peace plan.

He declared the idea of four-power consultations was good, but said it "would be the worst of follies" to substitute for the policy of the League of Nations a system of accords among a small group of powers.

In the face of Adolf Hitler's advent to power, which he said meant the death of the German republic, M. Herriot insisted that France adhere to the covenant of the League of Nations and nothing but the covenant.

Farmer Cuts Arm Off While Asleep

Somnambulist Aroused by Shock Is Unable to Explain Action.

Springfield, Minn., March 31 (A.P.). A 20-year-old farm youth who arose from his bed at night, walked to a wood pile and cut off his arm with an ax was in serious condition at a hospital today.

The attending physician said he believed the youth, Stanley Benson, inflicted the injury while walking in his sleep.

Benson, aroused by the shock after severing the arm near the elbow, called to his brother, George, who brought him here. Benson could not give an explanation of his act, the physician said.

Dry Agent Killed In Rum Car Crash

Driver Who Dashed Victim Against Pole Pleads He Feared Holdup.

San Francisco, March 31 (A.P.).—William S. Grubb, veteran prohibition agent, was killed today while clinging to the side of a speeding, liquor-laden car which swerved and struck a telephone pole. The officer was crushed between car and pole.

The driver, James Curran, 27, captured by Prohibition Agent H. E. Meyer, riding on the other running board, was charged with murder and his car, carrying about 72 pint bottles of whisky packed in 30 canvas sacks, was seized. While Meyer insisted he and Grubb had identified themselves, Curran declared he had not seen their badges.

"It was an accident," he said. "I thought they were bandits. I didn't know they were prohibition agents."

MAN FINDS IDENTITY AFTER FOUR DECADES

suing, Jim's memory is hazy. He remembers the cruel treatment of a farmer with whom he later lived. He was denied an education and still bears the marks of many whippings.

Little by little he forged upward from bleak nonentity. Finally he went to work in a Western logging camp. He learned to read and write. He rose from one position to another and at last, after serving throughout the World War, became State game warden of Minnesota.

It was then he began his search for identity in earnest. He knew his name was not Wesley. He learned that while in an orphanage in Minneapolis. He had a picture of himself taken at an early age. That photograph and a story of his life were published in a Midwest paper. The incident of his broken nose was stressed.

Photograph Proves Clew.

Mrs. Nellie Dickey, of Wayzata, Minn., read the story. She recognized the picture as resembling a cousin, Charles Westlake, of Seattle, Wash. On the chance that perhaps this was the long-lost member of the Westlake family, Mrs. Dickey communicated with Mrs. Sheridan here.

And now Jim—married and the father of two children—will see a member of his long-lost family for the first time. He will arrive here by airplane. The trip is sponsored by the Veterans of Foreign Wars post of Anoka, Minn.

It would take volumes to tell events in Jim's life—and he will be kept busy telling them to his newly found sister.

Byrd Says League To Continue Work

Admiral Asserts Economy Society Has Proved Value to Public.

New York, March 31 (A.P.).—Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd, chairman of the National Economy League, issued a statement today saying the organization would continue to function and that the passage of the administration economy bill "is no more than a portion of the whole story."

"There has been a clear and definite demand," the statement said, "not only by the public but also by the thousands of members of the league, that the National Economy League not only go ahead, but that it do so more vigorously than ever before.

"The passage of the President's economy bill is a victory for the principles for which the league was founded. Yet this is no more than a portion of the whole story. There have been other victories for sound economy in Government, not only in the Federal field but also in the State and local fields, and in these the National Economy League has been, I think, a vital factor."

"With that sum," he said, "we believe we could make available 75 per cent of the deposits of the closed banks. Whether we can obtain that much remains to be seen."

Methodists Map Strong Dry Drive

New York Conference Will Organize Vigilance Societies.

New York, March 31 (A.P.).—The New York conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church voted unanimously today to wage a militant fight against prohibition repeal, to organize vigilance committees "who will prosecute breakers of the law," and to "watch, fight and pray that the demon of drink may never again come to our land."

The conference, in annual session, adopted a resolution outlining five fronts for the war on liquor. They are:

"1. Secure the largest vote for the support and retention of the eighteenth amendment. 2. Insist that any law adopted shall seek the greatest possible safeguards for the general public. 3. Educate all our people to the evils of drink, for we now have a new generation that has never seen the corners of open saloons with the drunkards reeling from their swinging doors. 4. Organize bodies of our men who will constitute vigilance committees and who will prosecute breakers of the law. 5. Watch, fight and pray that the demon of drink may never again come to our land."

Apparently the public did not know that Thaelmann is alive and the hoax was widely accepted, especially so because it was thought the article must have passed the censor. After the German Minister protested, the paper was confiscated.

2 FLIERS ACCUSED OF FIRING ON PRISON

Leavenworth Official Identifies Pair as Former Convicts; Plot Charged.

Leavenworth, Kans., March 31 (A. P.).—Two men, identified by J. K. Codding, United States commissioner, as Lynn and A. N. Barlow, former convicts, of Denver, were arrested late today on a charge of firing from an airplane at guards of the Federal Penitentiary in an attempt to aid in an escape plot.

No injuries were reported as a result of the firing.

They were brought before Codding by Warden Fred G. Zerbst and other prison officials. Mr. Codding ordered the two held under bonds of $5,000 each for an appearance before him at 2 p. m. tomorrow.

Mr. Codding said the prison officials reported the plane had flown over the penitentiary for several days and today swooped lower to permit its occupants to fire at the guards.

Fort Leavenworth soldiers, who made the arrests, reported finding no weapon in the plane, but Mr. Codding said it easily could have been disposed of from the air.

Fort Leavenworth officers reported seeing the plane fly low and of hearing the shots. They had ordered that it be detained if it landed on the fort's field.

Blind since birth, Heisel emerged from a hospital with his sight and for the first time looked with amazement upon common objects. A motion picture filled him with awe, and automobiles, street cars, and trains attracted unparalleled attention.

A victim of congenital cataract, he was told long ago that he would always be blind, but two months ago came here for an operation.

6 KILLED, 8 INJURED IN KANSAS AIR CRASH

Plane Loaded With Canadian Athletes Crashes in Plowed Ground.

Neodesha, Kans., March 31 (A.P.).—Tragedy flew with a group of young Canadian athletes through bright Kansas skies today and ended in quick death and injury their sporting invasion of the United States.

Members of the Winnipeg Toilers, basket ball champions of Canada, and accompanying party were the victims of the crash of a disabled trimotored airplane in a forced landing on a soggy, narrow plowed field.

Six of the fourteen persons aboard are dead, one is reported dying, two are not expected to recover and five were given a fighting chance to survive by physicians.

The dead are:

The injured:

Bruce Dodds, player, internal injuries, reported dying; Andy Brown, player, critical; George Wilson, manager of team, critical; Lauder Phillips, player, scratched and dazed; Allan C. Samson, foreman of a Winnipeg newspaper composing room, badly hurt but not critical; T. A. Silverthorne, player, broken legs and arms; Hugh Penwarden, player, critically hurt and unconscious, and Ian Wooley, player, critical, unconscious.

The disaster overtook the Canadian party on its homeward trip from Tulsa, Okla., after an international series of games with the Tulsa Oilers, A. A. U. basket ball champions of the United States.

The big craft suddenly developed motor trouble after skimming the Oklahoma and Kansas prairies for more than an hour. The left wing motor quit and Pilot Hakes apparently decided to land the heavily laden craft.

The disaster came on the second anniversary of the death of Knute Rockne, Notre Dame's football wizard, who, like the Canadian athletes, plunged to his death in the crash of an airplane on a Kansas prairie.

Son Missing 25 Years Sought Here by Mother

Mrs. Mary Cockley, 2134 H street northwest, told police last night that 25 years ago, while she was living in York, Pa., her son, Wilbert, left home, saying he was going to New York City. She said she received a letter from him about five years ago, but he did not give his New York address. A short time later, she declared she saw the picture of a steeplejack named George Cockley in a newspaper.

She believes the man is her son and asked police to help her locate him. She said her son is now 52 years old.

RUTH JUDD CHEERY; SAWED BAR FOUND

Prison Officials Puzzled by Attitude After Board Decrees Her Death.

State Prison, Florence, Ariz., March 31 (A.P.).—Disclosing a recent attempt to prepare for escape, and several threats of suicide, prison officials were puzzled today by the unwonted cheerfulness displayed by Winnie Ruth Judd as her death on the gallows impended.

The blonde young woman condemned to die April 21 for killing Agnes Anne Leroi, one of the two "trunk murder" case victims, has been tempestuous lately.

About three weeks ago she cut through one bar in the little window of her one-room adobe cellhouse in the yard of the woman's ward with a hacksaw blade, which Warden A. C. Walker said was "given her by her brother, Burton McKinnell."

E. H. Shute, assistant warden, said Mrs. Judd has declared several times recently she will die by her own hand before a rope is placed about her neck. Precautions have been taken against both escape and suicide.

She was smiling and cheerful today despite the refusal of the Arizona Board of Pardons and Paroles to commute her sentence.

Calmly she went into conference with her attorneys regarding last night's decision of the pardon board, by which it declared its belief that she shot Mrs. Leroi to death while the woman slept in her bed and killed Miss Hedvig Samuelson in a deadly pursuit through the house with a pistol silencing the second woman's outcry.

Belmont Trustees Take Court Action

Ask Permission to Convert Home Here Into Apartment House.

New York, March 31 (A.P.).—Trustees of the Perry Belmont estate sought permission in Supreme Court here today to convert the 45-room Belmont mansion at 1618 New Hampshire avenue northwest, Washington, D. C., into an apartment house.

The trustees, the New York Trust Co., and Wilton J. Lambert, obtained an order from Justice Edward J. Glennon requiring Raymond Belmont, of Middleburg, Va., Morgan Belmont, of Westbury, N. Y.; August Belmont, of New York City, and other heirs to show cause next Tuesday why the permission should not be granted.

The mansion was built in 1906 at a cost of $600,000 and has been unoccupied since 1929. The petition said taxes totaling approximately $36,000 for 1930 through 1933 are due unpaid. The trustees said they seek to make six apartments of the house because its size and the changed character of the neighborhood makes it impossible to sell or rent it. Permission of the adjoining property holders has been obtained.

Trial of 'Fox' Here Given Precedence

Keogh Says Norman Whittaker Must Answer Lindbergh Charge.

(Associated Press.)

Michael F. Keogh, assistant United States attorney, said yesterday that Norman Whittaker, alias "The Fox," must stand trial here first on a charge of complicity in a Lindbergh baby ransom plot before he is returned to Richmond to answer a bad-check charge.

Whittaker is charged here with being an accomplice of Gaston B. Means in the ransom plot in which Mrs. Evalyn Walsh McLean was swindled out of $104,000.

The charge against Whittaker at the Virginia capital is issuing a worthless check for $150. Hearing on the fugitive warrant was deferred yesterday pending outcome of the ransom conspiracy charge.

Postmaster Falls Dead on Doorstep

Special to The Washington Post.

Clarksburg, W. Va., March 31.—Robert Tinney, 74, postmaster and merchant at Little Birch, Braxton County, fell dead this morning on his own doorstep.

Warned by neighbors that some one was prowling around his home, Tinney with three friends walked briskly from the postoffice to the house to investigate. As he grasped the door knob, he fell dead, a victim of a sudden heart attack.

Tinney had been postmaster at Little Birch for eight years and for six years he served also as deputy county assessor. Surviving are his wife, one son and two daughters.

Japanese Ends Service As Official of League

Geneva, March 31 (A.P.).—Japan took another step in its rupture with the League of Nations today when Y. Sugimura, undersecretary general and director of the political section since 1927, terminated his service.

He will sail for Japan soon to report on the general political situation, including the status of the Pacific Islands mandated to Japan, and the possibility of Japan's cooperating with the league.

Trust Firm Wins Kreuger Petition

Empowered to Get Counsel to Fight for Portion of Profits.

New York, March 31 (A.P.).—A percentage of the profits of the company Ivar Krueger set up to control the German match monopoly will be sought by the Irving Trust Co., as trustee in bankruptcy for International Match Corporation, it was disclosed today. The plan was made public when the trust company obtained from Federal Referee Oscar V. Ehrhorn an order empowering it to pay a $2,000 retainer to a German lawyer for the purpose.

The petition declared that Kreuger took up a $125,000,000 loan of the Reich in 1930 in return for which he received the match monopoly. The agreement, the petition says, provided for the institution of the German Match Monopoly Co., and the payment of half its net profits to the Swedish Match Co.

The International Match Corporation claims an interest in the profits by virtue of its control of $21,000,000 of the German bonds and an agreement with the Swedish Match Co.

2 WOMEN ARE FOUND DEAD IN APARTMENT

Poisoning Suspected in Ohio Mystery in Fashionable Home Section.

Portsmouth, Ohio, March 31 (A.P.). Apparently victims of poison or an overdose of sleeping potion, two young women were found dead in a fashionable West End apartment here late today.

The women, Mrs. Dorothy White McCormick, 19, of Portsmouth, and Miss Muriel Howard, 18, of Scioto Furnace, Ohio, had taken the apartment only yesterday, paying a week's rent.

Their bodies, lying in bed, were found by Walter George 21, and Hiram Schmeller, 22, police said. There was no evidence of a struggle.

The possibility of murder was investigated, however, when police were informed by George and Schmeller that they found the door to the suite ajar when they called to keep a "date." A roomer in the building reported he knocked on the women's door last night when he heard a sound he believed to be some one groaning.

There was no response to the knock, however, and the roomer did not investigate further. Other residents of the apartment said they heard a piano played in the women's suite last night.

Coroner Ross Moore said an autopsy would be necessary to determine the cause of death, tentatively attributed by Prosecutor Emory Smith to one of three things—tainted food, poisoned beverage, or an overdose of sleeping potion. Authorities were inclined to reject a possible theory that the women committed suicide.

Schmeller and George were held for questioning and police started a search for Mrs. McCormick's husband in the hope he might aid in solving the mystery. Police said the McCormicks separated several weeks ago.

Shot Slew Cermak, Prosecutor Insists

Doctor Who Blamed Colitis Told of Report Filed by 9 Physicians.

Miami, Fla., March 31 (A.P.).—State Attorney N. Vernon Hawthorne, who prosecuted Giuseppe Zangara for slaying Mayor Anton Cermak, tonight made public a letter he said he had mailed to Dr. Karl A. Meyer, of Chicago, "for your information," after Meyer was credited in press reports with saying ulcerative colitis and not a bullet wound caused the death of the Chicago chief executive.

Hawthorne said he inclosed in the letter a certified copy of the report of physicians who performed an autopsy on Mayor Cermak's body showing Cermak's death was due to a bullet wound.

The report, signed by nine physicians, said "the undersigned physicians who attended the late Mayor Anton J. Cermak are of the opinion that the direct cause of death was a gunshot wound sustained the night of February 15, 1933."

Prior to the shooting, the doctors said, "Mr. Cermak was in his normal robust health."

Biographer Sued In $100,000 Libel

Liggett Asks Damage for Corey Claim He Stole Hoover Material.

New York, March 31 (A.P.).—Walter W. Liggett, author, today filed suit in Supreme Court for $100,000 against Herbert Corey, author, and the Houghton, Mifflin Co., publishers, for allegedly libelous statements contained in a book written by Corey and published by Houghton, Mifflin in May, 1932.

Liggett, the author of "The Rise of Herbert Hoover," complained that Corey, in a volume called "The Truth About Hoover," alleged that Liggett had purloined some of the material for his volume from a third book, "The Strange Career of President Hoover," written by John Hamill. Corey's defense is that the statements in his book are true.

Milk Strike Truce Ends Farmer Vigil

Rochester, N. Y., March 31 (A.P.). An army of 3,000 bruised and weary dairy farmers straggled back to their homes today after three days and two nights of determined warfare to keep milk out of the city had been ended by a 24-hour armistice ordered by Albert Woodhead, president of the Western New York Milk Producers Association.

The order to suspend the conflict between independent producers and farmers suppiying the Dairyman's League was given early this afternoon at a meeting of 1,800 strikers, who approved Woodhead's suggestion to give Gov. Lehman a chance to rush action on the dairy relief bill of Senator Perley Pitcher, of Watertown.

MANCHURIA'S OPEN DOOR NEARS CLOSE

Foreign Business Men Claim Japan Plans Tariffs to Monopolize Market.

Tokyo (Saturday), April 1 (U.P.).—The "open door" trade policy in Manchuria is rapidly becoming a thing of the past, with Japan preparing to use tariff barriers to dominate the market, foreign business leaders here declared today.

They agreed with the newspaper Nichi Nichi, which said Japan would use tariffs to control Manchurian markets. Foreign Minister Yasuya Uchida called the Nichi Nichi story "fantastic."

Foreign business leaders said there are indications the Manchukuo government was preparing to erect tariff walls to bar many Occidental concerns, while Japanese firms operating in Manchukuo would be largely exempt.

As an example, a recent order of Japan's Kwantung army was cited.

The army summoned representatives of five leading Japanese petroleum companies. They allegedly were virtually forced to subscribe 500,000 yen each, while the South Manchuria Railway Co. subscribed 500,000 yen more to erect a petroleum refinery.

The refinery, probably to be built near Hulutao, would supply the Manchukuo market. Standard, Shell and other Occidental companies, it was rumored, would be barred from the market by tariffs.

Two Virginia Policemen Cleared in Youth's Death

Covington, Va., March 31 (A.P.).—Lieut. H. B. Nicholas and Sergt. J. W. Watkins, of the State motor vehicle department, were cleared late today of all carges growing out of the fatal shooting of Herndon Thurston Pollard, 23-year-old South Covington youth.

Pollard was shot and fatally wounded last week when he fled from the officers who attempted to arrest him on a felony warrant charging the theft of automobiles.

Honest Stranger Won't Rob Store

Gallup, N. Mex., March 31 (A.P.).—C. F. Vogel, a storekeeper, testifies to first-hand knowledge of honesty.

When he departed for the night he forgot to lock the door. The next morning he found a strange battered violin and case in the shop, together with a note.

The note said the writer, "just a broken-down fellow going square," had entered the store to sell a used article, waited vainly for the manager, and finally abandoned the fiddle because he couldn't "carry it on the road."

"The idea to rob, to take some jewelry, occurred to me," the note said. "You are a lucky man, I think, for I am not the robbing kind."

Increase of Paving Cost Cheered by City Officials

Chicago, March 31 (A.P.).—Democratic members of the city council cheered today when Oscar Hewitt, commissioner of public works, told them that paving materials had increased in price 65 per cent and declared:

"I think it's due to the efforts of President Roosevelt. There is a spirit of revival among all manufacturers due to his efforts and they are raising their prices."

The council approved a paving contract for $186,000.

ENVOY'S DAUGHTER TO BE APPLE QUEEN

doah, legendary rulers of this vale where apple trees blossom forth from every hillside, was extended Miss May by United States Senator Harry Flood Byrd, of Virginia. Shortly after the invitation was given, Mrs. B. B. Dutton, of Winchester, chairman of the queen's committee of the fete; Director General J. P. Arthur, Mrs. J. Victor Arthur, closely identified with the festival, and Lester D. Arnold, secretary to Senator Byrd, paid a formal call to Miss May at the Belgian Embassy, at which time she definitely accepted the invitation.

Miss May, a brunette, is considered one of the most charming members of the younger diplomatic set in Washington. Since residing there, she has been popular in society circles and has been much feted by the elite of that city.

In announcing the selection of Miss May, Director General Arthur stated that a large number of the Diplomatic Corps of Washington had been extended special invitations to attend the festival. The personal escort to Queen Shenandoah X, Mr. Arthur stated, will be a member of the Diplomatic Corps, but he refused to divulge his name.

A ceremony used in the coronation of the kings of ancient Belgium when that land was fighting under the House of Orange for "its place in the sun" of northern Europe will be used to invest Miss May with the crown of diadems and scepter of authority as result of the local festival, the director general added. The Rev. Dr. S. L. Flickinger, of Winchester, a nationally known linguist, is planning to prepare the ceremony for the coronation of Queen Shenandoah from the original text of ceremonials used hundreds of years ago in Belgium. It was Dr. Flickinger who, in 1931, translated the ceremony used at the coronation of Alfred the Great in England into modern English for the coronation of Miss Patricia Dacre Morton, of Winchester, England, as Queen Shenandoah VIII.

Miss May will be crowned Queen Shenandoah X on the first day of the festival, and her reign as such will be climaxed the next day with a triumphal ride with her court through the streets of Winchester in the "trail of the pink petals."

The court of Queen Shenandoah will be composed of princesses selected from 30 leading girls' schools of Virginia, Maryland, West Virginia and the District of Columbia.

VISIT BY MATSUOKA IS PAID ROOSEVELT

Japanese Also Sees Hull; Will Go to Capitol Today; Crisis Not Discussed.

(Associated Press.)

Yosuke Matsuoka, forceful, American-educated defender of Japan's course in Manchuria, called on President Roosevelt and Secretary Hull of the State Department yesterday and will visit the Capitol today to meet Vice President Garner, Speaker Rainey and members of the Senate and House committees which deal with foreign affairs.

Special interest attaches to Matsuoka's visit to Washington because of rumors that he soon may be minister of foreign affairs, or even premier of Japan, as a result of his struggle at Geneva to gain recognition for Manchukuo and because of the manner in which he has set Japan's side of the Manchurian conflict before the world.

Matsuoka is a member of the Seyukai, the party now in control of the Japanese government and dominated by the army and navy. As a member of this party he served two terms in the Japanese Diet.

Matsuoka was with the President for about 15 minutes and chatted for the same length of time with Secretary Hull. The Japanese visitor said, however, that his calls were formal and that the Manchurian situation was not discussed.

Matsuoka also called yesterday on Sir Ronald Lindsay, the British Ambassador, and later had tea with William R. Castle, jr., former Undersecretary of State, whom he knew when the latter served the United States as special ambassador to Japan.

The Japanese visitor will leave Washington tonight for Detroit to make a study of the motor industry. He will also stop in Chicago on his way to the Pacific Coast, where his alma mater, the University of Oregon, will confer on him an honorary degree before he sails from San Francisco for Japan.

Pair Must Face Chair In Oil Station Killing

Boston, March 31 (A.P.).—By a decision today of the supreme court, Herman Snyder, 23, of this city, and John A. Donnellon, 25, of Los Angeles, must die in the electric chair for the murder of James M. Kiley, Somerville gasoline station attendant, on April 9, 1931.

The supreme court found no error in the record of the trial and ordered a judgment in the case. Unless the governor intervenes or indictments are nolle prossed, death sentences must be pronounced. Snyder and Donnellon had appealed convictions of murder in the first degree returned by a jury in Middlesex superior court in Cambridge.

Lawmakers Study Admittance Fees

Oklahoma Legislators Say $2 Per Day Inadequate to Pay Expenses.

Oklahoma City, March 31 (A.P.).—A resolution proposing that Oklahoma legislators charge admittance fees during the remainder of their extended session was introduced in the House of Representatives today.

The resolution, introduced in the "name of all the members," called attention to the $2 daily stipend the lawmakers have been drawing since the 60-day time for full pay expired, and set forth that the present pay "is wholly inadequate to sustain life in the fair city of Oklahoma City, where inkeepers are hard-boiled and where cash is demanded for services rendered."

It would fix a 50-cent admission fee to the galleries and $1 to the floor of the House.

San Francisco, March 31 (A.P.).—In her petition for divorce from William Alvin Palmer, his dancer wife, Dorothy Aldridge Palmer, asserts he rose in the middle of the night to do the "dance of the dying swan" before a mirror.

She also alleges Palmer, who also is a dancer, belittled her dancing ability.

bill, Representative Buchanan said the position of interested groups was made clear at hearings on the original 1934 District appropriation bill, which died with the last Congress. He said these hearings are a matter of record and available to members.

Meanwhile, protests of the reduced estimates were filed with Chairman Buchanan yesterday by the Monday Evening Club, the Parent-Teacher Association of the Roosevelt High School and other groups.

"It seems to us that reducing expenditures for public works is merely to put an additional load upon the relief agencies, and we note this morning a statement in the press that the Board of Public Welfare is closing its emergency relief division to any further claims upon it, in view of its diminishing budget," officers of the Monday Evening Club wrote.

The Roosevelt Parent-Teacher Association petitioned the committee to restore the $400,000 estimate for repairs and improvements to the 217 school buildings.

Representative Ross Collins (Democrat), Texas, a member of the deficiencies subcommittee in charge of the District bill, yesterday came out in support of a cut in the District's general property tax. A similar position already has been taken by Representative Buchanan and Representative Blanton (Democrat), Texas.

Waters Menace Northeast Iowa

Some Families Are Moved From Lowland and Sandbags Filled.

Waterloo, facing the possibility of inundation equal to that of 1929, ordered sandbags filled to protect levees along the Cedar River and some families in the lowlands were moved out by boats.

Charles D. Reed, Government meteorologist, predicted a 4-foot rise of the Des Moines River at Des Moines and police were sent to North Des Moines to aid residents there, should the river leave its banks.

Residents of Fraser, in Boone County, used boats today on roadways covered with water and lowlands of Ledges State Park at Boone were covered.

The Federal Diary

By GEORGE D. RILEY

NO dust yesterday but the haze was a bit bothersome, so Swarmi Fedd rubbed his silk handkerchief over the surface of the crystal ball. Still he had to use a magnifying glass, because while Swarmi knows all and sees all, he doesn't want to make mistakes. He saw where:

G. P. O. continues five-day week, in vogue since last July . . . Michael L. Eidsness, jr., Stamp Division, lugging his luggage through the shed at Union Station. Back from official business at Dayton, points west, &c. . . . "Wild Bill" Lyons, Jim Farley's executive assistant, crossing the Avenue with his Texas five-gallon—or is it ten gallon? . . . Representative Deen, Georgia, wondering how his nice new H. R. 4361 to abolish civil service protection to postal workers will fare. Mr. Deen, Swarmi Fedd knows all the answers to your questions . . . C. R. Enlow, who knows his blades of grass, down by Agriculture. More calls for his popular talks on better lawns. Civic and improvement associations want to know more about beautiful greenswards . . . Daniel Griffiths, Commerce, one of the typewriter men, he's back again . . . That fire in Home Economics, Agriculture, yesterday. What're they trying to do, beat the "economists" to it? There is a spark. Ah, short circuit, he reports . . . And don't get funny about having your friends call "Mr. Fish" at the Aquarium. He's there and his name is Dr. Frederic F. Fish, scientific staff, Bureau of Fisheries. He's been Fish since a very tender age . . . A flashlight beams across the crystal. Ah, Swarmi has it. Two young ladies at the jig-saw puzzle party, Kennedy-Warren, use a flashlight to help herd the little crazy quilt pieces into place Miss Anna Hook, Commerce, sitting near the pile of prizes at the contest. That was close, Miss Hook . . . Federal folks gathering next Wednesday at Shoreham to attend Alabama, Mississippi and Oklahoma State Societies party and trying to forget what it costs individually to balance Uncle's budget . . . Which reminds, will you be there, Pat Harrison? . . . And that reminds, Bob Gates, our old friend from Memphis Commercial Appeal days—we knew Bob when—becomes Homer Cummings' press handler. All good Democrats know Bob, pleasantly . . . Foreign and domestic employes starting administrative furlough deductions at rate of two days penalty by the pay day and it started yesterday. And that's no April Fool joke, either . . . Mrs. Barbara Aller, Fisheries, busy sightseeing. Her mother's leaving soon and there's still lots of sights and sites . . . Leather Division, Commerce, says twice as many pocketbooks being exported. That's the way the money goes. But what is life without optimists. Or are they plain goofy? Must still be a lot of Confederate money in circulation. Or are they cigar coupons? . . . And that Hungary is a good market for salt. Yeah, lame ducks offer a good market for salt. And Salt River is a good place to shoot lame ducks. And if we'd had fewer lame ducks no telling how far along we'd have been by now.

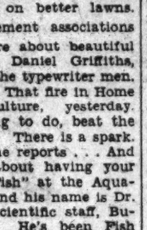
OTIS J. SINGLETON, G. P. O. chief copy editor, often told his fellow workers, "When it comes my turn to retire I want to go without any fuss and feathers; just say 'good-by' and let it go at that." Yesterday he put on his hat and walked out of his proofroom office after 34 years of service. He went home through the rain somewhat heavy of heart; he loved that old red brick building with its noisy presses and the contrasting quietness of the proofroom. It was going to seem odd not to get up and go to work and superintend the editing of the long-winded speeches of law makers which are bound into a book and called the Congressional Record.



Otis J. Singleton.

Arriving at home, 635 E street northeast, Singleton was greeted as usual by his wife. He went to the dining room to read the paper, probably The Washington Post. He couldn't believe his eyes! Where did that new green tapestry chair come from, and the pipe, tobacco and reading lamp? There was a large card:

Dear Sing:

Your friends and associates in the print section who have served under you during the past several years bid you farewell with grateful appreciation of your energy, your fairness in decision, your attention to your work and power of accomplishment; never have we known a more indefatigable worker.

Just then the front door was flung open and about 50 friends from the office filled the house—they had "trailed" him home. Tears—and we know "Sing" is proud of them—tears of joy—creep down. The "office bunch" did their best not to show emotion while they did the honors officially.

Mr. Singleton was appointed to the G. P. O. February 4, 1899, coming here from Hamilton, Mo. He has been chief copy editor 12 years. On one occasion at the last-minute rush of bills at the end of a Congressional session, he and a colleague, who shared with him the confidence of superior officers, remained on duty 28 continuous hours revising bills. He is a member of Federal City Lodge, Odd Fellows, Columbia Typographical Union, No. 101, and is a member of the official board and finance committee of Waugh Methodist Church.

Mrs. Charles J. Harlow, Charles J. Harlow, Capt. R. S. Patton and Capt. Edwin H. Pagenhart.

IF you heard the presentation speech by Capt. R. S. Patton, Coast and Geodetic Survey, yesterday as he presented on behalf of the scores of friends who showered remembrances upon Lieut. Charles J. Harlow, retiring, you would have heard a concise exposition of the real human regard Federal employes can and do have for their fellow men.

These men and women who conceal their light under the renowned bushel come to the surface "once in a lifetime, the time when they take their final leave from official cares and begin to draw upon their great storehouses of recollections in the service of Uncle Sam.

To those out in the States who say the Government worker seems to think he owns his job, who drags to work and sprints away at 4:30 from the job, let us read the facts as exemplified in the person of Charles J. Harlow—he does personify the great cross-section of Federal men and women.

Who is going to return to the office to be sure he turned out the gas in his workshop, now that Mr. Harlow has laid down his engraving tools? It has been a hobby with this man to see that he saved the Government money and at 4:30 he was still double checking his copper plates for flaws. Work has been his hobby. And when you get that combination, you have a valuable man.

Forty-three years as plate printer with the survey!

Christmas Eve, 1867, Mr. Harlow was born in Virginia. He was appointed in the survey on October 2, 1890, after a short service in the Bureau of Engraving and Printing of the Treasury Department. He has the distinction of having served under half of all the men who have headed the Coast and Geodetic Survey during the 117 years of the Survey's existence; Messrs. Mendenhall, Duffield, Pritchett, Tittmann, Jones, and the present director, Capt. R. S. Patton. His only absence was for a short period while lieutenant of Infantry with the District National Guard during the Spanish-American War.

Mr. Harlow rose beautifully to the occasion of farewell. Let us say, however, that there were men in the audience in whose eyes welled tears of affection.

Here's to our dear friend named Harlow,
He's a free man starting tomorrow.
Speaking of fishing and if they do not bite
He can pull out a string and fly his kite.
Horseshoe pitching, if you please,
He can roam around the old coast line,
Memories of printing them he can combine.
To do as he pleases and go there he may
Are the privileges presented him by the Coast Survey.
His big heart will beat with perfect content,
As he knows Uncle Sam will pay his rent.

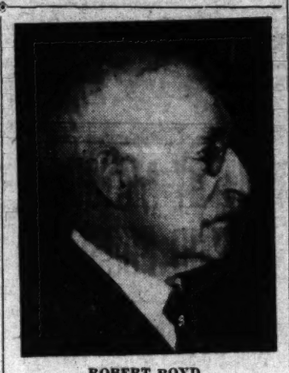
Mrs. Mary Randall, Prohibition; Mrs. Alice Atkinson, Agriculture, and Miss Helen P. Taylor, G. A. O., three Federal Diary jig-saw prize-winners at the Kennedy-Warren Thursday evening.



ROBERT BOYD.

The Government loses the services of Robert Boyd, nautical expert, Coast and Geodetic Survey, with Mr. Boyd's retirement yesterday, after 31 years in the field and in Washington.

Born in Plymouth, England, of American parentage, January 9, 1865, he enlisted on the survey steamer Blake June 13, 1889, and served on that craft until 1907, becoming chief writer. He left the service when the Blake was condemned in 1907, but reentered service in 1918, since which time his work has been continuous.

In Gulf Stream investigations he served under Admiral Pillsbury.

In 1893 the Blake was ordered to Chicago via the St. Lawrence River and canals to become an exhibit at the Columbian Exposition. While at Chicago, Mr. Boyd says, the whaleboat crew of the Blake "cleaned up every boat crew on the Great Lakes and remained undisputed champions!"

November, 1920, Mr. Boyd was assigned to the New Orleans Field Station, Coast and Geodetic Survey, and for four years was in charge there. In June, 1928, he was transferred to the Washington Office, where he has been on duty in the Coast Pilot Section as nautical expert.

Mr. Boyd was presented with a fine pipe as a testimonial of his old shipmates and friends in the office.

"UNCLE CHARLIE," 8 Patterson street northeast, can now bring 'em back alive. He'll have plenty of time to bring 'em back. He'll have plenty of time to bring back a lot of 'em. Didn't his friends at Federal Trade Commission yesterday give "Uncle Charlie" a dandy rod and reel? And didn't "Uncle Charlie" say adieu to all the folks at F. T. C.?

"Uncle Charlie's" surname probably was not known to more than one in ten persons in his 14 years' service at F. T. C. But "Uncle Charlie" was name enough. His last name is Hamilton and he is 71. He has served Public Buildings and Parks, assigned to F. T. C. He belongs to the old school, and was born right here in Washington.

"Uncle Charlie" has met all the Presidents beginning with Grant. He is an institution in himself. He was asked if he knew the "folks" were planning to make him a presentation, a purse of $50 and a book with the names of well-wishers, included.

"Uncle Charlie" allowed he had heard "something about a Virginia reel," but he thought they were talking about music and dancing.

Commissioner W. E. Humphrey did the honors of presentation while a hundred or more listened. It was a proud day in "Uncle Charlie's" life. The commissioner charged him with keeping all the fish out of the Potomac "and if we hear reports that you allow too many fish to gather in the river we will ask you to return this rod and reel."

Was first employed by the Government as laborer, attached to office of the architect of the Capitol from September, 1889, to November 30, 1889. Left Government service, returned June 10, 1918, as laborer, U. S. fuel administration. Was transferred to Public Buildings and Parks in 1919. He played a horn in colored bands in Washington in his younger days.

Those who signed "Uncle Charlie's" memory book are:

THANK YOU, PLEASE.

THIS participant in the jigsaw puzzle tournament wishes to record a very warm vote of thanks to Mr. Swarmi Fedd and his assistants for a delightful evening at the Kennedy-Warren. This participant, it may be said, headed the remote end of winners in the contest, but feels that she labored under something of a handicap owing to somewhat persistent teasing on the part of one of the assistants, who was unduly impressed by our dumbness. It is quite all right, Mr. Assistant. Be it known, we can put puzzles together when not under observation.

A. F. L. HEAD AGREES WITH MISS PERKINS

(Associated Press.)

An agreement in principle between Secretary Frances Perkins and William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, on certain plans for aiding the unemployed was made apparent yesterday at a conference called by President Roosevelt.

Green, who wanted a labor leader named to the post Miss Perkins holds and who recently criticized the Roosevelt Reforestation Plan, issued a statement saying the federation wanted a public works program, the five-day week, unemployment insurance and relief for home mortgages.

A while later, Miss Perkins, dressed in a chic black frock, with accessories to match, presented the 64 labor leaders at the conference with a statement which agreed that a big bond issue, unemployment insurance and shorter working hours were needed.

The meeting was described by the woman Cabinet member as an effort to obtain the views of the men for transmission to the Chief Executive, who is working on a public works program.

It was made known yesterday that President Roosevelt is going to insist that all waterway improvements to be authorized be chosen primarily with a view to the employment of the largest possible number of persons. He intends to submit his proposals to this session of Congress, but it will be some time before they are ready.

LOEW'S FOX

"MEN MUST FIGHT." Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picturization of a novel by Reginald Lawrence and S. K. Lauren, featuring Diana Wynyard, Lewis Stone, Phillips Holmes and May Robson. Directed by Edgar Selwyn. Reviewed Friday evening by W. A. Whitney.

Continuing the good work that helped to make "Cavalcade" one of the great pictures of the cinema to date, Diana Wynyard here portrays a faintly legible carbon copy of Jane Marryot. "Men Must Fight" is not the major thesis in this attempt to manufacture an A. D. 1940 edition of "Lysistrata" with the Stimson peace pact playing a part almost as important as any of the human characters.

Laura Seward, whose lover was killed in an air crack-up in the latter days of the World War, is married to the Secretary of State, who has had ratified a pact to outlaw war. Brought up in ignorance of his real father, Bob has been taught to abhor war, but when that contingency does finally arise he joins the air service.

It is not the story that makes the picture interesting, but rather the portrayals of the several major characters, some thoroughly consistent and others not so fired with the courage of their convictions. Heading the former list is Miss Wynyard, who is completely realistic.

In the other group is, first of all, Lewis Stone, as the Secretary of State, whose excellent rendering of the part far exceeds the vacillation written into it. Phillips Holmes, the son, who finally succumbs to the lures of armed conflict and the air corps, is true to type.

Of the minor characters, May Robson, as the grandmother who has known war and peace and the vicissitudes of both, heads the list, which also includes Mary Carlisle, Ruth Selwyn and Hedda Hopper.

Headlining the stage show, and acting as its master of ceremonies, is Milton Berle, whose entr'actes and low burlesque stint are "embellishments" of an otherwise praiseworthy bill, opening with Bryant, Rains and Young, assisted by Dera Vernon as solo dancer, delightful ballroom and adagio numbers. Ann Greenway, in a series of songs, is next, followed by Owen McGivney, protean artist, who presents "The Hollingsworth Murder Case," in which he plays all four roles.

A theme-with-variations, based on "Home, Sweet Home," is Phil Lampkin's contribution to the program, which also includes "The Plumber and the Lady," with Frank Albertson and Marjorie Beebee, and an issue of the Fox Movietone News.

Former Baron Guilty Of Fake Duel Report

Los Angeles, March 31 (A.P.).—William von Brincken, former German baron, was convicted by a jury in Municipal Court today of making a false report to police regarding an asserted pistol battle with robbers January 28. The jury deliberated 35 minutes. A motion for a new trial was entered.

Witnesses summoned by the prosecution testified that a bullet, which Von Brincken had reported was fired through his windshield during the fight, in reality had been discharged from the defendant's own firearm.

"GABRIEL OVER THE WHITE HOUSE." Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picturization of the anonymous novel, featuring Walter Huston, Karen Morley and Franchot Tone with Arthur Byron, Dickie Moore, David Landau, C. Henry Gordon and Henry Kolker. Directed by Gregory La Cava. Reviewed from preview showing.

By NELSON B. BELL.

Had "Gabriel Over the White House" been released a month ago, instead of yesterday, it would by now be looked upon as an inspired example of prophetic wisdom and accuracy. In view of the whirlwind legislative campaign President Roosevelt has waged, however, and the numerous advocated reforms in executive conduct he has so vigorously put into effect, a considerable part of its content seems to be merely a dramatic utilization of events that have already happened. The result is slightly anticlimactic.

Which is to say that as a piece of governmental propaganda, this presumably fictional story loses dramatically in direct proportion to the degree in which its projected solutions of national difficulties already have become operative. If President Jud Hammond's altered attitude toward the press, his humanization and the striking analogy between his "Construction Army" and the administration's proposed reforestation project, as a means of unemployment relief, have been somewhat vitiated by fact, there are still his heroic handling of the crime situation, the international debt problem and other pressing issues to offset this unfortunate result of the picture's belated release.

This will be clearer, perhaps, if it is made known at once that "Gabriel Over the White House" is the history of a cheap politician transformed into a far-sighted and humanitarian President, who becomes a national benefactor and world savior by the sobering experience of a close approach to death in an automobile accident. The introductory glimpses of President Hammond are less suggestive of a country's Chief Executive than of a garish city's playboy mayor. Thereafter, he becomes a glorified composite of all the Nation's great, from Washington to the second Roosevelt.

This is subject-matter, of course, which at the moment is instinct with drama. Its melodrama is enhanced by realistic treatment of the gangster problem, the unemployed hunger marchers and a forceful presentation of the United States' stand on war debts. Much of it already has come true; more of it may. That is why "Gabriel Over the White House" is engrossing beyond the merits of its sheer dramatic fiber.

Walter Huston imbues the character of Hammond with many conflicting qualities. Some of them are a trifle abstruse. All of them, notwithstanding, are presented with a grim and unsoftened ruggedness that commands admiration and increases Huston's stature as an actor of direct and forceful method. Karen Morley, as an enigmatic amanuensis, and Franchot Tone, as the President's secretary, lead an able cast in which Arthur Byron, C. Henry Gordon, David Landau and little Dickie Moore are conspicuous.

A comedy, "Taxi Barons," the Metrotone News and "Flip's Lunchroom," a cartoon comedy, supplement a feature that will arouse wide interest and heated discussion.

EARLE

"GIRL MISSING." Warner Brothers picturization of a story by Carl Erickson and Don Mullaly, featuring Mary Brian, Ben Lyon, Glenda Farrell, Peggy Shannon, Lyle Talbot and Guy Kibbee. Directed by Robert Florey. Reviewed Friday afternoon.

A run-of-the-mill murder mystery that might have been imparted a quality of genuineness that it now almost wholly lacks, is here principally defrauded by the utter banality of its dialogue and an almost insuperable amount of very hammy acting. The most indefatigable offender in the latter regard, it is lamentably set down, is the young woman who made so splendid an impression in "Life Begins" and then slumped to such abysmal depths of amateurishness in "The Mystery of the Wax Museum." It now appears that "Wax Museum" exemplified her habitual level of histrionic accomplishment, and that "Life Begins" was a mere flash in the pan. Miss Glenda Farrell, it seems, just won't do.

The hurried and thoughtless reading of her lines has somehow communicated itself also to Mary Brian, her shadow throughout the action of the picture, to the considerable disadvantage of this usually charming young actress. Peggy Shannon, as the third of the dominant trio in the tale of gold diggers' assaults upon the good nature and fortune of a personable young man, indifferently impersonated by Ben Lyon, is the only one who in some degree upholds an established reputation for intelligent and effective portrayal.

Helen Ware and Ferdinand Gottschalk lend the picture some of the fruits of long and honorable stage experience, but even they suffer the penalties of a vast amount of puerile dialogue and bad writing. "Girl Missing" is the sort of story that should have had a Ben Hecht, a Wilson Mizner, a William Slavens McNutt or a Ralph Spence turned loose on it.

The stage portion of the entertainment is something else again. Morton Downey, generous with his selections and never in better voice, is headliner of the vaudeville bill in fact as well as name. Varying his program with ballads, rousing march songs, Irish come-all-yes and a medley of "moon" songs, Mr. Downey, accompanied by the orchestra instead of a stage pianist, and aided by the ubiquitous microphone, scored perhaps as great a personal triumph as he has ever enjoyed on a Washington stage. A glorious voice and a genial and ingratiating personality, Mr. Downey's.

The Rimacs, with their Cuban Rhumba Band and specialty dancers, stopped the show almost before it had started and were followed by Pettet and Douglas, "Two Gobs on Leave," one a midget as clever as his full-grown partner in both patter and dance. Georges Campo and a feminine assistant present an astonishing combination of acrobatics and dancing.

A "Looney Tunes" cartoon comedy, "Boako, the Speed King;" Mr. McNamee's interpretation of current events and Freddie Clark's orchestral interludes complete the program.

METROPOLITAN

"THE SIGN OF THE CROSS." Paramount picturization of the Wilson Barrett play, produced and directed by Cecil B. DeMille, with music by Rudolph Kopp, featuring Fredric March, Claudette Colbert, Elissa Landi and Charles Laughton, with Ian Keith, Harry Beresford, Arthur Hohl, Tommy Conlon, Vivian Tobin and a cast of thousands.

While the overpowering spectacle of pagan barbarity that characterizes the Circus Maximus scenes, and the persecutions heaped upon the little band of Christians steadfastly maintaining their faith in the face of Nero's imperial power in Rome at the dawn of the Christian era, have, perhaps been stressed beyond the other distinguishing qualities of "The Sign of the Cross," it should not be lost sight of that, stripped of these flamboyant embellishments, it is still Wilson Barrett's appealing drama of fortitude and a strange love that constitutes the groundwork of this mammoth and amazingly colorful picture.

There could not be imagined, to be sure, anything more gruesomely realistic than the episodes pictured during the arena sequences of this latest of the De Mille achievements. On the other hand, nothing more reverent, more touching or more inspiring could be conceived than those movements of the story that most intimately concern those who risk their lives in spreading the gospel of the Nazarene. For sheer romance, splendor and thrill nothing has excelled the royal intrigue by which the Empress Poppaea hoped to hold the love of the young Prefect of Rome, in love with the Christian girl.

All of these diverse ramifications of the far-flung plot are welded into a homogeneous and impressive whole by the splendid individual and collective performances of a cast and ensemble of thousands, led by Fredric March, Claudette Colbert, Elissa Landi, Charles Laughton, Ian Keith, Tommy Conlon, Harry Beresford, Arthur Hohl, Ferdinand Gottschalk, Nat Pendleton, Vivian Tobin and Joyzelle Joyner.

It is announced that this second week will terminate the popular-priced engagement of "The Sign of the Cross," at the Metropolitan. It is a film of such magnitude and magnificence as to prompt the suggestion that it be not missed. N. B. B.

RKO-KEITH'S

"KING KONG." RKO-Radio picturization of a story by the late Edgar Wallace, conceived and directed by Merian C. Cooper and Ernest B. Schoedsack, featuring Fay Wray, Robert Armstrong and Bruce Cabot.

Still defending the cinema's right to be imaginative, adventurous and fantastic, "King Kong" enters its second week at RKO-Keith's with a fine record of attendance, chills-and-fever and gooseflesh to its credit.

Utterly unbelievable, mystifying in its photographic effects and realistic rehabilitation of the prehistoric monsters that crawled out of the slime of millions of years ago, and by no means devoid of an eerie fascination for those who retain anything of their juvenile enthusiasm for fantasy, this weird tale of a 50-foot gorilla's surrender to the evil consequences of looking too long upon blonde feminine beauty is unique among modern films. How it was ever made is a matter of less immediate importance than the fact that it was made and manages to make the impossible seem excitingly and ominously real.

When Kong gets his mad up and mixes it with the tyrannosaurus, with that huge reptile, half snake and half lizard, that attacks him later, and with that pair of flying barn doors known as the pterodactyl, there is enough commotion in the jungle to keep any normal person awake and fidgety for weeks.

Fay Wray is the picture's entire motivation, from the moment the intrepid producer of thrill pictures decides she will do for his Great Adventure until she is rescued from the top of the Empire State Building after Kong has been knocked off by a bigger fleet of army planes than some of us suspected Uncle Sam of owning. Robert Armstrong, with a mess of kindergarten lines; Bruce Cabot, bearding the members of Gargantua's zoo in their several dens, and numerous others contribute breathlessly to "King Kong's" giant hoax, but, after all, it is old Kong himself that makes the picture.

DEPARTMENTS MAP FORESTRY AID PLANS

Roosevelt Hopes That First Recruits Will Begin Work Within Three Weeks.

(Associated Press.)

Four Government departments threw their administrative agencies into high gear yesterday to carry out President Roosevelt's program for putting $250,000 men to work on forest projects.

Soon after the President signed the bill the War, Interior, Agriculture and Labor Departments arranged for the selection of a coordinator who will centralize control of the program.

The President is hopeful that the first recruits will be put to work in two or three weeks and that the whole 250,000 will be on duty by midsummer.

The first step, recruiting the workers from among the unemployed of the cities, will be begun by the Labor Department in another week. Its telephones jingled throughout the day with requests for information on places to apply for jobs.

It will set up registration offices in cities. First, however, regulations will be drawn covering the work to be done, the classes of men who will be enrolled and other elements of the program. The men probably will be paid $30 a month and subsistence.

Army officers meanwhile completed tentative plans for assembling the men. The War Department will have the responsibility of examining all of those chosen, to determine their physical fitness, of conditioning them and transporting them to the work camps, of which there will be 1,000 or more with from 100 to 200 men in each.

The Forest Service has mapped out thousands of work projects in the national forests but hopes to extend the program on a cooperative basis to include State and privately owned forest lands adjacent to national properties.

Secretary Wallace telegraphed all governors, inviting them to send their State foresters or other representatives for a conference here next Thursday, when possibilities of the cooperative program will be analyzed.

Medalie Confers With Cummings

Mitchell and Harriman Bank Prosecutions Are Gone Over.

(Associated Press.)

The New York banking situation came under the scrutiny of Attorney General Cummings again yesterday at a conference with George Z. Medalie, district attorney of New York.

Particularly, the cases of Charles E. Mitchell, former chairman of the National City Bank of New York, and Joseph W. Harriman, former president of the Harriman National Bank & Trust Co., were inquired into, with the district attorney obtaining instructions concerning the prosecution of both men.

Mitchell was indicted on charges of income tax evasions, and Harriman was arrested after the institutions he headed failed to reopen. Cummings declined to state what action had been decided upon in the Harriman case, but said: "We are interested not only in criminal prosecutions, but also in the depositors."

Jones Says Bank To Get $500,000

R. F. C. to Purchase Stock in Richmond House if Home Folks Do.

(Associated Press.)

Jesse Jones, of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation board, gave assurance last night that the corporation would subscribe to $500,000 of the preferred stock of the successor to the American Bank & Trust Co., of Richmond, Va., if a like amount is raised locally.

Referring to word that $600,000 had been subscribed in Richmond toward reorganizing the bank, Jones said:

"If they have gotten that amount, there is no doubt about our subscribing a half million."

The amount old depositors would receive under the reorganization, Jones said, would not be determined until completion of the examination.

Unification of Banking Under Reserve Is Urged

(Associated Press.)

Unification of all commercial banking under the Federal Reserve system was proposed yesterday to the Chamber of Commerce of the United States by a committee of its members.

At the same time the committee advocated that the chamber study anew, in the light of recent disclosures, its previous commitment in favor of banks maintaining their security affiliates, together with its stand in regard to banks continuing to deal in investment securities. Extension of branch banking under "careful regulation" by Federal and State governments also was indorsed.

Foreclosure Increase Bared by Loan Check

(Associated Press.)

The Federal Home Loan Bank Board disclosed yesterday that real estate foreclosure proceedings for 1932 were 274.9 per cent higher than in 1926. The statement came at the end of a real estate survey covering from 1926 to the end of February, 1933.

The board said its reports were based on 414 selected communities in 48 States and the District of Columbia, representing 38.2 per cent of the total population.

673,586 Sign Petition Hitting Soviet Relations

A vigorous protest against any step looking toward recognition of Soviet Russia was presented to President Roosevelt yesterday by Senators David I. Walsh and Marcus A. Coolidge, of Massachusetts.

Signed by 673,586 citizens of the Bay State, Senator Walsh said the petition was one of the longest ever presented at the White House.

Rabbi Wise and Deutsch Visit State Department

(Associated Press.)

For the second time in two days Rabbi Stephen S. Wise and Bernard S. Deutsch, of the American Jewish Congress, visited the State Department yesterday in behalf of Jews in Germany against whom the Hitler government has launched a boycott.

Wise and Deutsch were received by Undersecretary Phillips and after a few minutes left without disclosing the result of their visit. They called on Phillips late Thursday to ask that the United States use its good offices to stop the boycott. This the State Department is understood to be doing in a quiet way.

IMPORTANT CANCER DISCOVERY IS BARED

U. S. Research Finds Germ May Cause at Least One Type of Plague.

(Associated Press.)

A startling discovery covering cancer, giving evidence that at least one type of this dreaded disease is caused by infection with some sort of germ or microorganism, was announced yesterday by the United States Public Health Service.

The discovery, which apparently upsets existing theories about the cause of cancer, and may open up entirely new avenues in the search for a cure, was made by Drs. T. J. Glover and J. L. Engle, who have been working as independent investigators in the laboratories and under the supervision of the Public Health Service's National Institute of Health.

It may mean, service officials said, that cancer can be contracted like some infectious diseases. They reported cancer now is the second leading cause of death in the United States.

Officials of the Public Health Service said they believe Glover and Engle have found one cause of cancer, but, they added, they have not found a cure. Scientists in the past have tried vainly to find the cause of cancers, which seemed to appear spontaneously. It was known that some cancers resulted from irritations, but the cause of most of them has remained a mystery.

Lottery Defendants' Home Standing Asked

(Associated Press.)

The Department of Justice yesterday asked Federal officials in New Mexico to pass upon the applications of Pete Chavez and Jack Cleary, who were sentenced to Federal prison in connection with the Saratoga sweepstakes lottery case.

Petitions for executive clemency were filed by the two men, and as is customary in such cases, these were sent to the district attorney, who will obtain the attitude of the presiding judge at the trial and others who were connected officially with conviction of the men.

Gen. Foulois Asks Halt In Battleship Building

(Associated Press.)

Cessation of battleship building until "we can overhaul our system of national defense" was recommended to the House Military Committee yesterday by Maj. Gen. Benjamin D. Foulois, chief of the Army Air Corps.

PRESIDENT ORDERS CHILD HEALTH DAY

Proclamation Fixes May 1 for Youth Protection Observance.

(Associated Press.)

President Roosevelt yesterday issued a proclamation calling upon the Nation to set aside May Day for "earnest consideration" of the Nation's youth in observing child health day.

The proclamation said:

"Whereas the Congress by joint resolution has authorized and requested the President of the United States of America to proclaim annually that May Day is child health day; and

"Whereas the health and welfare of our children concern not only their parents, but also the Nation at large; and

"Whereas the observance of such a day gives us opportunity to unite in furthering the health and protection of our children;

"Now, therefore, I, Franklin D. Roosevelt, President of the United States of Amreica, do hereby designate May 1 of this year as Child Health Day, and call upon all agencies, public and private, and all individuals having the interest of children at heart, to set aside that day for earnest consideration of the needs of the children in their communities and in their homes, and to inaugurate constructive activities to protect and promote the health and physical vigor of the youth of our Nation.

"In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

"Done at the City of Washington, this 31st day of March, in the year of our Lord 1933 and of the independence of the United States of America the 157th.

"FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT."

Navy Yards Await Ruling by McCarl

Civilian Employes to Work on Five-Day Basis Until Decision.

(Associated Press.)

The Navy yesterday instructed all navy yards and stations to continue civilian employes on the present-five-day week basis until the office of the Comptroller General rules on whether the basis can be continued under the 15 per cent pay reduction. The Saturday half-day in yards and stations for civilians was abolished last year to meet the then 8 1-3 per cent furlough pay cut.

By eliminating the half day—computed by naval experts to be an uneconomical working period for the Navy—slightly more than the 8 1-3 per cent cut was made in civilian pay. The Comptroller General's office has been asked whether the difference between the half-day elimination and the full 15 per cent can be taken from pay envelopes and the five-day week continued in yards and stations.

The Navy has 44,876 civilian employes outside the department in the Capital.

Rabbit's Foot No Theft Preventive.

Seattle, March 31 (A.P.).—E. C. Preshey had a rabbit's foot. He also had a red and white plaid jacket. When he hung the jacket up he put the rabbit's foot in a pocket for luck. Yesterday some one took the jacket, the charm and maybe the good luck, too.

Interpreting the Mode

By DARE

ONE by one we put our little hats away. One by one—and if we actually do put them away, sooner or later the cycle turns and out they can come again, to be worn as the latest style—with a tuck or a tug here or there.

That's all very nice for the style industry—upon which depends, perhaps, your very own job—now, does it? Since it is the third largest industry in the whole wide world—think of it—and employs mostly women, it is quite possible that your job does depend on it. Well, style changes, especially in hats—hats that go blithely out of style, so thoroughly out of style that one wouldn't be seen dead (or in a photograph) in one—came so rapidly that one as an individual and not as a big, strong, important part of a big industry, is a bit disconcerted; now, isn't one?

Have you a little Eugenie hat in your home? I'll bet you have several! Also some of those nunlike, off-the-forehead and down-in-the-back shapes that we all wore a couple of years ago.

Because I hereby and now state emphatically that you can make these hats over into up-to-date ones! If you want to, and if you have to.

New hats you must have. Cheap hats are a waste of time, taste and attractiveness—very expensive in the long run. And an expensive hat seemingly goes out of style with bewildering abruptness. What to do then? Get one new hat, an expensive one—and make over all your old ones into new hats. Wouldn't a night course in millinery, even, pay you?

This whole effusion came just from my making all those hats of my own over the other day. It was astonishing what I could do—and a lot of them didn't get done at all, of course—the disconsolate pieces attest. But those that did become new hats under my fingers were such successes that I just had to make you a leaflet telling you how to make new hats from old. You can, any one can—and this new leaflet tells you how to go about it. A stamped, self-addressed envelope sent to the Dare Department of The Post will probably mean ten new hats in your wardrobe—all made by your own clever fingers. Just send for it and see—the hats are hopeless, anyhow—aren't they? So why not try and see if you can reclaim them?

Au revoir!

BEER AND POLITICS.

New York's row over regulation of the beer traffic is typical of what may be expected in most of the States. It may seem strange to see such a vehement controversy over the control of a beverage which Congress has pronounced wholesome and non-intoxicating. But the New York legislature assumes that the return of beer is only the first step toward the complete restoration of liquor control to the States. An attempt is being made to set up an organization that will be suitable to regulate the flow of all intoxicants when the eighteenth amendment has been repealed. Much the same procedure is being followed in other States. The measures adopted to regulate the flow of beer will foreshadow what may be expected after repeal.

Gov. Lehman drafted a bill designed to take control of the liquor traffic out of politics. He would give complete authority in this field to a State board composed of a chairman selected by the governor and four other members to be chosen by the governor from lists of names suggested by the State bar association, the State federation of labor, the State medical society and the State chamber of commerce. By this method, Gov. Lehman believes, a permanent separation of liquor control from politics could be effected.

But the legislature is more thirsty for the political spoils that flow from beer than for the beer itself. The senate at Albany rejected the governor's demand for a non-political board. It passed his bill after eliminating the provision that would give four civic organizations a voice in naming board members. New York's Senate is Democratic. It favors control of beer from Albany because the State government is in the hands of Democrats. But it insists that the way should be left open for the application of political pressure upon the control board.

The assembly, on the other hand, is Republican. It has locked up Gov. Lehman's bill in a pigeonhole and brought forth a measure of its own. Since the Republicans could not hope to control the State liquor board, they demand a system of county boards, with the provision that recommendations from such agencies on the granting of licenses would be mandatory upon the State board. This would give the Republican politicians control over the liquor traffic in counties where they are in power and Democratic politicians control where they dominate.

Between the demands of the two factions the governor's appeal for non-political control over liquor is crushed. New York is giving the country a lamentable reexhibition of the political greed and corruption that led to the enactment of national anti-liquor laws. Every such performance strengthens the dry movement to defeat repeal. The alliance between beer and politics may yet keep the eighteenth amendment in the Constitution.

CONFIDENCE RESTORED.

The great surge of confidence which swept the country when banking operations were resumed three weeks ago was ample evidence that America is eager, to the last man, to push forward with the herculean labor of recovery. Never before during the four trying years of deflation did the Nation demonstrate more convincingly the popular will to prosper as of old. In the hour of crisis the indomitable spirit of the people implemented official action in Washington with every manifestation of unequivocal support.

It is perhaps only natural that a slight reaction should follow the first burst of resumption confidence. The considerable volume of bank credit which was frozen during the holiday could not narrow the streams of commerce for several weeks, at least. Now, as this reaction begins to reflect itself in lower indices of production and consumption, the suggestion is heard anew that the underlying problem of Federal finances remains a disturbing factor.

It is true that last week all of the reliable graphs of general business activity, as distinguished from the purely financial charts, entered new low ground for the depression. But this recession through the trough of last July is not necessarily connected directly with the continued unstable state of the Government's budget. It well may flow from the bank holiday, from uncertainty engendered by the confused discussion in high places of inflationary projects, or from the foggy atmosphere over Congress as it struggles with agricultural policies and the relief program.

Any one of these factors might serve to throttle experimental business confidence. Combined in their potential restraining power they probably explain today's business index—and that without alarming in the slightest degree those whose recent expressions of confidence electrified the country.

THE PRESIDENT'S FUNCTION.

Prof. Adolph A. Berle, jr., one of President Roosevelt's academic advisers, and Secretary of Agriculture Wallace are in sharp disagreement as to how the Chief Executive works. According to the professor, Mr. Roosevelt "is not the kind of man who follows advice." Prof. Berle resented a statement to the effect that the President chooses brilliant advisers and then follows their counsel, and attempted to convince the World Affairs Institute that the ideas which are pouring forth from the White House are the President's own brain children.

Secretary Wallace was more frank in his recent address over the radio. In discussing the origin of President Roosevelt's farm relief bill he said: "The farm leaders kept their pledge to stay in session until they could agree upon a plan to affect this year's crops; we have drafted a bill to implement their plan; the President has sent it to the Capitol, and now the question of farm relief is in the broad lap of Congress." Apparently President Roosevelt gave the farm relief bill his blessing only because the organized farm leaders had agreed upon it.

The President must be amused by the professorial theory that he is the author of everything that comes from the White House. It was Mr. Roosevelt himself who coined the phrase "brain trust" during the campaign to designate his academic advisers. Since he became President this group has taken on the more dignified cognomen "academic cabinet." But the President has never tried to make a secret of his reliance on college professors and men from all other walks in life for counsel in carrying the greatest responsibility in the world.

No man who takes over the duties of Chief Executive is an expert in all the problems that demand his attention. The responsibility of being President consists of choosing between the numerous ideas and plans that are offered by experts in the various fields. Authorship of an idea becomes an insignificant thing to a man in such a high position of trust.

All the collective wisdom of the Nation is at the disposal of President Roosevelt. It is to his credit that he is making extensive use of it. The test of a President comes in his choice of advisers, in his ability to assimilate plans and ideas from all sources, and in his strength to say "No" when weak and dangerous expedients are urged upon him by powerful groups. Probably the least of the President's troubles are figuring out solutions that are original with himself. The distorted conception of the President as the source of all wisdom that proceeds from the White House may serve for the college class room, but people who have seen the Government in operation will have none of it.

MEXICO'S SHIP LOAN.

Following the return of a special commission from Mexico, which was unable to reach an agreement with Spain regarding the purchase of warships from that country, the Spanish Cortes voted an extension of 70,000,000 pesetas credit to Mexico. This credit, which provides the Mexican Republic with approximately $5,740,000, will be used to buy warships from Spanish shipyards. The action by Spain is reported to result not only from a desire to help its shipbuilding industry, but also as a step toward establishing a closer bond with Latin America. Though some activity was needed to help the shipyards during this time of crisis, the loan probably would not have been extended to any but a Spanish American country.

The Spanish press was quick to inquire how the loan would be repaid, recalling that Mexico has defaulted even interest payment on virtually all her foreign obligations, while many millions of pesetas in litigation is still pending before the Spanish Mexican claims commission. The plan for repayment, according to the government's project, is to be in small annuities beginning with next year.

The press in Mexico has given high praise to the arrangement which has made possible the republic's purchase of a dozen small warships. Some newspapers, however, have questioned its soundness from a business point of view. The Catholic organ El Debate finds the move ideal as promoting a rapprochement between the two countries. Credit is given to the work of the Spanish Ambassador, Senor Julio Alvarez de Vayo, in establishing friendly relations and helping to draw the two countries together.

SHACKLES FOR LABOR.

Some curious theories in support of fantastic remedies for hard times are evolved these days on Capitol Hill. A few months ago when Senator Black came forth with a grandiose scheme to limit the hours of labor in American industry it was laid aside as an unwarranted encroachment upon the freedom of contract. But a new spirit is now abroad on Capitol Hill. Senators have found a new way of circumventing the Constitution. Dressed in a shining new theory manufactured out of the interstate commerce clause, the Black bill is now laid before the Senate with the overwhelming approval of the judiciary committee.

It is amusing to read Senator Black's efforts to cover his nostrum with constitutional sanction. He begins with the fact that Congress is given the right to regulate interstate commerce. "The power to regulate," he says, "carries with it the right to prescribe rules that will save commerce from self-destruction and protect all the people from practices of some of the people engaged in interstate commerce, that destroy commerce itself." From this start he proceeds to develop the tenuous theory that "interstate commerce can not live unless this unemployment ceases."

Senator Black thus tries to build up a plausible argument for the increase of purchasing power. Yet he stops short of proposing that the Government should force all industries engaged in interstate commerce to increase their pay rolls. He merely proposes to exclude from interstate commerce all goods produced by employes working more than 30 hours per week. But that would not cure unemployment. It would only smear it around among a greater number of individuals. Why doesn't the senator take full advantage of his elastic theory and demand that the Government fix wages at double their present volume and compel all industries to rehire the men who are now jobless? If Congress has the power ascribed to it by the judiciary committee, why should it stop at halfway measures?

It must be plain to any one who has read the Constitution that it gives Congress no power to regulate hours of labor.

The Black bill has no relation to the regulation of interstate commerce. One pair of shoes, for example, may be made by men working 30 hours per week and another by men working 45 hours per week. It is the rankest nonsense to say that these two pairs of shoes have a different status in interstate commerce because of the different labor conditions under which they were produced. The Supreme Court has consistently refused to let Congress regulate labor conditions under the pretense that its intention was to do something else.

Shorter hours for labor when unemployment is widespread are a worthy objective, but there is no reason why labor should be restricted by law to hours that mean starvation wages. Furthermore, the power to reduce hours of labor is the power to lengthen them—to enslave labor. The Constitution carefully guards against the exercise of such powers by Congress. When the judiciary committee attempts to fritter away those guarantees under a fictitious interpretation of the Constitution it invites a killing jolt from the judicial power.

President Gabriel Terra, dictator of Uruguay, has moved his headquarters from the executive palace to the barracks of the Montevideo fire department. The new title will be "Gabriel Over the Fire House."

It is rumored in circles close to the President that beer is denied to the Navy on the ground that the displacement of war craft is limited by the London naval treaty.

Another theory of those forest jobs is that President Roosevelt just wanted to help Government workers to feel thankful after that 15 per cent cut.

DEFLATE GOVERNMENT

By FINLEY C. HENDRICKSON, in the Kiwanis Magazine.

All the conclusions on taxation matter may be reduced to two words, deflate government.

This should be speedily done for two reasons. First. The inflation of government discredits that "republican form of government" to which we owe our security and progress. Our plan of government as originally conceived, fashioned and ratified by the American electorate, was the least complex form of government ever conceived by the mind of man, and confirmed the general view that all progress is from the complex to the simple. Now we have departed so far from that original plan that we have one of the most complex governments upon earth. It is that complexity, not the original plan, which makes the tax burden so heavy. Therefore, even if our tax burdens were not heavy, having regard to the purity of our political institutions, I would still say, deflate government and rescue American institutions from radical reaction.

John Fiske, the historian, wrote "The Critical Period of American History." That period covered the experiment of our country under the articles of confederation. The Federal branch, under those articles, had no power to tax, only the power to make requisitions on the States for men and money, which requisitions were not and often could not be fulfilled. The States taxed but lightly if at all. Then there was not enough government.

Now we have swung to the opposite extreme and into another critical period when we have too much taxation and too much government. Both of these extremes, like extremes generally, are dangerous.

Second. The moment we approach the subject of taxation we are met with the doctrine that the American people are not taxed as heavily as the people in some other nations. This implies, if it implies anything, that those nations which lay the heaviest taxes are the examples for us to follow and still heavier taxes await the American people. Against that doctrine we set our faces like flint. If there are other nations which can through force, or long custom, or in any other way press down upon their people a heavier tax burden than we now bear we would use them as a warning, not as an example.

What are the causes which have brought us to this situation? War, so often mentioned, can not be made responsible for the State, county and municipal tax load. The principal trouble has been in the legislative branch of government yielding to blocs, lobbies, factions and groups, through what is called direct-action influence in governmental affairs—cutting across lots, as it were, instead of the traveled procedure provided for in orderly society. The legislative branch of government has fallen a victim to these direct action groups, but a certain responsibility must attach to the executive and judicial branches also. The executive had to ratify the radical departures and the judicial branch declared them legal.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

GOOD NATURE.

So long as we can laugh we live!
So long as we can take our cares
And all our various drab affairs
And just a touch of humor give
To them and disappointments pain
We'll find the road to peace again.

So long as we can hum a song
And make of trouble's shock a jest,
Howe'er beset, howe'er distressed,
We can courageous be and strong.
We'll inch our burdens up the way
And come again to peace some day.

'Tis inward fear that wears us out,
'Tis worry saps the strength of men.
Who laughs will dare to fight again
Though danger hedges him about.
Who bears his burdens with a grin

By ROBERT QUILLEN

MY dear Louise: Frequently I hear you express scorn of the sissy, and I quite agree with your conviction that the species is a total loss—both male and female.

But the fact that a thief has red hair doesn't indicate that all red-heads are thieves, and that kind of logic will cost you the friendship of everybody worthwhile if you use it in judging character.

The sissy isn't gobd. He is merely goody-good. His character is passive, like that of a tree. He has, as Mark Twain expressed it, no more sex than a tapeworm. He escapes the doing of evil because he hasn't enough fire in him to attract a temptation. And it is not a virtue to have no appetite.

But don't make yourself ridiculous by scorning the good. They are the pick of humanity.

Which develops the greater strength—one who drifts down stream on a raft or one who rows up stream in a boat?

The moral strength that makes character is developed by fighting—not by drifting.

The easy way is to follow every whim and surrender to every appetite—to go with the crowd and accept the guidance of chance and desire.

But the easy way doesn't develop strength. It takes hard work and self-denial to develop an athlete, and precisely the same system is required to build manhood and womanhood.

Every normal individual must fight and conquer himself to achieve goodness, and the greater his vitality and passion and power, the more he must struggle to overcome temptation.

Believe me, my dear, a manly man who comes through the struggle unblemished has a will of steel and the heart of a lion.

This modern theory that natural impulses shouldn't be repressed is silly and vile. Lust is no more "natural" than the impulse to steal or kill. Every quality that makes our race decent is a result of conquering natural impulses.

One who conquers is no sissy. He may avoid things the sissy avoids, but his goodness is a badge of honor worn only by those who have licked the world, the flesh and the devil. Love, DAD.

POLITICAL COMMENT

Boston Transcript.

The cheerfulness with which the National House of Representatives is surrendering its functions to the Senate is one of the phenomena of an abnormal congressional situation. Both houses have yielded to the President in an emergency that called for instant action, but the problem of farm relief is not quite of that immediate type. Its consideration should not lag, nevertheless the farm program the President has sponsored would establish a wholly new principle in government, institute a grave experiment, the end of which can not be foreseen. For the House to allow only four hours of debate on such a measure and to preclude all amendments is to confess the inability of the popular body to do its own thinking. It is the easy way out for the House, but that body does not compliment itself in leaving the heavy work to the Senate.

Publicity for Securities.

New York Herald Tribune.

Responsible persons everywhere—and nowhere, we dare say, more than in the financial community—will welcome President Roosevelt's proposals for full publicity in respect to new security offerings.

The Robinson bill will doubtless prove irksome in some of its provisions and annoying in others, but certainly no one can seriously argue with its underlying principle, namely, that the seller, as well as the buyer, of securities must be meticulously cautious in all of his operations. This theory is the theory that pervades the blue-sky laws now in force in 43 of the 48 States of the Union and which finds reflection in numerous other directions.

President Roosevelt's measure calling for Federal supervision of investment securities was introduced in the Senate yesterday by Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, the State which has just given holders of $14,600,000 of its highway bonds the choice of accepting 3 per cent bonds or receiving no interest whatever. The Beer Experiment.

Whatever may be our opinion on the legalizing of beer before the repeal of the eighteenth amendment, we face an accomplished fact. As a result of congressional action the Nation now begins an experiment of immense importance.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Principal Morris, of Hyattsville, Wonders Why Government Does Not Raise Revenue From Gambling and Drugs.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: In the March 30 issue of your paper I read your editorial condemning Japan for her apparent attitude toward the traffic in narcotics, especially in opium.

Will you please explain to me (and I have no doubt many others would like an explanation) wherein lies the difference between licensing persons to sell liquor and licensing persons to sell narcotics? These are both universally acknowledged to be evils; likewise, traffic in gambling.

As our Government is about to drift again into the liquor business in order to raise funds, why should it not also engage in the business of narcotics and gambling?

I have no doubt that the Treasury would benefit to the extent of two to three hundred millions additional funds.

All civilized nations consider traffic in liquor, gambling and narcotics as evils; otherwise, these lines of business would not be hedged in by stringent laws. K. J. MORRIS.

New Haven Correspondent Suggests Consideration of Plan to Monetize Silver.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: In you editorial, "Gold Enough for All," as reprinted in a local paper, you say: "An examination of the facts regarding the gold supply should convince the advocates of fiat money and of remonetization of silver that they have built their case on a supposition that is not true. It is a matter of record that gold is accumulating at a rate that must, in the long run, have a stimulating effect upon commodity prices, of world confidence, &c."

The various silver bills that have been introduced by Congressmen are little different from previous measures which proved to be economic errors. It does not necessarily follow, however, that the present system of gold and bank notes is the last word in finance, or that there is no method by which silver can take its place alongside of gold as a monetary metal.

Some 25 years ago a book entitled "Currency and Coin" was published, which contained a plan to do the latter. The author made it perfectly plain in his preface, that he believed in "a secured and protected gold standard." The book seemed to carry proof not only that his proposal would protect the present gold standard, but that it would furnish a dollar less variable as compared with commodities than gold alone can do. If successful, it would undoubtedly materially increase the value of silver, but not necessarily put it on a par with gold. That, indeed, was one of the strong points in favor of the success of the plan. It contemplated no attempt whatever to affect or control the price of silver bullion in the open market. Silver and gold bullion would fluctuate in value with respect to each other, and such fluctuations would be influenced by the production of the two metals, and the demand for the same.

Should some Congressman take the trouble to look up the book referred to, in the Congressional Library, he would find something of interest at this time. A new coinage system would be a fit accomplishment to a new banking system.

R. B. PULLAN.
New Haven, Conn.

Hopes President Roosevelt Will Bring About Increased Use of Silver for Coins.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The world depression began when England and France started dumping India's and Indo-China's silver. These nations also turned cold shoulders to the further use of silver for small change, or what is known as subsidiary coinage. Silver dropped from 64 cents an ounce to below 25. All farm commodities followed silver downward. The depression has now been raging for several years, but there seems to be no movement to bring about as speedily as possible an international agreement for the free coinage of silver at a suitable ratio with gold.

The gold standard should not be disturbed, but, buttressed with silver, it might be possible for many nations to return to the gold standard. Economists talk childishly of the use of other metals. Any departure from the age-old money metals, gold and silver, will not in the slightest raise the purchasing power of the great masses of people in such countries as India, China, Mexico, Central and South America, for their savings are in these metals and they have not the wherewithal to purchase or procure new standards of money.

Being an international figure, President Hoover had the opportunity of his life for bringing about an international monetary agreement. For some reason he, like all other hypnotised gold men, failed to stress such agreement. President Roosevelt is said to be willing to give most any sort of remedy a trial. I hope he will stress this agreement, for the writer believes it will speedily end the depression. Silver can not be coined free without such agreement.

BALL CASE TO REACH VIRGINIA JURY TODAY

Conclusion of Testimony Is Speeded by Agreement of Attorneys.

The case of E. Wade Ball, former treasurer of Arlington County, will reach the jury today. Yesterday at 1:45 p. m. both defense and prosecution completed presentation of testimony at Ball's trial, which has consumed 11 days before Judge Walter T. McCarthy in Arlington County Circuit Court on charges of failure to turn over county funds totaling $515,959.92.

Concluding presentation of testimony, more than five hours were consumed with consideration of instructions by counsel for both sides which will be read to the jury by the court.

Yesterday's proceedings were speeded up due to the fact that many agreements were reached between counsel regarding introduction of testimony.

Final argument by Commonwealth's Attorney Lawrence W. Douglas and Assistant Attorney General Collins Denny, jr., for the State, and Crandal Mackey, former Commonwealth's Attorney, and former State Senator Frank L. Ball, for the defense, will be heard this morning. Preceding argument, Judge McCarthy will instruct the jury.

Ball was not called to testify in his own behalf. The defense witnesses were eight prominent citizens of Arlington County, who said that Ball's reputation for honesty and integrity was excellent.

The defense also called to the witness stand Arthur Warfield, cashier of the First National Bank of Alexandria; Arthur Herbert, of Burke & Herbert, bankers of Alexandria; G. F. Downham, vice president of the Citizens National Bank of Alexandria; H. W. Dudley, of Alexandria National Bank; B. A. Bowles, vice president of the Potomac Savings Bank; W. H. Burnside, assistant cashier of Riggs National Bank; Charles T. Merchant, of the Arlington Trust Co.; George Robey, Peoples State Bank of Cherrydale, and Thomas E. Sebrell, secretary-treasurer of the Clarendon Trust Co. The bankers testified to a number of the defendant's checks which were credited to his personal account and later placed in the treasurer's account, from which was paid numerous county accounts.

With the calling of the bankers, the defense rested.

Following this announcement, Frank L. Ball moved to strike out all testimony of the prosecution on accountability on the grounds the defendant's term of office expired prior to the time the alleged offense was committed. The motion was denied by the court.

A New Yorker AT LARGE

By MARK BARRON.

New York.—To forestall annoying traffic jams which might interrupt their chatter with the street corner apple man, the police are very strict about chasing empty taxicabs out of crowded Times Square and off Fifth avenue. A cab must be occupied by a passenger to be admitted to these two zones, and the wily drivers hit upon a clever plan to get around this.

On the edge of the zone they pick up some stroller and ride him free of charge through the deadlines. Once in the zone they dump their gratis passenger and then go on the lookout for paying customers.

It wasn't long before the police became wise to these shenanigans and they began making it difficult for drivers they snared carrying these phony passengers.

"The cops are on to you," I pointed out to Maxi Scholz, driver No. A-17987. "What are you boys going to do now?"

Chasing Plotters.

Among other little dramas which add to the adventure as well as the humor of this metropolis one concerns the three South Americans who, in a fashionable hotel overlooking Central Park, have been making plans for a revolution in their native ballwick.

Such plotting is against the law, and for some weeks these exiles were shadowed not only by a pair of Federal officers, but also by a pair of private detectives.

The other day the game became overly warm for the plotters, so they decided to travel, and in a hurry, for their health. As soon as they discovered the flight of the exiles, both pair of sleuths rushed for the piers where ships were sailing that day and began an intesive search.

The upshot of the whole affair was that the Federal men arrested the private detectives, and by the time the misunderstanding was straightened out the plotters were safely out at sea.

Reporters' Favorites.

It occurs that one man who is sorely missed along Broadway is the late Walter Kingsley. He was a mine of information for every city editor in town over a period of 30 years. He was the good samaritan of chorus girls, and although he made several fortunes in his lifetime, he gave practically all of it away to unfortunates along the rialto.

He press agented more stars to fame than any other publicist, and he was the one clearing house of information and news for all Broadway reporters.

No one else has come up to take his place. And probably no one ever will, for Kingsley occupied a niche of his own.

10 ARRESTED AS RIOT IN BOSTON IS HALTED

Alleged Reds Protest Cuts in Relief; Public Offices Guarded Closely.

Boston, March 31 (A.P.).—A battle between police and alleged Communists late today outside welfare headquarters in Hawkins street was terminated with the arrest of three women and seven men.

In the melee, which began when speakers insisted in addressing the throng in front of the welfare department, police said two of their number were assaulted, including a sergeant who was felled by a woman's kick.

The trouble began after members of the group police said were Communists sent a committee into the department to protest to Secretary Edward McCarthy against what they said was a 40 per cent cut in welfare distributions.

While the committee was waiting to see McCarthy, speakers in front of the building, police said, began to harangue the crowd of several hundred persons. They were ordered to desist and three mounted officers with 35 patrolmen began to clear the street.

With this, police said, a woman punched a policeman. She was seized and two men in the crowd came to her aid. The woman then kicked the sergeant, felling him, officers reported.

As a result of the demonstration all doors of the Statehouse were locked at 5 p. m. after employes left at that hour instead of 6 o'clock, the usual hour.

A detail of uniformed State police was held at Gov. Ely's office until 5:10 p. m., and then assigned to the doors.

Funds Lack Stops Foxhall Road Work

Condemnation Proceedings for Improvements Are Called Off.

On account of a shortage of funds, the District Commissioners yesterday called off the proposed condemnation proceeding on Foxhall road preparatory to improvement and ordered that all pending condemnation projects be reconsidered.

This action was taken upon recommendation of Maj. John C. Gotwals, engineer commissioner, who declared that he was opposed to carrying through condemnation cases when there is no immediate possibility of roadway improvements. The Foxhall condemnation cases included the entire highway from Reservoir road to Wesley Heights.

Other proposed condemnation cases will be reconsidered and probably likewise postponed until such a time as the District is able to make the improvements.

Lecturer Takes Hearers On Odyssey to Aegean

Sponge fishing and the shipping of volcanic earth for use in cement-making—these are the only means of livelihood in many of the islands of the Aegean Sea between Greece and Turkey today, but ages ago this region had one of the richest civilizations the world has ever known, Byron D. MacDonald told the National Geographic Society during his illustrated lecture, "New Odysseys for Old," in the Washington Auditorium last night.

With colored slides and motion pictures, Mr. MacDonald took his audience through Greece, the Aegean Sea and along the northwest coast of Turkey, pausing in Athens to show restoration work on the Acropolis; in Crete to reveal the restored relics of Knossos culture, dating back to 3500 B. C., and in other islands and parts of the mainland to photograph hitherto unvisited spots.

Mrs. Howard W. Smith Talks of Eastern Faiths

"The religions of the East have not given the people of the Orient that which they want and need," Mrs. Howard Wayne Smith, of Philadelphia, president of the Federation of Women's Boards of Foreign Missions, said Friday at the annual ingathering of the Women's Council of the Washington Federation of Churches, at the Calvary Baptist Church.

Mrs. Smith, who has just returned from an extended visit to mission fields of Japan, China, and the Philippines, paid tribute to the missionary leadership she found there. The ingathering offering amounted to $1,884, a substantial increase over previous years.

CAROLINE MUSANTE TAKEN FROM SCHOOL

Fredericksburg, Va., March 31 (A. P.).—Expressing concern over her nervous condition and the safety of their daughter, Caroline, 13, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Musante, of Stafford County, have withdrawn her from Stafford High School. The action followed receipt of additional notes signed "United States Kidnaping Gang" and threatening the girl in case of prosecutions for her abduction on February 2.

The H. P. Porter family, relatives and neighbors of the Musantes, whose infant daughter also was threatened in the notes, today moved from Stafford to the populated suburban section of Fredericksburg, also as a precaution. Previously they had considered leaving the State.

Commonwealth Attorney G. B. Wallace, who has been leading the investigation since Caroline was kidnaped in February and held for several hours by two men who tied her to a tree and questioned her about means of securing the Porter baby, was not here today to confirm the reports, but from reliable sources it was learned that more than ten notes have been mysteriously delivered to Caroline while she has been at school. Relatives have guarded her trips between her home and the school building.

County authorities believe there is a local agent who has written the notes threatening death to Caroline unless she brings about the release of William Kendall, 26, sailor, held in Baltimore and identified by her as one of her captors. The threats also were applied to any effort she might make to identify Harvey Otis, suspected of being the other kidnaper and now on a sea trip.

Applicants must be college graduates, it was explained, and the award will be made on the basis of scholastic record, the necessity of the applicant for scholarship aid, and recommendations as to his general qualifications.

Anacostia Park's Completion Urged

Schmitt Says Serious Loss Would Result if Bill Is Approved.

In addition to putting 60 men out of employment, the halting of work on the Anacostia Park project as contemplated in the District supply bill estimates would result in serious and substantial loss in the work already accomplished, according to E. A. Schmitt, War Department engineer, who is supervising the project.

The park at present is 80 per cent complete and would have been finished in 1938. If the work should stop, Mr. Schmitt declared, the Government would have an unprofitable investment on its hands.

He declared substantial loss would result from a cessation of operations by reason of the washing and weathering of embankments, levees and dredging basins." The benefits for flood protection for Maryland communities will be nullified by the accumulation of shoals in the Anacostia River," he said.

Tiffin, Ohio, March 31 (A.P.).—A cock robin which battled his image in a window here until he was forced three days ago to retire because of a bleeding head and broken beak, has returned to the attack.

The robin came back today to pick up where he left off at the home of Leroy Montgomery, assistant county school superintendent. The bird appeared to be as fresh as when he started the fight a week ago.

Trio Steals $2,000 In Baltimore Bank

Clerk Knocked Down Soon After Armored Car Delivers Cash.

Baltimore, March 31 (A.P.).—Three men, brandishing pistols, entered the Dundalk branch of the Provident Savings Bank shortly before noon today, knocked a clerk down and escaped with $2,000. A short time before the holdup occurred an armored car had delivered $15,000 to the bank.

William E. Mullinix, the clerk, said one of the men had entered through a rear entrance and another from the front when the third approached him and asked where the money had been delivered.

Before he could answer, Mullinix said, the man pointed a pistol at him, reached for a bag of nickels he had in his hand and struck him on the head. The three then left the bank.

W. B. & A. May Obtain New Taxes Exemption

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., March 31.—That the Washington, Baltimore and Annapolis Electric Railroad will be granted exemption from all State and county taxation for two more years was indicated tonight when the Senate passed the measure carrying such provision. Senator Melvin, Anne Arundel County, led a fight against the measure during the early hours this morning. He said taxpayers already are overburdened and that Anne Arundel suffered a loss of $25,000 revenue annually, Prince Georges more than half that amount, and Baltimore City $50,000.

Senator Sasscer, Prince Georges, voted for the bill, explaining that while it is something of an imposition on the taxpayers, the railroad is a public necessity and moreover employ 475 Maryland workers.

Stocks' Even Market Upset By Rail and Utility Selling

New York, March 31 (A.P.).—Late selling of rail and utility shares upset a closely balanced stock market today and average prices swung under the previous low of this week's trading range.

Larger offerings then disclosed an old fault, lack of nearby bids and numerous net losses of 1 to 3 points resulted. Final prices were fractionally above the lows. Volume, which by early afternoon had approximated 370,000 shares, increased to 879,745 for the day.

Railroad and light and power company issues got the sharpest setback. Santa Fe, Union Pacific, Consolidated Gas, Delaware & Hudson and Peoples Gas were down 3 points, while New York Central, Illinois Central preferred, North American, Case, Harvester, Allied Chemical and American Can yielded 1 to 2, American Tobacco "B," up 2 points at one time, closed with a small loss. American Sugar Refining converted a major fraction rise into a 1-point decline. Drug, Inc., appeared to have discounted the voluntary bankruptcy of its Liggett subsidiary and was little changed. Both the Missouri Pacific issues lost a point.

Stocks slumped in the face of stronger wheat prices which were lifted by bullish crop estimates. German bonds weakened sharply, but made some recovery while U. S. Government loans firmed.

Steps toward reorganizing a large railway system served to emphasize the difficulties that many carriers are encountering in meeting their obligations. Whether the new procedure will be gentler than old-fashioned receivership should soon be disclosed; the main purpose of the recent change in the law was to facilitate such adjustments on as smooth and inexpensive a basis as possible.

The first quarter ended with several favorable reports from industry. Some lines are picking up in line with seasonal expectations, which means increased employment and larger payrolls. Retail trade is expanding as Easter approaches; Dun & Bradstreet, Inc., refers to an "unexpected surge" which gives promise of carrying the movement beyond the objective set for the spring period.

TRADE TRENDS.

(Associated Press.)

SILVER—Markets have been narrow in the past week despite continued talk in political quarters of renewed efforts to raise the metal's currency status. Speculative interest in the spot market has fallen considerably from the level of a few weeks ago.

WOMEN'S WEAR—Demand for coatings and suitings is irregular, according to merchants. Rumors of dumping of excess spring stocks have tended to keep buyers on the side lines, it is said.

HIDES—Argentina reports sales of 8,000 March frigorifico steers at 5 11-16 cents a pound, a decline of ⅝ cents from the previous sale. The Chicago market for spot hides continues dull.

TIN—Prices have shown little change lately with the price currently holding at 24½ cents. Tin plate operations are estimated at 35 to 40 per cent, against 50 per cent earlier in the year.

GERMAN BONDS HEAD LOSSES IN MARKETS

Rail Issues Join Declines as Sales Increase to $11,773,000.

New York, March 31 (A.P.).—A sharp slump in German obligations and further liquidation of domestic rail loans unsettled the bond market today in spite of the firmness of United States Government securities.

While the majority of Liberty and Treasury issues added fractionally to their recent gains, bonds of Germany were heavily traded for losses of 1 to more than 7 points and a long list of carrier maturities, principally of the secondary grades, dropped 1 to more than 5. A number of the German loans rallied substantially in late trading.

Sales stepped up a bit on the downgrade, the volume amounting to $11,773,000, par value. The average for 60 domestic corporate bonds lost half a point, its largest recession of the week.

German Government 5½s were the most active of the day's transactions, either domestic or foreign, 1,043 of these changing hands at a net loss of 2½ points after being off 4 points at one time. Net losses of as much as 7 points were suffered by some German state, municipal and corporate issues.

The renewed weakness in the Germans, which have been falling for several days, was attributed largely to fears that the republic's foreign debt service might be reduced as the result of dwindling trade balances, due to disturbing political conditions. Most of the selling orders today, it was said, came from London.

The relapse of the rails followed upon the filing of a reorganization petition by the Missouri Pacific, the first under the recently amended bankruptcy act. M. O. P. liens dropped fractionally to 4½ points. Iron Mountain 4s obligations of the Missouri Pacific lost 8½ points on top of a sharp decline yesterday. Wabash first 5s gave up 7 points when it was announced the payment of interest tomorrow on this issue would be deferred. Trading in the transportation group, however, was not especially heavy, although losses were scattered over a wide front. There were also some moderate rail gains.

While some of the recently depressed industrials and utilities steadied, there were a few soft spots in these divisions. United Drug 5s lost 4½ points, following the filing of a bankruptcy petition by the Liggett chain of drug stores. The Liggett company is a member of the United Drug group. Bonds of Postal Telegraph, Pennsylvania Power & Light, Phillips Petroleum and Western Union were heavy. United States Rubber 5s gained 1¼ points on publication of the company's refunding plan.

(Associated Press.)

The weekly statement of the Reserve Board revealed yesterday that $44,444,000 had been returned during this period to bring the total gold reserves of the 12 institutions to $3,236,766,000.

The present level is more than $550,000,000 above that existing when President Roosevelt closed all banking institutions and issued his call for a segregation of the metal at the regional banks.

In the meantime, an abated fear on the part of bank depositors combined with expanded banking facilities to return $255,000,000 of money in circulation to its normal resting place in the Treasury and in the Reserve banks.

Money in circulation is the amount outside the Treasury and the Reserve banks, and therefore can not be accounted for. It represents, also, all money hoarded.

Federal Reserve notes in actual circulation amounted to $3,747,626,000; a decline of $168,716,000 for the week and a drop of $468,000,000 since the week ended March 8. The Reserve banks held $2,616,013,000 exclusively in gold.

Other than allaying a temporary fear, the new Federal Reserve Bank note has played an inconspicuous role, the weekly statement disclosed.

Only $14,228,000 of the new money had been put in actual circulation and is segregated in the five Reserve districts of Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Cleveland and St. Louis.

This amount is secured by $30,336,000 of eligible backing, including more than $25,000,000 of securities of the Government.

Reserve Credits Cut $321,000,000

Advances for Week Total $2,787,000,000; Up Over '32 Period.

(Associated Press.)

The daily average volume of Federal Reserve Bank credit outstanding during the week ended March 29, as reported by the Federal Reserve Banks, was $2,787,000,000, a decrease of $321,000,000 compared with the preceding week and an increase of $188,000,000 compared with the corresponding week in 1932.

On March 29 total Reserve Bank credit amounted to $2,688,000,000, a decrease of $199,000,000 for the week. This decrease corresponds with a decrease of $255,000,000 in money in circulation and increases of $8,000,000 in monetary gold stock and $18,000,000 in Treasury currency, adjusted, offset in part by increases of $69,000,000 in member bank reserve balances and $12,000,000 in unexpended capital funds, nonmember deposits, &c.

Bills discounted decreased $78,000,000 at the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, $21,000,000 at Philadelphia, $15,000,000 at Chicago and $136,000,000 at all Federal Reserve Banks. Missouri Pacific Must Reorganize

(Associated Press.)

The reorganization of the Missouri Pacific was made necessary by the maturing on May 1 next of $34,548,000 first mortgage 4 per cent bonds of the St. Louis, Iron Mountain & Southern Railway Co.

This issue reached the forefront early in January when the Interstate Commerce Commission, approving a loan of $2,500,000 by the Reconstruction Corporation to the Missouri Pacific, called attention to it. The commission said that "we shall expect the applicant within a reasonable time to formulate and present for our consideration a plan to meet the May 1 maturity."

This plan has been expected for some time and William Wyer, treasurer of the Missouri Pacific, has been in frequent conference with finance division officials of the Interstate Commerce Commission. The loan maturing May 1 is what is known as the Iron Mountain's River & Gulf 50-year first mortgage 4 per cent bonds. These bonds are a first lien on 781 miles of road.

Nickel Plate Railroad To Pay Bond Interest

New York, March 31 (A.P.).—Fiscal agents of the New York, Chicago & St. Louis (Nickel Plate) Railroad announced today that interest due tomorrow on the company's first mortgage 4 per cent bonds of 1937, the refunding bonds of 1974 and the three-year 6 per cent notes of 1935 would be paid.

CURB SALES VOLUME LARGER IN DECLINES

New York, March 31 (A.P.).—After a couple of sessions of almost record low volume, the curb market today pushed out of its narrow trading range on the downward side. Business increased to 130,000 shares from 70,000 on Thursday and declines were general in most groups.

Utilities had a rather poor day, particularly those of the less active group. Commonwealth Edison, Consolidated Gas of Baltimore, American Gas & Electric preferred, National Power & Light preferred and General Public Service preferred dropped from 2 to 6 points.

The favorites of the professional traders like Electric Bond & Share, Aluminum Co. of America, Atlas Corporation, Deere & Co., Cord and American Superpower turned a bit soggy after early firmness, but their losses were generally within moderate fractional limits.

A. O. Smith, which was bid up several points yesterday, reacted sedately on profit taking. Great Atlantic & Pacific softened a couple of points, but Mead Johnson was in some demand and rose about a point.

The thin market situation worked both ways as evidenced by a 2-point jump in Singer Manufacturing on one or two odd-lot transactions.

Bank Rate Unchanged.

New York, March 31 (A.P.).—The New York Federal Reserve Bank today announced no change in its 3½ per cent rediscount rate.

WHEAT VALUES RISE ON HEAVIER BUYING

Probable Loss in Output for 1933 Aids Advance; Other Grains Up.

Chicago, March 31 (A.P.).—Responsive to broadened volume of buying, wheat advanced strongly today in line with indications that 1933 United States production would be curtailed 100,000,000 bushels.

One of the principal unofficial trade authorities here issued a monthly crop report today 24 hours ahead of other private experts, and estimated domestic winter wheat production this season at only 355,000,000 bushels, the smallest total in many years. On the basis of an average crop of spring wheat, this would mean about 100,000,000 bushels less than the domestic disappearance of wheat during each of the last two years.

In the face of persistent selling attributed largely to liquidation by Government-financed agencies, wheat held most of the day's upturn, closing unsettled ⅝ to 1 above yesterday's finish, with corn ⅛ to ¼ up; oats, unchanged to ¼ higher, and provisions exactly unchanged.

Winter Wheat Crop.

As figured in today's report, the present condition of domestic winter wheat is 65.2 per cent, against 75.8 a year ago and a ten-year average of 79.4. The estimated probable production, 355,000,000 bushels, compared with 462,000,000 harvested in 1932, and a ten-year average of 589,000,000. It was indicated that about 22 per cent of the average seeded last fall would be abandoned.

Highest prices of the day for wheat were reached in the late dealings, and showed a maximum gain of 1½ cents. No rains were reported in dry sections of domestic winter wheat territory, and millers were active buyers.

Condition and abandonment percentages reported today for winter wheat in the principal States were Kansas condition, 49; abandonment, 29; Nebraska, 60 and 25; Oklahoma, 63 and 20; Texas, 55 to 27; Colorado, 37 and 52; Montana, 76 and 15; Pennsylvania, 85 and 5; Ohio, 80 and 10; Indiana, 77 and 11; Illinois, 79 and 10; Missouri, 75 and 10; Washington, 45 and 45.

Corn and oats borrowed firmness from wheat. Provisions were upheld by hog market strength.

Fifth Reserve Area Business Revives

Bank Deposits Increase as Industries Show Improvement.

Richmond, Va., March 31 (A.P.).—Since the release of the banks from restrictions imposed during the holiday there seems to have been a remarkable revival of confidence, the monthly review of credit, business and agricultural conditions of the Fifth District Federal Reserve Bank made public here today asserts. Particular attention is given in the report to concrete demonstration of the severity of calls on commercial banks immediately preceding the banking holiday and of how the reserve bank was able to expand credit to meet the extraordinary demands made upon it.

Following the holidays, the bank said, deposits everywhere were reported far in excess of withdrawals, and Federal Reserve notes in circulation and rediscounts at the reserve bank promptly began to decline immediately after banks resumed customary functions. Business in the Fifth District in February, the bank reported, was in seasonal volume during the first half of the month, but in the second half there was a recession due principally to growing uneasiness about the banking situation. Employment conditions registered no improvement last month, and became worse at the end of the month and early in March.

Textile mills in the Fifth District maintained operations at recent levels in February, but did not use quite as large a percentage of total cotton consumption for the month as they did in January, when they used slightly more than half the cotton used in the United States.

Tobacco markets all closed in February after selling a small crop for moderately better prices than the 1931 crop brought. Retail trade in department stores of the Fifth District lacked 24.2 per cent of equaling trade in February last year and collections were also slower last month.

Pound and Franc Drop As Dutch Guilders Gain

New York, March 31 (A.P.).—Foreign exchanges followed quiet and moderately irregular paths today. The British pound sterling, under the influence of the Bank of England control, dipped 1½ cents to a cable rate of $3.42¾, and French francs lost one-fourth of a point at 3.92¾ cents.

The Scandinavians were also easy. At the same time, Dutch guilders were in demand at a gain of 4 points, while Swiss francs and German marks each gained a point. Canadian dollars sagged three-eighths of a cent to 82¾ cents.

BUSINESS OF NATION LISTS BRIGHT SPOTS

Confidence Revival Inspires Activity in Various Industries.

New York, March 31 (A.P.).—Bright spots appeared today in business and financial news from all corners of the Nation.

An upturn in retail sales and a revival of confidence were reported in various Federal Reserve districts.

Dun & Bradstreet's Inc., in its weekly report said "the curve of retail trade has jumped sharply this week."

This conclusion was reflected, the report said, in the "heavier demand for women's apparel lines, dress accessories, shoes, home furnishings, leather goods and boys' and men's clothing, sales of which reached large totals during the week."

"The expansion of activity in wholesale markets, which made such marked headway last week, has been accelerated further by the strong current buying movement," the report added.

San Francisco Area.

In the twelfth (San Francisco) Federal Reserve district report, retail department store sales were said to have increased in February, although normally they drop during that month.

From Kansas City came the tenth district report that a decided reduction in business mortality had been noted.

In the Eighth (St. Louis) District a promising upswing in business for third week in March was reported.

From the Atlanta (Ga.) District came word of a gain in department store sales during February.

The Second (New York) District told of a slowing in the rate of decline in the amount of business done by department, 10-cent grocery and shoe chain stores.

265 Banks Restored.

Secretary of the Treasury Woodin announced that 265 national banks, with deposits of $350,000,000, were restored to 10 per cent banking functions through reorganization in the 10-day period ended March 25. The 265 do not include those national banks originally licensed to resume progressive operations after the bank holiday ended.

The Department of Commerce estimated millions of dollars are pouring into many industries through the preparations of brewers to handle 3.2 per cent beer after April 6.

The B. F. Goodrich Co. announced a 40 per cent increase in production beginning tomorrow, as a result of generally improving business conditions and a seasonal upturn in buying.

Engineering News-Record said the volume of contracts for heavy engineering construction is slowly gaining, with the total for the week ended March 27, $11,994,000, against $8,384,000 the previous week.

Cash Register Plants.

The National Cash Register Co. announced that all its manufacturing units in Dayton, Ohio, will resume full time operation Monday. The order affects 3,500 employes who have been working half-time. Orders are being placed for subetantial quantities of raw material.

Improvement was reported in the market for raw and finished leather.

Officials of the newly organized National Bank of Detroit watched a steadily-mounting total of deposits in the bank, now in its second week of existence. The total already had passed the $25,310,000-mark in 2,053 commercial accounts.

The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. announced its work week will be stepped up to five days of six hours each beginning next week.

The General Tire & Rubber Co. has gone on a six-day week due to an increase in business.

Frigidaire Corporation at Dayton has recalled 500 men to make up a partial third eight-hour shift in its plants there, the president announced. The recall increases the number of factory employes to 6,500, all on full five-day-week schedule.

New York Bank Asks To Quit Reserve Plan

New York, March 31 (A.P.).—The Mercantile Bank & Trust Co. of New York City has applied for withdrawal from the Federal Reserve System, it was announced today. The Mercantile failed to reopen after the bank holiday.

The bank has a capital of $900,000 and surplus of $600,000. It is the successor of the Chelsea Bank & Trust Co., which was closed by the State banking department in 1930.

"ARIES."

IF April 1 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10:30 a. m. to 11:45 a. m. from 3 p. m. to 4 p. m. and from 9:35 p. m. to 11 p. m. The danger periods are from 8 a. m. to 9:10 a. m. and from 5:30 p. m. to 6:30 p. m. Influences operating on this April 1 will tend to produce a period heavily oppressed with fears for the immediate future. You may feel downhearted and depressed, but time will undoubtedly prove conditions to be far better than they actually appear. A sea trip of some kind will prove restful.

A child born on this April 1 will find many temptations in his path during the early years of his life. He will be extremely happy in his relations with his family. He will probably prove to be the type who will need more than the usual amount of family backing and encouragement.

If April 1 is the date of your birth, your extremely sensitive nature makes it difficult for you to mingle happily with groups of people. If you can overcome this almost constant feeling that people are criticizing or ridiculing you, you will have thrown off a serious impediment to your success. You should be quite successful in meeting and handling the public if you can locate yourself in some line of work where they would have to seek you out. A sales job behind a counter or some kind of informative work would suit you well.

Born on April 1, you will probably spend a great deal of time alone. You will have many interests and small hobbies to keep you occupied. You will get much enjoyment from reading, particularly books of a romantic nature. It is more than possible that you will have a blighted love life, and as you get along in years you will come to have less and less faith in those of the opposite sex. In the ranks of the men will be found a considerable number of bachelors who are inclined to be ultraconservative in their living, and to be more than a little "old-maidish" in their conversation and actions. These people are most religious, are frequently ardent church workers and at times are overzealous in seeking to make converts of others.

Successful people born on April 1:
Edward A. Sothern, actor.
George Harris, educator.

How to Keep Well

By DR. W. A. EVANS

TREATING ARTHRITIS.

IF the people who have chronic arthritis, regardless of its type, were limited to one agency for relief, I think they would be wise to select heat applied locally in some form or another. If they were allowed two it would be advisable to select light as the second. Light includes exposure to sunlight, to various forms of lamps, and to different rays. Many forms of heat can also be classed as light treatment. Far lower in the scale come medicinal agents, such as salicylates, colchicum, the iodides, and other medicines usually given.

The tendency now is toward the opinion that no forms of arthritis descend on a man out of a clear sky. It is doubtless true that bacteria are the precipitating causes of several and maybe all of these disorders, and bacteria have a way of dropping in unexpectedly. But it is also true in the case of arthritis that the way must be prepared else the bacteria are shed as a duck sheds water.

There is some evidence that men built only according to certain plans and specifications are subject to arthritis. There is more that the groundwork for arthritis is not so much the build of the machine as the way it operates. One part of the working of the machinery that contributes to arthritis is what is called poor circulation, a tendency of certain parts to get cold without due provocation.

It follows that heat has a place in the prevention of arthritis. It plays a larger part in alleviating it. There is a surgical procedure that has this as an object. It consists in cutting certain nerve roots. After this the previously always-cold parts become warm and glowing.

Diathermy is of service. That is a form of electricity which heats up the deeper tissues and internal organs even more than it heats the skin. One drawback of other forms of heat treatment is the fact that they are too much localized.

Radiant heat is one of the best of all forms of heat in that it supplies the beneficent effects of the best form of heat and of light as well. Hot baths of various kinds, hot pads, hot bottles, all have a place in the treatment of various forms of arthritis by heat.

Of less service in relieving harm and discomfort, but still of value in this regard and of additional worth in other particulars, are the various forms of light. At the head of the list is sunlight. It supplies heat and a combination of several kinds of light, and it is a producer of vitamins. Arthritis abounds where there is but little sunlight. It is rarer in the summertime. The arthritics are less comfortable in the season of short, dark days. Man-made radiant heat has many of the good qualities of that which comes from the sun.

Three drugs are used in the treatment of arthritis and each has a special field. For each of them there are several substitutes built along the same general lines of the originals and having advantages over them. These, too, have a place.

GRAND SLAM BIDDING.

THERE is no doubt whatever that the Four-Five Notrump Convention has taken the entire country by storm. Bridge players everywhere are sending in example hands showing the use of the Convention in Slam bidding and speaking of the bid with the utmost enthusiasm. I, myself, think it has added another charm to the game of Contract. Certainly it does permit a degree of precision that has been lacking in all other Slam bidding methods.

Mr. C. L. Meyers, of Portland, Oreg., is very fond of the Convention, and evidently holds a lot of hands which permit him to bid Slams. Here are two recent examples:

South. Dealer.

	♠ A 10 6 ♡ K Q J 8 3 ◇ K J 6 ♣ A 10
♠ 7 3 2 ♡ 10 7 5 4 ◇ 8 7 ♣ J 8 7 2	N W E S	♠ K Q J 5 ♡ 9 6 ◇ 9 5 2 ♣ K 9 6 3
	♠ 9 8 4 ♡ A 2 ◇ A Q 10 4 3 ♣ Q 5 4

The bidding: (Figure after bid in table refers to numbered explanatory paragraph.)

South	West	North	East
1◇	Pass	2♡	Pass
2NT	Pass	4NT	Pass
5NT	Pass	7◇ (1)	Dbl.
7NT	Pass	Pass	Dbl.
Pass	Pass	Pass

1—An ambitious Grand Slam bid, but with a brilliant partner in the South, North felt it worth a gamble.

The hand was made by using the Vienna Coup. East was squeezed at the last, so that the Club Queen made the thirteenth trick.

South, Dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

	♠ A 6 5 ♡ Q 9 7 4 2 ◇ A 7 6 2 ♣ 4
♠ K Q J 10 4 ♡ 6 3 ◇ K Q 10 3 ♣ 7 6	N W E S	♠ 9 7 3 2 ♡ 8 5 ◇ J 9 8 ♣ J 10 3 2
	♠ 8 ♡ A K J 10 ◇ 5 4 ♣ A K Q 9 8 5

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1♣	1♠	2♡	Pass
4NT	Pass	5NT	Pass
7♡	Dbl.	Pass	Pass
Redbl.	Pass	Pass	Pass

A laydown! Here is a beautiful example of the use of this bid. There is no other method by which a certain Grand Slam could have been reached after West had shown a vulnerable Defensive bid.

Telephone questions on The Meanderer's column to The Washington Post, National 4205, Extension 19; or address The Meanderer, The Washington Post, inclosing self-addressed, stamped envelope for reply.

Stewing chickens at 21 cents a pound and new pink Irish potatoes, 5 pounds for 24 cents, featured in a chain store today speak for themselves for places on the Sunday menu. Cauliflower, string beans, broccoli, spinach and low-cost asparagus deserve mention as featured in the same chain store.

A delectable variety of small tea cakes, so much in demand for afternoon teas and other entertaining, are among the hor made offerings in a women's market on the old Georgetown road.

Cookies for today's selling at the special price of three dozen for 25 cents in two downtown bakeries Meanderings readers like to visit are in two popular kinds—chocolate and black walnut. A maple-chocolate layer cake, guaranteed to satisfy the sweetest tooth, costs but 49 cents in the same bakeries.

Cocoanut puffs, which mean a vanilla wafer base, then a layer of raspberry jam and a cocoanut-marshmallow topping, sell at the incredible price of 16 cents a pound in a chain store today.

Spring lamb, freshly prepared on nearby farms, is ready for customers in a market on upper Wisconsin avenue much frequented by Meanderings readers.

Potted rambler roses in the crimson and Dorothy Perkins varieties are drawing interested shoppers to a favorite flower store on H street. The rose bushes are showy, bright plants for use in the house until the weather is warm enough for planting them in the garden. Brilliant azaleas of deep pink, almost red, are also potted for house enjoyment until the gardening season opens. They are of a hardy variety to endure through winters in this climate. Hydrangeas of pink, lavender and brilliant blue, so much prized by gardeners, are prominent among the spring showings of potted plants. Among the cut flowers, Spanish iris in blue, yellow or white are sold at $1 a dozen.

The copper pots for use in serving Turkish coffee have arrived in new shipments at a food importer's shop on Ninth street near the Public Library. There the Meanderer found the delicious almond-flavored Turkish paste in 14-ounce packages for 25 cents. Special packages of crisp canape foundations sell reasonably there, too, for use with the many varieties of appetizers sold there, including the best of caviar and anchovies.

Guiding Your Child

By MRS. AGNES LYNE

A LITTLE girl of 5 already had become astonishingly competent at such tasks as dressing herself, setting the table, drying the dishes and answering the doorbell.

She was heroically tearless when she fell down and bumped her knee. She could be counted on to see that baby brother was kept out of mischief in the back yard—altogether a fine grown-up little girl.

The more independent and reliable she became the more her mother, busy with the household and the baby, expected of her.

Then one day when all in one breath her mother asked her to turn off the water tap, let the dog out and put on her rubbers, the child stood still and stubborn, and then said: "But I can't do so many things. I'm only just a little girl and you ought to take care of me."

Suddenly the child who had been so sturdily self-reliant, so proud of being mother's helper, preferred to be "Only just a little girl."

Children often return to babyish attitudes when too great demands have been made of them. A 5-year-old who runs mother's errands, regularly helps with the household chores and takes responsibility for a baby brother is, for instance, doing far too much.

Mothers burdened with the multitudinous details of caring for a family frequently forget that the 3-year-old, the 5-year-old, the 7-year-old who seem so huge and self-reliant compared to the new baby are, after all, only children with the same claims to freedom from strains and fatigue, the same right to play, which the younger child enjoys.

WHAT'S GOOD TO EAT

BREAD IN MANY FANCY FORMS MEETS YEARNING FOR VARIETY

By ANN BARRETT

RIGHT now it's mostly hot cross buns that are keeping the home fires and the bakery fires going the country over. But this is only one way the Staff of Life steps out to satisfy the Nation-wide longing for variety in breads.

Folks are reveling more and more, I find, in raised orange bread, raisin bread, date or fig bread. In delicious yeast nut bread. In raised biscuits baked in muffin tins to give them more crisp, brown crust. In delicate little yellowy potato biscuits so moist and tender they just about melt in your mouth.

One of the revelers who enjoys these concoctions to the last crumb is the gay writer and one-time actress, Elsie Janis, who tells me she must have plenty of good bread and butter at every meal in order to keep happy.

Good is the word to remember in this connection. For commercial bakers are now turning out so many good breads and biscuits it hardly pays to make them at home unless you follow every pointer to have them just right. These guides to success I'll try to set forth clearly in the following recipes:

Hot Cross Buns.

Most people like hot cross buns so well they like to have them all through Lent—though Good Friday is the traditional day for serving them.

To make them, start with 1 cup milk—first brought to boiling point, then cooled to lukewarm. Dissolve 1 cake compressed yeast and 1 tablespoon sugar in this. Then beat in 1½ cups sifted bread flour, cover the mixture and let rise till light and spongy (about 1 hour). Next, cream 1-3 cup sugar and ¼ cup shortening, stir in 1 well-beaten egg and add this to first mixture. Then add 2¼ cups sifted flour combined with ¼ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon mace or nutmeg and ¼ cup raisins or currants, and grated rind of a lemon. Knead this mixture lightly, then put it into greased bowl, cover with towel and let rise till double in bulk (about 2 hours).

Then shape mixture into medium-sized, round buns. Place these on well-greased pan about 2 inches apart. Cover with cloth and let rise again (about 1 hour). Made this way, hot cross buns are particularly light and feathery. But you may cut down the time of making by shaping them into buns at once after adding fruit and flavoring, thereby omitting the second rising. To glaze these buns, brush before baking with an egg (slightly beaten and mixed with 1 scant teaspoon water). Cut a cross on the top of each and bake 20 minutes in a hot oven (425). Just before removing these from the oven, brush them with powdered sugar mixed with just enough water to make a paste. While they are still hot fill the cross with confectioner's frosting. Another way to glorify the tops of these buns is to omit glazing and sugar icing and coat them thickly with powdered sugar.

Orange Bread.

As for orange bread, it'll be a sure prize winner—made up into delicate cream cheese and nut sandwiches, say, at your next bridge.

Start with 1 cup boiling water added to 1 cup strained, fresh orange juice and cooled to lukewarm. Dissolve 3 tablespoons sugar and 1 compressed yeast cake in this. Then beat in 3 cups sifted bread flour, cover and let rise till double in bulk. Next add 4 tablespoons grated orange rind, 1 egg yolk, 1 tablespoon of melted butter and 1 teaspoon of salt and 3 more cups of flour. Mix well, knead lightly, put in greased bowl and let rise till double. Then mold into 2 loaves, put into well-greased pans (2¾ by 4½ by 6 inches), let rise again till double. Bake in a hot oven (400) for 15 minutes. Then reduce heat to 350, and continue baking for 35 minutes. A good variation of this bread is to substitute 1 cup orange marmalade, 1 cup raisins and another cup, boiling water (cooled to lukewarm), for orange juice and rind.

Potato Biscuits.

Another way to send your own stock soaring is to serve potato biscuits, made like this: Cool 1 cup scalded milk to lukewarm, dissolve 1 compressed yeast cake in it, add 1 cup sifted bread flour, and let this mixture rise till full of bubbles (about 1 hour). Meanwhile, put 4 cups warm, freshly cooked mashed potatoes in a bowl, add 1 tablespoon sugar, ½ teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons butter and 1 cup scalded milk. When the first mixture has risen, add it to second mixture, with 1 well-beaten egg and 3 more cups sifted bread flour. Mix well, cover and let rise till double. Then drop mixture off a tablespoon (in balls about 1½ inches through) onto a greased baking sheet. Let rise again till double, then bake 15 to 20 minutes in a hot oven (425). This makes 3½ dozen tiny biscuits.

Radio Dial Flashes

By ROBERT D. HEINL

SPONSORED by the National Committee on Education by Radio, of 1201 Sixteenth street, the headquarters of the National Education Association, the American Listeners' Society is being organized.

"The American Listeners' Society is being formed to supply machinery through which listeners may exert an influence in determining the nature and content of radio programs," the application blank reads.

1. Development of a Nation-wide organization of listeners committed to the improvement of radio in America.

2. Publication of a periodical and of other materials which will bind this organization together as an informed and active group.

3. Encouragement of research into the problems of radio broadcasting.

4. Sponsorship of an institute of radio broadcasting for the personnel of educational broadcasting stations.

5. Maintenance of a special library for the service of all who are working in the field of educational broadcasting, including collections of radio addresses, records and transcriptions.

6. Support of radio broadcasts according to the needs and demands of listener groups.

7. Improvement of laws and governmental administration affecting radio broadcasting.

The dues are $1 yearly and a subscription to a periodical devoted to the interests of the society is included.

HIS HOLINESS POPE PIUS XI will broadcast a special message to America, beginning at 1:30 o'clock today. The rebroadcast will be heard locally through Stations WRC and WJSV.

The special broadcast will begin with the opening of the doors of St. Peter's, which occurs only once every 25 years. Father John O'Rourke will describe the ceremony.

Then the Annunziata Cathedral choir in Florence will sing, after which His Holiness will chant a hymn and then press a button, lighting a great cross on Scenario Mountain near Florence. At the conclusion of this ceremony the pontiff will deliver his special address to America regarding the holy year, which begins tomorrow. His benediction will follow.

The Annunziata Cathedral choir again will sing and then Father O'Rourke will give an English translation of His Holiness' talk.

THE period from 8:15 to 10 o'clock tonight on Stations WJSV and WMAL will be devoted to programs of classical music. The former station will continue with the presentation of Wagner's "Parsifal," by the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra, Leopold Stokowski conducting, begun yesterday afternoon. The second and third acts will be performed tonight, with the same cast heard yesterday. Soloists are Robert Steel, Rose Bampton, Nelson Eddy, Dudley Marwick, Alexis Tschekassky and Leonard Treash.

WMAL will transmit the concert by the Boston Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of Dr. Serge Koussevitzky. Two novelties, Charles M. Loeffler's "Evocation" and William Walton's "Belshazzar's Feast," both written for orchestra and voices, will be presented. Haydn's Symphony in E Flat Major will be broadcast in its entirety.

A German Jew living in Berlin will describe present conditions in Germany, especially as they affect the Jewish portion of the population, in an international broadcast to be heard locally through WMAL at 7 o'clock.

The speaker will be Hans W. Priwin, a member of the executive committee of the Association of German National Jews.

MORTON DOWNEY, tenor, who turns his hat completely around if he sees a black cat on the street, and who makes various mysterious motions and noises if a forgetful person whistles in his dressing room, wants to discuss superstitions with anybody in Washington who has some pets in that line.

In fact, Morton Downey wants every one to hear about both his superstitions and those of others. So he will station himself in front of the Earle Theater, where he is appearing this week, today, April Fool's Day, at 6:15 p. m. with a lapel microphone hooked up to Station WJSV.

THE Marine Band will interpret a group of musical compositions in the third phase of the National 4-H Music Achievement test today (WMAL, 12:30 p. m.). The composers to be taken up today are Rossini, Weber, Sullivan and Tschaikowsky.

It will be the first time the Marine Band has been heard over the radio since former Secretary of the Navy Adams ruled it off the air following a complaint from the organized musicians. Today's broadcast, however, is official and is not affected by the former Secretary's ruling. The 4-H Club programs are sponsored by the Extension Service of the Department of Agriculture.

Henry A. Wallace, Secretary of Agriculture, will explain "What the New Farm Bill Means" when he speaks over WJSV at 10:15 o'clock tonight. The new bill is designed to adjust the burden of farm indebtedness which was recently estimated to be $12,000,000,000.

The eighty-fifth meeting between Oxford and Cambridge crews to determine England's intercollegiate rowing championship will be broadcast over WJSV at 10 o'clock this morning.

ARTHUR BAGLEY, the dean of all continuous daily broadcasters on the air, will inaugurate his ninth year of health exercises this morning. For eight solid years Bagley's setting-up exercises have begun the day's broadcasting each weekday morning. Since the initial program more than 2,500 broadcasts have been given, and the exercises have held the air for a total of more than 3,500 hours.

Bing Crosby boarded the Twentieth Century day before yesterday, bound for Hollywood, where he begins a new film next week. He will be heard on the network from KHJ, Los Angeles. . . . Emery Deutsch has just composed "My Gypsy Rhapsody," sequel to his popular "Play, Fiddle, Play" . . . Anton Lang, Christus of the Passion Play, will speak from Oberammergau in a special Easter Sunday broadcast. . . . Ben Bernie spends his spare time—between midnight and dawn—playing bridge. . . . People just love to be sad, says John White, the Lonesome Cowboy. "I don't know why it is," says White, "but the radio listeners usually request all of the forlorn tunes and pass over the happy ones in their letters."

Herluf Provensen, assistant manager of Station WRC, speaks German fluently and is called upon frequently to serve as announcer for Herr Kurt Sell, German news commentator, who speaks from WRC studios regularly to a network of stations spread over central Europe and the Scandinavian countries. Provensen, who spent most of his boyhood in Copenhagen, Denmark, where his parents, a sister and a brother still reside, has been tempted to speak a few words of Danish each time he has announced Herr Sell to a European audience.

He was scheduled well in advance to announce Herr Sell again last Thursday. Having advised his parents that they might hear him on that day and being almost certain his family and friends were listening to his voice, the temptation proved too great. He greeted them in Danish after the German portion of the program had been concluded. Provensen, who has not been in Copenhagen for four years or more, is now eagerly awaiting a letter from home.

Boy Scouts Will Begin Survey of Park Today

A group of Boy Scouts directed by Maj. James S. Hawley will begin surveying the National Historical Grove in Anacostia Park, 2:30 p. m. today, preparatory to making a map of the grove.

The map will show the location of the park and the position of the trees of historical interest. The grove was dedicated by Dan Beard last Fall. Additional trees will be assigned to the grove when a committee representing the Boy Scouts of America, the American Forestry Association, Department of Agriculture and the American Walnut Manufacturers Association passes on their eligibility.

Y. M. C. A. Secretary Is National Chairman

Leonard W. De Gast, general secretary of the Washington Young Men's Christian Association, has been elected chairman of the national Y. M. C. A. conference of secretaries of group 1 associations, an organization of general secretaries in the larger cities.

Mr. De Gast succeeds A. G. Knebel, of the Cleveland Y. M. C. A. In a report to the local association on the recent annual conference of Y. M. C. A. secretaries at Pittsburgh, Mr. De Gast said there should be no depression in Y. M. C. A. activities. On the contrary, it was held that these times of lowered morale and distress are challenging the Y. M. C. A. to greater endeavor than ever.

Sculptor of Proposed Memorial Sails Today

The foundation for the memorial has already been constructed. Mr. del Piatta is expected to return to this country after a sojourn in Europe and begin work on the statuary group, Harvey Wiley Corbett is the designer of the memorial.

SATURDAY APRIL 1, 1933 SPORTS

YANKS SEEN TOO POWERFUL AS FLAG RACE NEARS

This Morning with Shirley L. Povich

CONNIE MACK calmly admits that Al Simmons, Jimmy Dykes and Mule Haas, the three players he sold to the White Sox, batted in approximately one third of the Athletics' runs last season. And just as calmly the venerable sage of the A's dugout insists that his 1933 club will be there of thereabouts this year.

Wherever it finishes, Mack's 1933 team promises to be quite the most interesting experiment of the 1933 season, not even barring Clark Griffith's faith in Joe Cronin, the 26½-year-old pilot of the Nats.

None is gambling more heavily on the rookie talent this season than Connie Mack. Filling the shoes of each of the veterans sold to the White Sox, a rookie will be seen. The average club owner counts himself lucky if one regular is developed from rookie talent during the course of a season. Mack expects three recruits to make good.

Gambles on Two Outfielders.

The young gentlemen on whom Mack is staking his hopes are Lou Finney and Ed Coleman, outfielders, and Pinkey Higgins, a third baseman, all graduates of the Coast circuit.

Finney and Coleman are expected to plug the gaps vacated by Al Simmons and Mule Haas. Rookies comparable to Simmons simply aren't being turned up these days and defensive outfielders like Haas come along only once every half dozen seasons.

Before he broke his ankle last year, Coleman was hitting above .340 in the first month of the season and apparently making good in the A's outfield, but Gus H. Fan knows, among others, that the rookie who hits .340 in the spring is very apt to wind up the season hitting .240 if they leave him in there. So Coleman has yet to prove his case. Finney's ability is untested in the majors even to the extent of Coleman's.

Higgins Faces A Task.

At third base Frank Higgins will be attempting to erase Jimmy Dykes from the memory of Philadelphia fans, which is a large order for any rookie.

Dykes was not the smoothest third baseman in the league, but he was among the most effective, both at bat and in the field. They say that Higgins is a real speed merchant and will lend a base-running note to the A's that will indeed be novel, but here we are confronted with the old accepted theory that you can't steal first base.

Of the trio, Coleman's chances of justifying expectations loom the brightest. The right fielder who ousted Bing Miller from the regular job last spring had all the earmarks of a big leaguer and his development into a star would not be surprising.

But if Connie Mack succeeds in establishing Finney and Higgins, as well as Coleman, in regular posts, it will be the greatest managerial feat since Miller Huggins installed his two rookies, Tony Lazzeri and Mark Koenig, on either side of second base for the Yankees in 1926.

Stanford Track Aces Seeking Records Today

Griffiths Win A.A.U. Court Crown

French A. C. Winner Over Mercury by 24-23 Score.

THE first champion of the current District A. A. U. basket ball championship tournament was crowned at Tech High School last night, where the Griffiths defeated the Savoy quintet by a score of 18-12 to gain the 100-pound class honors.

It was a tired but happy band of little fellows who ducked into the showers after establishing themselves as the best team in their class in the tournament sponsored by The Post.

Brisk action marked the remaining three games on the program. Delaware & Hudson was eliminated in the unlimited division by a furious rally engineered by Bureau of Investigation in the second half which netted a 26-22 victory, and the Knights of Columbus entered the 145-pound class finals by upsetting Rhode Island Avenue, 32-29. French A. C. gained the finals in the 130-pound division by virtue of a well-earned 24-23 triumph over a stubborn Mercury quintet.

Gordon and Gerstenfeld tallied enough points to send Savoy reeling into defeat, and it was their good work that staked the new title-holders to a 14-to-9 lead in the first half. Both clubs slowed up to some extent in the final half, but the Griffs were content to protect their lead rather than risk a Savoy rally by loose handling of the ball.

Hoffberg Is Hero For French.

A hero's mantle was draped about the perspiring shoulders of Mercury's fiery guard, Vermillion, but Dame Fortune's scrawny fingers pulled it off and flung it on the shoulders of another, Hoffberg, French A. C. guard.

With but 5 seconds of play remaining, Vermillion cut loose with a long pot shot that swished through, tying the score at 23-23 and forcing the game into an extra period.

The overtime session produced no field goals, but Vermillion drew two fouls and unfortunately for his club missed both. Only 3 seconds of the overtime was left when Hoffberg was awarded two free tosses, and after missing the first, he sank his second shot to win the game.

The Caseys' triumph over Rhode Island Avenue created a mild surprise among tournament followers who anticipated a close battle, but expected the latter five to emerge victorious. Playing their customary slow and steady game, the Knights gained a 1-point lead in the first half, 12-11, and was never headed. Chissie Caspar and Artie Nock starred for the winners while Bill Cross was best for the losers.

Browns to Sell Beer Under Grandstands

St. Louis, March 31 (A.P.).—If the plans of Phil Ball, president of the St. Louis Browns, go through, beer will be on sale at Sportsman's Park here on the opening day of the baseball season.

"I hope to put beer on sale at booths under the grandstands," Ball said today.

The Cardinals have taken no action on the subject, believing that the subject should be considered as a league matter rather than as a club affair.

Boxer Chooses Jail To $26 Traffic Fine

New York, March 31 (A.P.).—Henry Perlick, a 23-year-old lightweight boxer of Kalamazoo, Mich., was sentenced to fourteen days in jail today after his conviction in traffic court on seven charges of violating traffic ordinances.

Six of the charges were for illegally parking his automobile. The seventh was for failing to notify the motor vehicle bureau of his change of address. The charges had accumulated since January 3.

He was given the alternative of paying fines totaling $26, but chose the jail term instead.

K. C. Meets Brookland For Boys Club Crown

The Knights of Columbus five meets the Brookland Boys Club tonight for the championship of the Boys Club 145-Pound League. The game is scheduled at the Third and C streets northwest gymnasium. Both teams have enviable records this season and a fast game is expected.

Safe at Home

Special to The Washington Post.

ATLANTA, Ga., March 31.—What had the earmarks of a great human interest story receded into nothingness here tonight when plans were called off for a game between a mixed team of Washington and Atlanta players against the Convict Club.

Al Capone, the star boarder at the local Sing Sing, and one of Atlanta's chief claims to international fame, takes great interest in the Nasty Nine, or whatever they are called. Unofficial rumors have it that Al has muscled in on the team and is cutting himself a nice 40 per cent slice of the proceeds. After all, such a move by Al would be in keeping with modern prisonology, for it is the boast of the American Prison Society that most wardens nowadays put convicts to work along whatever lines of endeavor they pursued in their less-confined days.

The game went on the rock pile tonight when a call to arms for players found not enough volunteers to make up a full team to represent the outsiders. This was a sorry blow to the liberality of the national pastime whose minions, it was thought, were not ones to draw such unethical lines within the great brotherhood of baseball.

Dunlap Leads Amateurs at Pinehurst

New Yorker Ahead 7 Strokes With 33-32—65 Card.

PINEHURST, N. C., March 31 (A.P.).—George T. Dunlap, jr., Long Island golfer, took a runaway lead over a field of more than 100 competitors in the first 18 holes of qualifying play today in the thirty-third annual North and South Amateur Tournament. The former Princeton star toured the No. 2 championship course in 33—32—65, 6 strokes under par, and 7 strokes better than the best of the others.

James A. Fownes, of Pittsburgh, was in second place with 36—36—72, 1 over par, and 1 stroke back of him came Jimmy Robbins, of Philadelphia, and Tommy Goodwin, Monroe, N. Y., with scores of 39—34—73.

The defending champion, M. Pierpont Warner, of New Haven, a Yale golfer, was far down the list with 36—41—77.

Only 20 of the entries broke 80. The day was clear, but a brisk wind swept over the course at times. The second 18 holes of qualifying play will take place tomorrow, and the low 32 will be paired in match play for the championship, which will be decided in a 36-hole match next Friday.

Dunlap, member of the Walker Cup Team and twice national intercollegiate champion, strayed from par only once on the entire round, taking a 4 on the par 3 fourth. On the 461-yard sixth hole, he had an eagle, made when he hit a No. 3 iron shot to within 3 feet of the cup.

10 Under Par for Last 3 Rounds.

His 65 today sets an amateur record for the course. The open record is held by Joe Turnesa, the Elmsford, N. Y., pro, who toured it in 64, a mark equaled by Tommy Armour, the Black Scot, in a practice round. Dunlap's previous best was 66.

The round gave Dunlap a record for being 10 under par for his last three rounds over the course. In the North and South open last week he played his last two rounds in 69, 69. He finished that tournament as top amateur with a 72-hole score of 287, which placed him above many of the country's leading professionals.

Others who shot better than 80 were: John D. Chapman, Greenwich, Conn.; Ned Edgerton, Raleigh, N. C., and Dick Wilson, Southern Pines, with cards of 37, 37—74 each; Roof Gilson, of Jackson, Mich., and Ray Lenahan, of Providence, R. I., each 37, 37—75; Jack Toomer, Jacksonville, 38, 38—76; Robert Harlow, Boston, 37, 39—76; Richard Davidson, Washington, D. C., 41, 36—77; M. Pierpont Warner, New Haven, 36, 41—77; R. C. Van Arsdale, Boston, 39, 39—78; M. J. Scammell, jr., Trenton, N. J., 41, 37—78; Jack Ryerson, Cooperstown, N. Y., 39, 39—78; H. Walter von Elm, Forest Hills, Long Island, 40, 39—79; Hamilton W. Wright, Hempstead, Long Island, 39, 40—79; Eric Thompson, St. Andrews, N. B., 39, 40—79; R. G. Morrison, Pittsburgh, 40, 39—79.

Rain Leaves Nats Tied At 4-4

Sington's Homer and Double Prominent for Atlanta.

First 7 Men Retired by Whitehill; Game Played in Mud.

By BOB CONSIDINE
(Post Staff Correspondent).

ATLANTA, Ga., March 31.—Buddy Myer, chewing a wad of tobacco with a determination that boded no good for Nick Blethen, Atlanta pitcher, stood up at the muddy plate here this dark afternoon waving a wet bat now and then at a damp, dark object that had been a baseball several innings before. Joe Kuhel was on second base, the score was 4-4 and it was the beginning of the seventh inning.

Umpire Roy Van Grafian's water-wings must have sprung a leak at this precise moment, for with the count of 3 and 2 on Buddy he swam around the catcher, held up Buddy's bat and announced that the game was called and declared it a tie.

It had been raining with unfailing ardor since before the game started. The drenched Washington players swam in, Goose Goslin winning the race in from the outfield, as befits his webfootedness.

Sington Again Hero At Bat.

Once again you have Fred Sington, the reformed all-American lineman, to blame for the absence of a Washington victory. Big Freddy, who's large enough to be King Kong's little brother, clouted a gosh-awful home run into the distant left field stands off one of Earl Whitehill's fast ones in the fourth inning and was the major factor in the sixth-inning Atlanta rally that tied up the score and gave the Crackers a distribution of the day's rewards.

Sington's sixth-inning violation was a screeching double to deep left that scored Bill Wels to make the score 3-4, and a moment later Sington tied the count when he scored from second on Susko's single.

Washington looked as if it was coasting along pretty nicely to victory today for quite a spell. The Nats scored twice in the second inning with a withering fire of base hits. With two gone and Goslin on first, the result of a pip of a single to right, Cecil Travis, the bid third baseman, clouted a ball high up on the hill that rises out of right field, scoring Goose. Sewell singled down the soggy third base line, scoring Travis.

Whitehill Slams Double.

Earl Whitehill, who sort of fancies himself as a slugger, cracked one of the hardest hits of the season to right, making second base easily. Joe Kuhel, who was the lead-off man today, rolled to second for the third out.

Two long flies boosted Washington's third run across. After Goslin had doubled to start the fourth, Schulte and Travis skyrocketed balls to left and center, and Goose moved up easily on the throw-ins. Heinie Manush whacked in the fourth Washington run, in the fifth, placing a ball beautifully to center and scoring Kuhel, who had doubled up that right field hill. Whitehill looked pretty swell until the ball got mushy. He retired the first seven men to face him with superb ease. The first hit off him came from the wagon tongue bat of Fred Sington in the fourth—that home run we were talking about a bit earlier this morning.

Cambridge Crew Favorite in Race

Seeks 10th Straight Win Over Oxford Today Before Throngs.

A Cambridge victory would give the Light Blues a record sequence of ten wins, but the biggest odds that were obtainable tonight were 5 to 4, while most of the betting was at 11 to 8.

This year the race will be started at 3:30 p. m. (10:30 a. m., New York time), but long before noon the shores of the Thames will be black with spectators. Later the huge barges moored at the edge of the Thames River will fill up, the expensive seats in the windows of the warehouses, factories and Mortlake brewery will be occupied, while giant Handley-Page cabin planes will swoop low overhead.

During the first weeks of training Cambridge was an odds-on favorite. But after repeated shifts in the Oxford shell the odds against the Dark Blues began to shorten. A satisfactory rowing order had been found and, guided by R. W. G. Holdsworth at stroke they put plenty of snap into their pull, a quality that even now is somewhat lacked by their rivals.

Jack Sharkey Sued For Schaaf Earnings

Boston, March 31 (A.P.).—A bill in equity asking full accounting by Jack Sharkey, world's heavyweight boxing champion, and his manager, Johnny Buckley, of all income they received from the bouts of the late Ernie Schaaf was filed today by Henri H. Kaufman, of New York.

Kaufman asked the court to attach their funds at the First National and National Shawmut Banks to the extent of $50,000 each. Kaufman alleged he had a partnership with Phil Schlossberg, Schaaf's former manager, who sold the fighter's services to Sharkey and Buckley for $12,500.

Spencer Brothers In Swim Victories

Breast Stroke to Leonard, Who Teams With Walter In A. A. U. Relay.

New York, March 31 (A.P.).—The speedy Spence brothers from Brooklyn, who have had almost a monopoly on the best performances so far, and chunky George Fissler gave the home club a clean sweep of the three events of the National A. A. U. men's swimming championships, raced tonight in the New York Athletic Club pool.

Fissler, something of a dark horse in a field which included Jack Medica, the 18-year-old Seattle sensation, the even younger Ralph Flanagan, from Miami, and Ted Wiget, Stanford University ace, swam to an easy victory in the 220-yard free style.

Leonard Spence captured the 220-yard breast stroke as expected, missing his own world record time by some two seconds. Then these two joined up with John Howland, former Yale star, and Walter Spence, elder brother of Leonard, to give the New York A. C. first team a rather hollow victory over the club's second quartet in the 400-yard relay.

Heuser Outslugs Ebbetts at Garden

German Near Victory by K. O. in Sixth; Lasky Beats Birkie.

Ebbets held his own during the first five rounds, but tired badly in the sixth and was punched all over the ring from then on until the tenth, when he came to life to take the round.

Heuser came within an ace of putting the New Yorker away in the sixth when, with the round half gone, he scored with a clean right to the jaw. He tried to follow his advantage up, but Ebbets hung on so tenaciously the German was unable to get across a finishing punch.

Battle Looms Between A's And Nats

By BRIAN BELL.
(Associated Press Staff Writer.)

NEW YORK'S Yankees may carry too many guns for the other seven clubs in the American League, but the champions can win reelection and still not destroy interest in the proceedings as the summer's baseball panorama unfolds.

The battle for the second-place position between the Athletics and Senators should be one of the most thrilling in years. Philadelphia and Washington probably fall just short of enough class to challenge the champions, but going to the post they seem to be so well matched there is little to choose between them.

Another sanguinary battle should develop for the other first division place with Detroit and Cleveland throwing bricks from every direction. With five active contestants named, three are left and there is no reason to doubt in April that the White Sox, Red Sox and Browns will put on a

SEA FOX CAPTURES TROPICAL PARK MILE IN RECORD TIME

Gelding Wins With Rush In Stretch

Tombereau Scores in Opener, Beating Judge Primrose.

TROPICAL PARK, Fla., March 31 (A.P.).—The final day of the regular meeting attracted the usual banner crowd here this afternoon, with another large turnout anticipated for the extra charity day of sport scheduled tomorrow. Topping this afternoon's bargain bill of eight races was the Au Revoir Handicap for 3-year-olds and upward at 1 mile.

Another track record was shattered when J. F. Somerville's Man o' War gelding, Sea Fox, ran the 8 furlongs in 1:37 1-5, two-fifths of a second better than the old mark held by Broadway Lights. Sea Fox won by a half-length. Rip Van Winkle took the place from Reveille Boy by a length. The winner paid $7.30.

The feature was cut down to five starters, Broadway Lights and Rowdy Boy being excused by the stewards. The latter came out of his last race lame and Broadway Lights suffered a leg injury in training.

Goldstep Sets.

Early Pace.

Gold Step, at his best in sprint affairs, tried to race along with Sea Fox, but retired from serious consideration after 5 furlongs. Mountain Elk then took a fling at the winner, but he, too, found the pace too stiff. Rip Van Winkle and Reveille Boy, both well backed in the early stages, ran over everything but Sea Fox in the stretch, the Man o' War 5-year-old refusing to give ground.

Tombereau, perfectly ridden by H. Louman, proved best of the sprinters in the 6-furlong opener scoring by a length over Judge Primrose to return $9.60. Grace Blotter lost the place by a half length. Judge Primrose and Grace Blotter, a pair of very speedy but faint-hearted campaigners, killed each others chances in their bitter duel for the lead so that when Tombereau came around the pair at the stretch turn he had more left for the stretch drive.

Orliey, under improved handling, took seven other platers into camp in the second event, a dash of 5½ furlongs which drew a well-matched field. The son of Sting, paying $9 for $2, beat Charlie by a length while Semester was beaten a half length for the place. Charlie cut out the running most of the trip but was no match for Orliey in the final drive. Semester as usual came from well back.

Jockey C. E. Allen was thrown heavily while guiding Semester out of the paddock to the track. The gelding lunged in the air and tossed his rider. Allen was hurriedly examined and a slight swelling was discovered at the base of his spine. It was not believed he was badly hurt, but the jockey was taken to Jackson Memorial Hospital for an X-ray examination. J. Leyland rode Semester in his stead.

Calgary Kay Wins

By Late Rush.

The elderly sprinter, Calgary Kay, hung it on eleven younger rivals in the third race, winning by a length to reward favorite players with $5.80 for $2. Craigco was another length before Principio for the place. Craigco raced Valley, Scotland Beauty and Indian into defeat before turning for home, but Calgary Kay rated fairly close up all the way, closed very fast on the outside of the leader and wore him down in the final sixteenth.

Mae Sweep returned to winning form. Opposed to some shifty platers in the fourth dash, the daughter of Sweep registering in easy style by two lengths to pay $8.10. Whisking beat Jaz Age by a half dozen lengths for the place. Jaz Age ran All Play down in the first quarter mile but put on the stopping act upon reaching the stretch, and Mae Sweep, making up ground fast, sailed into command. Whisking had little contention for the place.

Twisted Threads was much the best in a mile and a furlong of the sixth race, breaking slowly and running over the entire field to win by a head from Miss Corinne. Matadi was third, a length behind. Major Lanphier and Dunrock vied for the lead until Miss Corinne overtook them turning for home Twisted Threads wore the favorite down in the final drive, paying $8.90. Silvio Coucci rode the winner to earn a double.

Try It ran one of his occasional good races to account for the seventh purse, scoring by three parts of a length over Pernickety. Honey Locust lost the place by three lengths. The winner got away in last position but circled the leaders with a rush rounding into the stretch and held Pernickety's late challenge safe at the end. The winner returned $10.30.

AT THE POST

with Bill Bennings

DEAR AL: TROPICAL PARK, MARCH 31.

Well, pal, with the meeting almost over there's more tips floating around here per square foot than there's dry throats awaiting the big beer blow-off next week. Among those they say will be put over tomorrow are White Bud, Topple, Sweeperman and Bichloride. All the touts who have found it tough pickings down here this winter are trying to get to Kentucky or Maryland and there's many a man who will have a bet riding tomorrow on somebody else's money. BILL.

FIRST RACE—BOSTON WATERS has done very well for me and I must string along tomorrow. Mixes good works with some fair racing. Figures to have a battle with JAZ AGE. WHITE BUD gets in with only 98 pounds and that way rigged may appear in the money.

SECOND RACE—TOPPLE is a pretty fair sort and comes to me from a generally reliable source which says everything is set for a run home. LADOGAN and AQUATIS seem better placed than the others.

THIRD RACE—KAI-FINN gets other chance to dent the pay block for the Bennings interests. If I owned him he would come through with a winning effort tomorrow. At any rate this looks like the spot to shoot. Breaks from No. 1 post and may never be headed. GOLDEN EFFORT and MORE ANON for the rest.

FOURTH RACE—LEROS is a standout in the dash. Ran Mr. Sponge into track-record time recently. VON SION gets in light and is a place possibility. INDIAN RUNNER could be third.

FIFTH RACE—MORDEN showed a neat turn of speed here and has a fighting chance to top this field. Totes only 101 pounds. UPPERCUT won his last rather easily and gets my place call ahead of NOAH'S PRIDE.

SIXTH RACE—EVELINE F. revealed some new-found speed here the other day and off that effort I'm putting her on top. PARTISAN and PLAYFELLOW'S DREAM are both in fair form and will be ready to take up the battle if the first-named makes mistakes.

SEVENTH RACE—PLUTARCH appears to have an edge over this cheap field. MUDRAKER and SPOT POT to contest for the other money positions.

GENERALS 3-0 VICTIMS OF INDIANS

Lefty White Allows Washington-Lee One Hit.

WILLIAMSBURG, Va., March 31 (A.P.).—Holding the opposition to one hit, Lefty White pitched the William and Mary Indians to a 3-to-0 victory over the Washington and Lee Baseball Team today in the first of a two-game series.

Only two Generals reached first base. Jarrett, on a scratch hit over second base in the second inning, and another reaching the initial sack on Smith's error.

Taking advantage of the Generals' fielding, the Indians pushed over their first run early in the third inning. Andy Christensen followed with a terrific drive to deep left field for the first home run of the year on Cary Field.

The two teams play here again tomorrow.

BeatFavorite, Is Cry at Caliente

Gallant Sir Now 1-5 in $25,000 Stake Tomorrow.

By WILLIAM WARNE.

AGUA CALIENTE, Mexico, March 31 (A.P.).—"Beat the favorite" was the cry heard round about Tia Juana Valley tonight as the crowd began to gather for the running of the Agua Caliente Handicap Sunday.

The shout was as old as the border classic itself, and only four times in thirteen years has the favorite won.

But never before has such a favorite as Gallant Sir, the big 4-year-old colt from Norman W. Church's barn, gone into the gallop grande. The son of Sir Gallahad III was quoted at 1 to 5 to win and nothing offered in the place and show positions. He has beaten everything in the race in preparatory jaunts at distances from 6 furlongs to more than a mile.

Owner of Bahamas

Retains Hope.

Even the owners and trainers of the other nominees, with two exceptions, told any one who asked that their thoroughbreds had no chance to lead the big horse home in the mile and a quarter race for an added purse of $25,000.

The exceptions, however, were notable. One was Bill Hartman, whose Oak Tree Stable nominated Bahamas, a 4-year-old Bon Homme gelding. Winner of the Agua Caliente Derby last year, Bahamas went confidently into the 1932 handicap only to break his heart in a backstretch duel with Phar Lap, superhorse from the Antipodes, which went on to win as he pleased.

Hartman said "Gallant Sir will know he has been in a race if he beats Bahamas. We're going after the whole thing."

Pillow Fight Not Likely to Start.

While not as confident, A. A. Baroni, who will send two horses to the post, Wirt G. Bowman, an honest plater, and Waylayer, which has a giant killing or two to his credit, would not concede the race to anybody.

Pillow Fight, the New Zealand successor to Phar Lap, bred by Night Raid, the Red Terror's sire, was not considered a starter tonight. D. J. Davis brought both horses to America. Pillow Fight did not train well.

Where Handy Mandy and Princess Doreen, both great mares, failed in the past, a 3-year-old filly, Loversall, of the Meadow Brook Stable, will rush in this year. Within a week Loversall twice has beaten fields made up of handicap nominees. But Loversall never has attempted to go a mile and a quarter.

Gallant Sir	Norman Church	124
Bahamas	Oak Tree Stable	118
Whizz James	Norman Church	118
Waylayer	A. A. Baroni	114
The Nut	Warm Stable	113

Tax to Limit Sharkey To One Bout This Year

New York, March 31 (U.P.).—Rumors that Heavyweight Champion Jack Sharkey and Max Schmeling would be matched in a return title bout this summer were given a setback today when Sharkey's manager, Johnny Buckley, announced emphatically that the champion would fight only once this year, and then against Primo Carnera, of Italy. Buckley explained he wanted only one bout because Sharkey would be subject to a 42 per cent surtax on all earnings over $100,000.

Central High Winner at Lacrosse

Annapolis Boys, 5-4, as Church, Smith Are Stars.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., March 30.—Annapolis High School opened its lacrosse season here today in an unsatisfactory manner, losing to Central High School, of Washington, D. C., by a score of 5-4 in a game played in a slow drizzle on a soggy field.

The poor condition of the turf slowed up action to some extent but Central outmaneuvered its opponent to gain the decision. Annapolis was saved from defeat by a larger score only by the sterling work of Goalie James, who blocked a volley of Central shots at the net.

Church and Smith were outstanding for the visitors, Smith scoring twice from scrimmage. The teams were deadlocked at 2-2 at the half.

Helen Germaine Gains Indoor Tennis Finals

Chestnut Hill, Mass., March 31 (U.P.).—Former title holders were defeated today in the women's national singles indoor tennis championships on Longwood covered courts to enable Miss Helen Germaine, unseeded, of New York, and Dorrance Chase, second-seeded, of Dorchester, to gain the final round.

The stocky Miss Germaine, product of the Bronx public courts, outsteadied the former Mianne Palfrey, Mrs. Arthur D. Hill, jr., of Cambridge, champion in 1930, 6—1, 3—6, 6—2.

Miss Chase, Simmons College graduate, also eliminated a former champion in the semifinal round. She defeated Mrs. Benjamin E. Cole 2d, of North Andover, title holder in 1923, in straight sets, 6—2, 6—2.

Accident to Golf Pro Follows Child's Injury

Baltimore, March 31 (A.P.).—Charlie Betschler, former open and professional golf champion of Maryland, was in a hospital here today with a fractured skull, sustained when he fainted after carrying his injured child to a doctor's office.

Betschler's head struck a stone step as he fell after leaving the physician's office "to catch a little air." The child, 8-year-old Leona Betschler, had injured her elbow when she fell out of a toy wagon.

Both Betschler and the girl were taken to a hospital, where physicians said his condition was not serious.

Yankees Are Too Powerful For 1933 Rivals, Is View

Joe McCarthy's Yankees seem to have everything as the pnnant hunt gets under way. Babe Ruth may be "on a dime," the ball players' characterization of an athlete whose speed has been reduced to a minimum, but no sprinting is necessary when a ball is hit out of the park. The big fellow will be able to hit "even if they roll him up to that plate in a wheel chair," as Wilbert Robinson once said, and his mere presence in the line-up continues a constance menace to opposing clubs.

Yankees' Reserves

Best in League.

New York not only is able to place a championship team on the field but its bench groans under the weight of competent reserves to an extent not boasted by any other club in either league. The boys on the bench may mean the difference between success and failure, for baseball is an undertain game.

Wise old Connie Mack sent three stars to the White Sox last autumn, but reports that he had wrecked his team were at least premature. In spite of the departure of the hard-driving Al Simmons and timely hitting Mule Haas, the tall tactician will offer a pretty fair outfield in Roger Cramer, Lou Finney and Ed Coleman. He is certain to get some good pitching with Robert Moses Grove still throwing bird shot and big George Earnshaw definitely headed toward another good year.

Nats Benefited

By Trading.

Washington seems to have benefited as much as any club in either circuit in the orgy of winter trading, and young Joe Cronin, the freshman manager, will lead a first-class team into action. Goose Goslin will honk again in right field for the Senators and the slugger probably will again be a terror at the plate with the influence of the historic Potomac to spur him on.

Wally Stewart and Earl Whitehill should contribute some effective left-hand pitching, and Clark Griffith, the old fox of another day, who still knows as much about pitching as any one at large, believes at least two youngsters will come through for the National Capital.

Detroit again threatens and with a little luck, Stanley Raymond Harris thinks his comparatively young club will be in the thick of the fight. Bucky is always willing to take a chance and if some of the young fellows come up to his expectations the Tigers may crowd into the first division. It will be like old times for Manager Harris to see the giant Fred Marberry striding in from the bull pen to throw some high, hard ones in a pinch as he did so well for Washington in other days.

Cleveland has ample pitching strength and one good team, but could use more reserve strength. That may come later, but currently the Indians seem to lack insurance in case of injury. Roger Peckinpaugh's long hunt for a shortstop seems answered at last as Jack Burnett and Bill Knickerbocker have hit their stride together. Time was when Peck would have been glad to have one good shtorstop, but two are not too many.

Chisox Morale

Is Higher.

The White Sox are in a better frame of mind than they have enjoyed in a long time, thanks to the acquisition of three established stars from the Athletics, but Simmons, Dykes and Haas will need help from six other fellows every day to get Chicago into position to challenge the leaders. Lew Fonseca left the Pacific Coast with a shortage of infielders and doubtful pitching prospects, but with a far better team than the South Siders have had in years.

Boston's Red Sox, under new management, unfortunately will not be able to count their spring games in the won column and it would be helpful since they are forced to open with the Yankees, Athletics and Senators. The Red Sox are better than they were, but they have a long road to travel. Their task would be somewhat easier if the new generalissimo, Edward Trowbridge Collins, could lend his hands and feet as well as his brains to the cause.

Browns Boast Fine

Defense.

Marty McManus, the playing manager, will have to depend on Columbia Eddie, however, as a counselor instead of a warrior.

The Browns offer a fine defensive cast, but it remains to be seen if it will manufacture many runs per game. Bill Killefer, too, plunged into the marts of trade and the jury is still out, awaiting additional evidence if he materially bolstered the St. Louis cause by the changes.

MONTGOMERY BEER PERMISSION SOUGHT

Rules Suspended to Allow Maryland House Bill; Session May Extend.

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., March 31.—Until today Montgomery County was one of the few subdivisions of the State which had paid little or no attention to beer legislation, its representatives apparently being determined to stand by provisions of the pending State-wide beer bill, which contains among its provisions, repeal of local option laws and an exemption clause.

It was finally decided, however, to put the operations of the forthcoming act to a test, so today the county's delegation in the House obtained a suspension of rules to introduce a bill which would permit the sale of beer throughout the remainder of this year and then allow any section of the county to seek local option through a referendum. To obtain a referendum the bill provides that 20 per cent of the voters of any political subdivision may petition the board of supervisors of elections in 1934.

Bank Crisis Measures.

Two companion Senate bills arising out of the bank crisis were finally passed by the House and sent to the governor for his approval. The measures permit counties or other political subdivisions to borrow money on their own account. It was pointed out that some subdivisions are unable to obtain funds with which to meet bond issue payments, unless given such permission to borrow.

Meanwhile the Senate and House are deadlocked on the budget bill, the disputed point being Baltimore City's share of the gasoline tax. The measure is in the hands of a conference committee and unless agreement is reached by tomorrow, the deadline, extension of the legislative session is likely. The Senate has passed the State-wide beer bill and the House has yet to act. The fight over the Baltimore City measure, centering chiefly about the amount of license fees, also is confined to the House.

Other Important Bills.

Other important measures also caught in the jam are the administration gasoline tax distribution bill, which is in the Senate finance committee after passing the House; bill setting up the machinery for a constitutional convention for prohibition repeal, passed by the Senate last night and sent to the House; State unemployment insurance system, awaiting Senate action, and the new $4,000,000 bond issue proposal for widening the Baltimore-Philadelphia road, which the House rushed the third reading calendar soon after its introduction yesterday.

The stage also was being set in the House for a bitter battle to kill an administration oyster bill, sponsored by the conservation department, which provides for throwing waters of Potomac River open to dredgers for two months in the year. Senator J. Alan Coad, St. Marys County, made an unsuccessful effort to have this measure rejected by the upper branch. Delegates from the southern Maryland counties will lead the fight in the House.

Arlington Legion Post Wants Session for Beer

A resolution calling upon Gov. Pollard to call a special session of the General Assembly to legalize beer in Virginia has been adopted by Arlington Post, No. 139, American Legion.

The resolution further sets forth that legalizing beer will give considerable revenue and the the Legislature can serve the people's interests by enacting tax relief legislation and provide for a reassessment of real estate which is badly needed at this time.

Arlington's Budget Approved by Board

$400,000 Total May Mean 30-Cent Decrease in Local Tax Rate.

A budget of approximately $400,000 was approved by the Arlington County Board of Commissioners last night. This total is a decrease of about $154,000 from last year's total, and should mean a 30-cent decrease in the tax rate.

Harry A. Fellows, chairman of the board, declared that the tax rate will be $2.15 on a $100 assessed valuation, as compared to $2.45 last year.

The board established basic salaries of $7,000 for the county treasurer and commissioner of revenue, and reduced all salaries in excess of $1,320, except county policemen, 10 per cent. This reduction includes the salary of the county manager, who receives $7,000 a year.

ALEXANDRIA CENSUS DATA INTERPRETED

Kiwanis Club Hears Life Insurance Man Tell About Contrasts.

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU,
907 Prince St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 523.

Michael Kley, of the welfare division of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. of New York, presented interesting figures of the population gathered from the Federal census records at the Alexandria Kiwanis Club meeting yesterday.

He stated that the first record of population in Alexandria in 1790 shows 2,748 residents, while the latest gives 24,149. In 1900 the population was 14,500, but that was prior to the annexation of new territory.

In analyzing the racial composition, he stated that 18,749 persons are native white, 481 foreign-born white and 4,912 Negroes.

Of persons 15 years of age and over, 5,016 are single, 10,524 married, 1,432 widowed and 272 divorced. He pointed out that widows outnumber widowers by 3 to 1.

The census lists as an illiterate any persons 10 years of age and over who can not read or write, and Alexandria has 740 of such. This is 3.8 per cent for illiteracy against 5 per cent in 1920. Of this number 124 are native-born white.

Roller skating is now permitted on Dewitt avenue, Potomac, between Duncan and Washington avenues, from 6 to 9 p. m. each day, with the street roped off. Two citizens of Potomac are clothed with police powers and guard the skaters.

Arrangements for the skating were made by Councilmen Davison and Cooper in consultation with Police Capt. John S. Arnold.

Mrs. Ben B. Cain, chairman of the local branch of the Woman's Organization for National Prohibition Reform, will attend the national gathering in the Mayflower Hotel, Washington, the coming Wednesday and Thursday, and is urging interested Alexandrians to register today at 1348 H street northwest, Washington.

The Virginia delegation will hold a business meeting in suite 82, the Mayflower, at 11:30 a. m. Wednesday, and the national meeting will start at 2 p. m. The annual banquet will be at 7 p. m., and the second day a buffet luncheon will be served at 1 o'clock. The meeting starts at 10 o'clock Thursday morning.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS —By John Hix

MIGRATING from pole to pole to follow the sunlight, the tern lives in light. When the long summer ends at the North Pole and the sun sets to remain below the horizon until the following year, the tern flies south with the sun to the Antartic, where it enjoys another season of sunlight in the long day of the South Pole.

It makes the 11,000-mile trip with the seasons twice a year—a straight line distance of 22,000 miles. During the trips from pole to pole the tern, of course, runs into darkness on the way, but a very small part of its life is spent in darkness.

Demonstrating the operation of the economic law of supply and demand, the price of phenolphthalein, a chemical reagent used to some extent in medicine, jumped from 80 cents a pound in 1914 to $48 a pound in the United States a year later. The advent of the World War cut off the supply from Germany and, with no adequate supply available in this country, the steady demand skyrocketed the price.

The phenomenon of the shedding rock of Cape Barne is explained by the expansion of rock when warmed by the sun. During the Antarctic night the rock cools and contracts, but with the rising sun the resultant expansion on the rough surface breaks off small pieces which fall to the earth.

3. It may be sold in:

(a) Hotels more than two stories in height run on the American or European plan and operated by a manager weighing a minimum of 152 pounds (net), white, and married.

(b) Restaurants having rooms at least 6 feet in height, a cookop clock over cashier's desk and a sign reading, "Not Responsible for Hats and Overcoats."

(c) Beer gardens more than 21 years of age, having the equivalent of a high school education and displaying shrubs, potted plants and such other flora and fauna as may be approved by a State Rathskeller Flora & Fauna Commission to be chosen by numbers out of a hat sized 7⅛.

(d) Grocery stores more than 12 feet wide, having at least one butcher who lives with his folks and whose owner voted the straight Democratic ticket in the last three elections.

(e) Drug stores not employing Chinese help.

(f) Barber shops having more than six chairs, but only to customers who are sitting down. Under no circumstances shall beer be served to customers getting shaved standing up.

4. No beer shall be sold or offered for sale in millinery shops, plumbers' supply stores, bird stores, beauty parlors, dental parlors, elevator shafts, public libraries, newspaper offices or interurban buses.

5. It shall be unlawful to sell beer in flea circuses, except by special permit of a State commission for the supervision of fleas.

6. No beer shall be served to flagpole sitters, and no exception shall be made in cases where they stand up.

7. No beer shall be served in any of the above places except on clear days with southeast breezes, the direction of the breezes to be determined by a State Commission for the Control of Breezes.

8. Standing up while drinking beer shall be prohibited except in telephone booths, airshafts and during salutes to the flag.

9. Any customer appearing to enjoy himself and manifest freedom of conduct shall be presumed to be standing up and ejected.

10. Any customer singing or acting as if about to sing shall be presumed to be standing up.

Gov. Lehman of New York demanded a beer bill prohibiting a man's standing up while drinking, and Elmer Twitchell wanted to know what he would do when he had a seidel of Pilsner in his hand at a table and the orchestra played "The Star-Spangled Banner."

FT. MYER SOCIETY CIRCUS IS SUCCESS; TWO SHOWS TODAY

With technocracy as a theme, the Fort Myer Society Circus was presented yesterday afternoon and evening to large audiences at the Post Riding Hall. Two more performances will be given, at 2:30 and 8:15 p. m., today. Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt will attend this afternoon's performances with a party of friends.

In this year's show more than a mere exhibition of riding is offered. The audience is called upon to sit as a jury while the case of the horse versus the most modern contraptions of a scientific age is argued.

With this introduction 17 events, ranging from spectacular displays by the enlisted personnel of the fort to simple comic events by Army juniors, were shown until the audience was convinced that though technocracy may have made inroads into other field the horse remains supreme in his field.

"Knighthood," a view of the Crusaders in royal review, was the first major event following the parade. Twenty-eight of the Cavalry troop paraded in this historic presentation.

"Germ of Discipline."

First Lieut. G. B. Barth, of the Cavalry, led a group of youngsters in "The Germ of Discipline," a ride showing the cub scout troop in clever maneuvers. Among the boys participating were Billy Bennett, John Bohn, Martin Cahill, Quentin Cooper, Robert Daly, Richard Davis, William Dunckel, Curtis George, Stephen Gibson, Stuart Hamilton, James Hardigg, James Harrington, Edmund Levy, James Logan, Edgar Hume, Bernard Madison, Edgar Mitchell, Dick Patch, Joe Patch, Robert Patterson, George Patton IV, Thorpe Richards, James Snyder and Lucien Truscott.

Paget Anne Schall, daughter of Senator and Mrs. Thomas D. Schall, was featured in a novel stunt, termed "Depreciation, or the Biological Erg at a New Low."

Twenty-seven young Army boys and girls made up the "Parade of the Jockeys." In it rode Sally Anderson, Georgiana Calver, Kitty Calver, Patsy Casey, Connie Collins, Alexander Maish, Robert Pagenhardt, Harry Semmes, Pauline Whitehouse, Patty Wyman and others.

A group of debutantes were featured in "The Tsar's Cavalry in a Heart-Stirring Ride." Among the participants were Miss Josephine Andrews, Betty Balsley, Joanne Darby, Gloria Green, Ruth Hazlett, Mary Henry, Patricia Henry, Phyllis Hight, Jane Honeycutt, Mary Ireland, Betty Kennedy, Beatrice Patton, Ruth Ellen Patton, Virginia Rogers, Meda Saunders, Bernice Schmidt, Barbara Troby, Alice Tuckerman, Ruth Tuckerman and Mary Louise Watson.

Western Number Is Popular.

"Daring," a ride in which the best horseman of the post imitated riders of the Western range and rodeos, was an outstanding event. "Cowpunchers" Bartlett, Collier, Di Prince, Halgash, Krotchko, Lutzman, Meade, Moffitt, Nelson, Nolan, O'Brien, O'Breine, Roslick and Waters participated.

"The Technor Calls for His Mount" was the outstanding comedy feature of the afternoon.

Forty girls took part in "Adventure: Or Pioneer Maids in a Beauty Roundup." In this ride were Elizabeth Hall, Janet Murray, Peggy Nixon, Beatrice Patton, Marion Shouse, Priscilla W. Watson, Patsy Westover, Polly Wirgman and others.

Difficult Tandem Driving.

Athletic riding in which equestrian gymnasts from the post displayed their daring was among the other features. One of the most striking numbers was "Quality and Form," in which a group of local horsewomen gave an exhibition of difficult tandem driving.

At the end of the program a continental battery of soldiers gave an electrifying display with the idea taken from the modern age.

More than 5,000 square feet of canvas was used to decorate the hall depicting the technocratic age. The outstanding art was laid out by Carroll Cooper, scientific illustrator, from the office of the chief of ordnance. A program of music arranged by Warrant Officer Yassel and played by the post band was given. Proceeds of the show are given to Washington charities.

Messenger Dean Is Retired at 70

J. Lewis Moore, Ending 51 Years' Service, Plans to Travel.

The dean of District building messengers was retired yesterday with the thanks and congratulations of Maj. John C. Gotwals, the nineteenth engineer commisioner he has served during his 51 years employment.

J. Lewis Moore, who this month reaches the age of 70, began his career as a messenger under the administration of Garret F. Lydecker. Since then he has seen seventeen engineer commissioners come and go. Maj. Gotwals is the eighteenth.

Moore plans to travel just as soon as the local banking situation eases up, he said. His position will not be refilled because of the District economy program.

Children Will Inspect Bolling Field Today

Two hundred colored boys and girls, members of the Colored Junior Air Legion, today will be taken on an inspection tour of Army air activities at Bolling Field. The tour will begin at 10 a. m.

The group is engaged under the supervision of Jesse McCoy Hanson, executive director of the legion, in making models of aircraft. Mr. Hanson will make a flight over the field for the edification of the children.

RECEIVER IS NAMED FOR BANK AFFILIATE

Robert C. Baldwin, receiver for the Commercial National Bank, yesterday applied to Justice Joseph W. Cox in District Supreme Court for a receiver for the Commercial National Co., Inc., an affiliate of the bank.

His request was granted and Attorney Ralph D. Quinter was appointed receiver, with bond set at $5,000. The firm of Sherley, Faust & Wilson represented Mr. Baldwin.

The receivership, it was explained, was a "friendly" one. Mr. Quinter will conserve the assets of the corporation and protect the investments of persons who hold financial interests in the company.

Col. Wade H. Cooper, president of the bank, said yesterday that the depositors' committee to arrange a plan for the reorganization and reopening of that institution had been named, is studying conditions, and will meet at 1 p. m. Monday.

Refusal of conservators of local restricted banks to permit withdrawals under Regulation 30, dealing with banking institutions as yet unlicensed for full banking business, issued recently by the Treasury Department, was explained further by them yesterday on receipt of official word from the Federal Reserve Bank of Richmond.

Conservators said this regulation provides for such limited banking functions as may be authorized in accordance with law by the office of the Comptroller of the Currency in the case of national banks, or by the appropriate State officials in the case of State member banks.

The thirteen local banks as yet unlicensed and in the hands of conservators, have not yet been granted specific authority by the comptroller. Such specific permission will have to be granted before the conservators can act, even under Regulation 30, it was said, to receive or pay out deposits other than special trust fund deposits.

MAY 1-26 SET ASIDE FOR WORK CREATION

D. C. Commissioners Urge Citizens Repair Homes to Aid Jobless.

As a means of stimulating local employment, the District Commissioners yesterday issued a proclamation designating May 1-26 as Home Improvement and Work Creation Month and urged all property owners to make needed repairs during this period. The proclamation follows:

"Whereas, The people of the District of Columbia have always viewed with pride its parks, public buildings and homes, and

"Whereas, The City of Washington in the District of Columbia has been pointed to as an example for its beauty, civic pride and home ownership, and

"Whereas, It is the desire and will of the people of this community to maintain that reputation,

"Therefore, We the Commissioners of the District of Columbia do designate the period between May 1 and May 26, 1933, as Home Improvement and Work Creation Month, and we invite all property owners in the District of Columbia to consider the possibility of making needed repairs, structurally or otherwise, including painting, cleaning up, improving lawns, planting and care of trees, and in every way to assist in maintaining the attractiveness of our homes and public places. By doing so, not only will the appearance of the city be improved, but the work involved will give much needed employment to many citizens of the District of Columbia."

3,000 Are Allowed Installment Taxes

1,000 Whose Checks Are on Still Closed Banks Are "Dunned."

Tax Collector Chatham Towers yesterday sent notices to approximately 1,000 taxpayers whose checks have not been cleared because the banks on which they were drawn are still closed that they must make the checks good as soon as possible.

Meanwhile, under the law a penalty of 1 per cent a month is imposed on these taxpayers. The checks were accepted during the banking holiday but no receipts for tax payments were issued.

Tax Assessor William P. Richards said yesterday that approximately 3,000 persons have been granted permission under the new quarterly-installment law to pay taxes which fell due in March either in April or in April and May. He further estimated that 10,000 taxpayers will take advantage of the law in paying September taxes.

Cuts Held Menace To 2 Penal Houses

Chief Avers Budget Slash Will Raise Idleness and Trouble.

Fear that the drastic reductions in the welfare department's estimates for the District Reformatory and Workhouse might bring about a dangerous situation was expressed yesterday by Capt. M. M. Barnard, superintendent of penal institutions.

Pointing out that the Budget Bureau has reduced the estimates for the reformatory and workhouse from the $350,000 carried in the conference report to $280,000, he said that probably 15 employes would have to be furloughed although the 220 now in the staff are not adequate.

A reduction in the working capital fund from $46,000 to $35,000, together with a practical elimination of all construction, will increase the leisure time of the prisoners, he said, and thereby make them restless. Idleness is likely to breed trouble, Capt. Barnard fears.

Driver Found Dead Adjudged Suicide

The wound was inflicted with a .25-caliber bullet. Dr. MacDonald said that Martin's action had undoubtedly been caused by a state of despondency.

M'CLELLAN NAMED PEPCO PRESIDENT; HAM HEADS BOARD

Official of Engineers Firm Has Been Consultant of Power Company.

William McClellan yesterday was elected president of the Potomac Electric Power Co. and the Braddock Light & Power Co., succeeding William F. Ham, who resigned to accept the chairmanship of the board of directors.

Mr. McClellan has been vice president of the Stone & Webster Engineering Corporation, and served as consultant for several years for the Potomac Electric Power Co.

Following the election, Mr. Ham stated that the development of the last year or so had been such that he desired to be relieved of the pressure of certain of his active duties. Under the new plan he will have an opportunity to devote more of his time to the transportation merger and other matters involved in the development of utility service required in a growing community.

President 15 Years.

Mr. Ham will continue as president of Washington Railway & Electric Co. and its subsidiary transportation companies, including the Washington Interurban Railroad Co., Washington & Rockville Railway Co. and Glen Echo Park Co.

Mr. Ham has been connected with the company for more than 33 years, and for 15 years as president, and feels that he is fairly entitled to some respite from his labors. During his period of service the company has developed to one of the outstanding public utility companies in the country. During the last year a transmission line connection with Baltimore has been completed, providing a supply of hydro-electric power from Safe Harbor, Md., and a new steam electric generating plant is now in course of construction at Buzzard Point.

Has Had Wide Experience.

Mr. McClellan was born in Philadelphia in 1872 and is a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania. He has had wide experience as an electrical engineer, first with the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Co. from 1900 to 1905, and with Westinghouse, Church, Kerr & Co. from 1905 to 1907. During the succeeding 20 years he was a member of the engineering firms of Campion-McClellan Co., Paine, McClellan & Campion and McClellan & Junkersfeld, serving also as consulting engineer for the New York Public Service Commission from 1911 to 1913 and as dean of the Wharton School of the University of Pennsylvania from 1916 to 1919. His experience has included the operating management of electric power companies as well as construction and other phases of electrical engineering. In 1925 he was selected by President Coolidge as a member of the Muscle Shoals Commission.

Since 1929 Mr. McClellan has been vice president of the Stone & Webster Engineering Corporation, and in that capacity has served as consultant during the last few years for Potomac Electric Power Co. He is a past president of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers and a member of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers. Mr. McClellan, whose headquarters have been in New York, is establishing his home in Washington, but will retain his farm at Bethayres, near Philadelphia. For some years he has been a member of the University and Cosmos Clubs here.

Sailor Denies Blackmail Accusation by Andrews

Pleading not guilty to a charge of blackmailing Representative Walter G. Andrews, of Buffalo, N. Y., Luther C. Sykes, 24-year-old sailor, yesterday made his first appearance in the District Supreme Court. His bond of $10,000 was ordered continued by Chief Justice A. A. Wheat, before whom Sykes was arraigned.

Unable to raise his bond, Sykes was committed to the District Jail. He is charged with having threatened Mr. Andrews with "exposure" if he did not pay Sykes $500. United States Attorney Leo A. Rover plans to have Sykes' trial set for next week.

Apartment Heating Bill Introduced by Capper

Both Arms of Boy Truant, 7, Broken

Victim Was on "Treasure Hunt" in Old Car Barn as Floor Fell In.

Playing hookey from school to lead a youthful expedition on a hidden-treasure hunt in the spooky depths of a abandoned railway station yesterday landed Carroll Inscoe, 7, of 5418 N street northwest, in Georgetown University Hospital with fractures of both arms.

The accident occurred in an old brick building on Thirty-sixth street northwest, near M street, formerly the District terminus of the Washington & Old Dominion Railroad. Carroll, a first-grade pupil at the Curtius School, in company with two schoolmates, Hading Dameron, 9, 1316 Irving street northwest, and Leonard Robinson, 9, 3611 M street northwest, had stalked their way into the old structure.

While creeping noiselessly along on the second floor, the decayed flooring suddenly gave way and Carroll plunged 10 feet to the floor below. Running to a nearby garage, his companions summoned aid and he was removed to his home. His mother, Mrs. Bessie Inscoe, immediately transferred him to the hospital.

2,000 DEMAND CUTS OF RENT IN DISTRICT

Capper Assures Big Meeting He Will Tell President Scale Is 'Outrageous.'

A resolution demanding the rents in Washington be reduced commensurate with wage and salary reductions was adopted last night at the close of a mass meeting sponsored by the American Federation of Government Employes. The gathering, attended by approximately 2,000 persons, was held at McKinley High School.

Senator Arthur Capper, of Kansas, told the meeting that he would place the matter of District rents before the President next week, adding:

"I think that I can persuade him that rents here are outrageously high."

"The President," he said, "should look beyond index figures and percentages in studying the cost of living to Government employes in Washington. Everybody knows that Washington has higher living costs than many other cities."

Other speakers were Representative Virginia Jenckes, of Indiana, and Edward Grady, of the American Federation of Labor.

Bartsch's Wife to Get Divorce for "Cruelty"

Mrs. Signe G. Bartsch, wife of Dr. Paul Bartsch, a curator of the National Museum, nationally known authority in mollusks and professor of botany at George Washington University, will be awarded a limited divorce from her husband, Justice F. D. Letts, of the District Supreme Court, announced yesterday. Acting in conjunction with the announced decree, attorneys for the couple last night were preparing a property settlement.

Mrs. Bartsch testified that her husband had beaten her so many times she couldn't tell the exact number. Also, she declared, he dragged her across the floor in her night gown and caused her to get about 60 splinters in her back.

Maid Found Wounded; Her Companion Flees

Hearing a shot fired, Mrs. M. E. Young, proprietor of a rooming house at 1817 F street northwest, last night found her maid, Florence Hollse, colored, a bullet wound in her chest, lying in the arms of a colored man, known to her as "Lucas." The man, who formerly worked for Mrs. Young, disappeared before police could be summoned.

The victim was transferred to Emergency Hospital. A man named Levin Lucas was later arrested by Alexandria police and brought to police headquarters here.

Books on Tuberculosis Given to Howard Class

Copies of the authoritative work on "Childhood Type of Tuberculosis" were presented to the senior class of the Howard University Medical College at a class session yesterday devoted to the problem of tuberculosis prevention.

The presentation was made by Dr. Algernon B. Jackson, professor of bacteriological and preventive medicine. Mrs. Ernest R. Grant, represented the National Tuberculosis Association, donor of the books.

Citizens Urged to Ask Only Important Funds

Members of the Federation of Citizens' Associations committees on city planning, street, highways and waterways, meeting at the District Building last night, were urged by Federal and municipal officials to indorse only important projects for expenditure of funds, due to the greatly reduced budget for the District.

If they followed this plan, speakers claimed, available funds would better serve the city's needs. The group also heard speakers discuss the pollution of the waterways surrounding Washington. The cost of a local sewage plant as recently estimated is grossly misleading, it was stated.

JUVENILE BENCH'S IMPORTANCE TOLD

Mrs. Willebrandt Tells Institute It Exceeds That of Supreme Court.

A juvenile court judgeship is more important than a place on the Supreme Court of the United States, Mabel Walker Willebrandt, former Assitsant Attorney General, declared in a stirring impromptu address last night before the Institute of Social Jurisprudence.

The institute, convened to point the way of juvenile court judgeships away from "political grab bags," heard several noted personages, some of whom declared legal training as a prerequisite for the post while others argued for social service training as the outstanding attribute.

Mrs. Willebrandt designated "ordinary, common horse sense" as constituting a prime qualification for the juvenile court judgeship. Knowledge of law she deemed second in importance, and social service experience and training, third.

Miller Outlines Qualities.

Dean Justin Miller, of the law school of Duke University, the main speaker, declared for a person qualified in the law, but yet possessing an experience and knowledge embracing social service.

Leifur Magnusson, president of the Monday Evening Club, advocated a court based more on the principles of equity and common law rather than on narrow statutory confines.

Edgar M. Gerlach, assistant supervisor, probation system, U. S. Courts, made a spirited appeal for the appointment of persons to juvenile court judgeships who possess wide social service and knowledge.

Dr. White's Opinion.

Dr. William A. White, noted psychiatrist and head of St. Elizabeths Hospital, said that only a person whose sympathy lay with the child itself should be appointed.

Prompt Payments In Taxes Reported

All but a scattering few of Washington residents paid their income taxes on time, the Bureau of Internal Revenue believes. At midnight last night the deadline, postponed from March 15, was reached.

The local office for the aid of taxpayers was not crowded yesterday, indicating that the extra fifteen days had been taken advantage of by those who had been delinquent before. It closed at 6 p. m.

All the taxpayers who took advantage of the extended period had to pay interest of 6 per cent on their payment of tax for the first quarter.
